

We all start
out as part of a team ...

Learning to get along...

Seeking
independence
& climbing
about in a secure
environment ...

Visiting our friends and
learning
about the
outdoors ...

I'm being assessed for style, size, conformation, shoulder and hindquarter placement for balance, reach and drive and appropriate length of neck. How that tail is held is important as well.

Ooops ... what is this wonder smell ... a homing pigeon in a bird release box. I'd better stop and get a good smell.

Wow ... it moves. I think I'll chase it.

Look ... I found
another one; good,
my owner wants me
to stop and smell it really good. I guess
that word "whoa"
means there are good
smells around.

*Gee, this is fun.
Traveling around
with all my buddies
in a horse trailer.
It sure smells
good around here.*

Hey look ... there are some of those great smelling birds here too. This must be a really fun trip. No wonder everyone was excited and jumped right into their traveling box.

OK ... I'm here, but what is this stake I am chained to? At least I can watch those birds.

This is cool. I can get food, water, and still watch all the action.

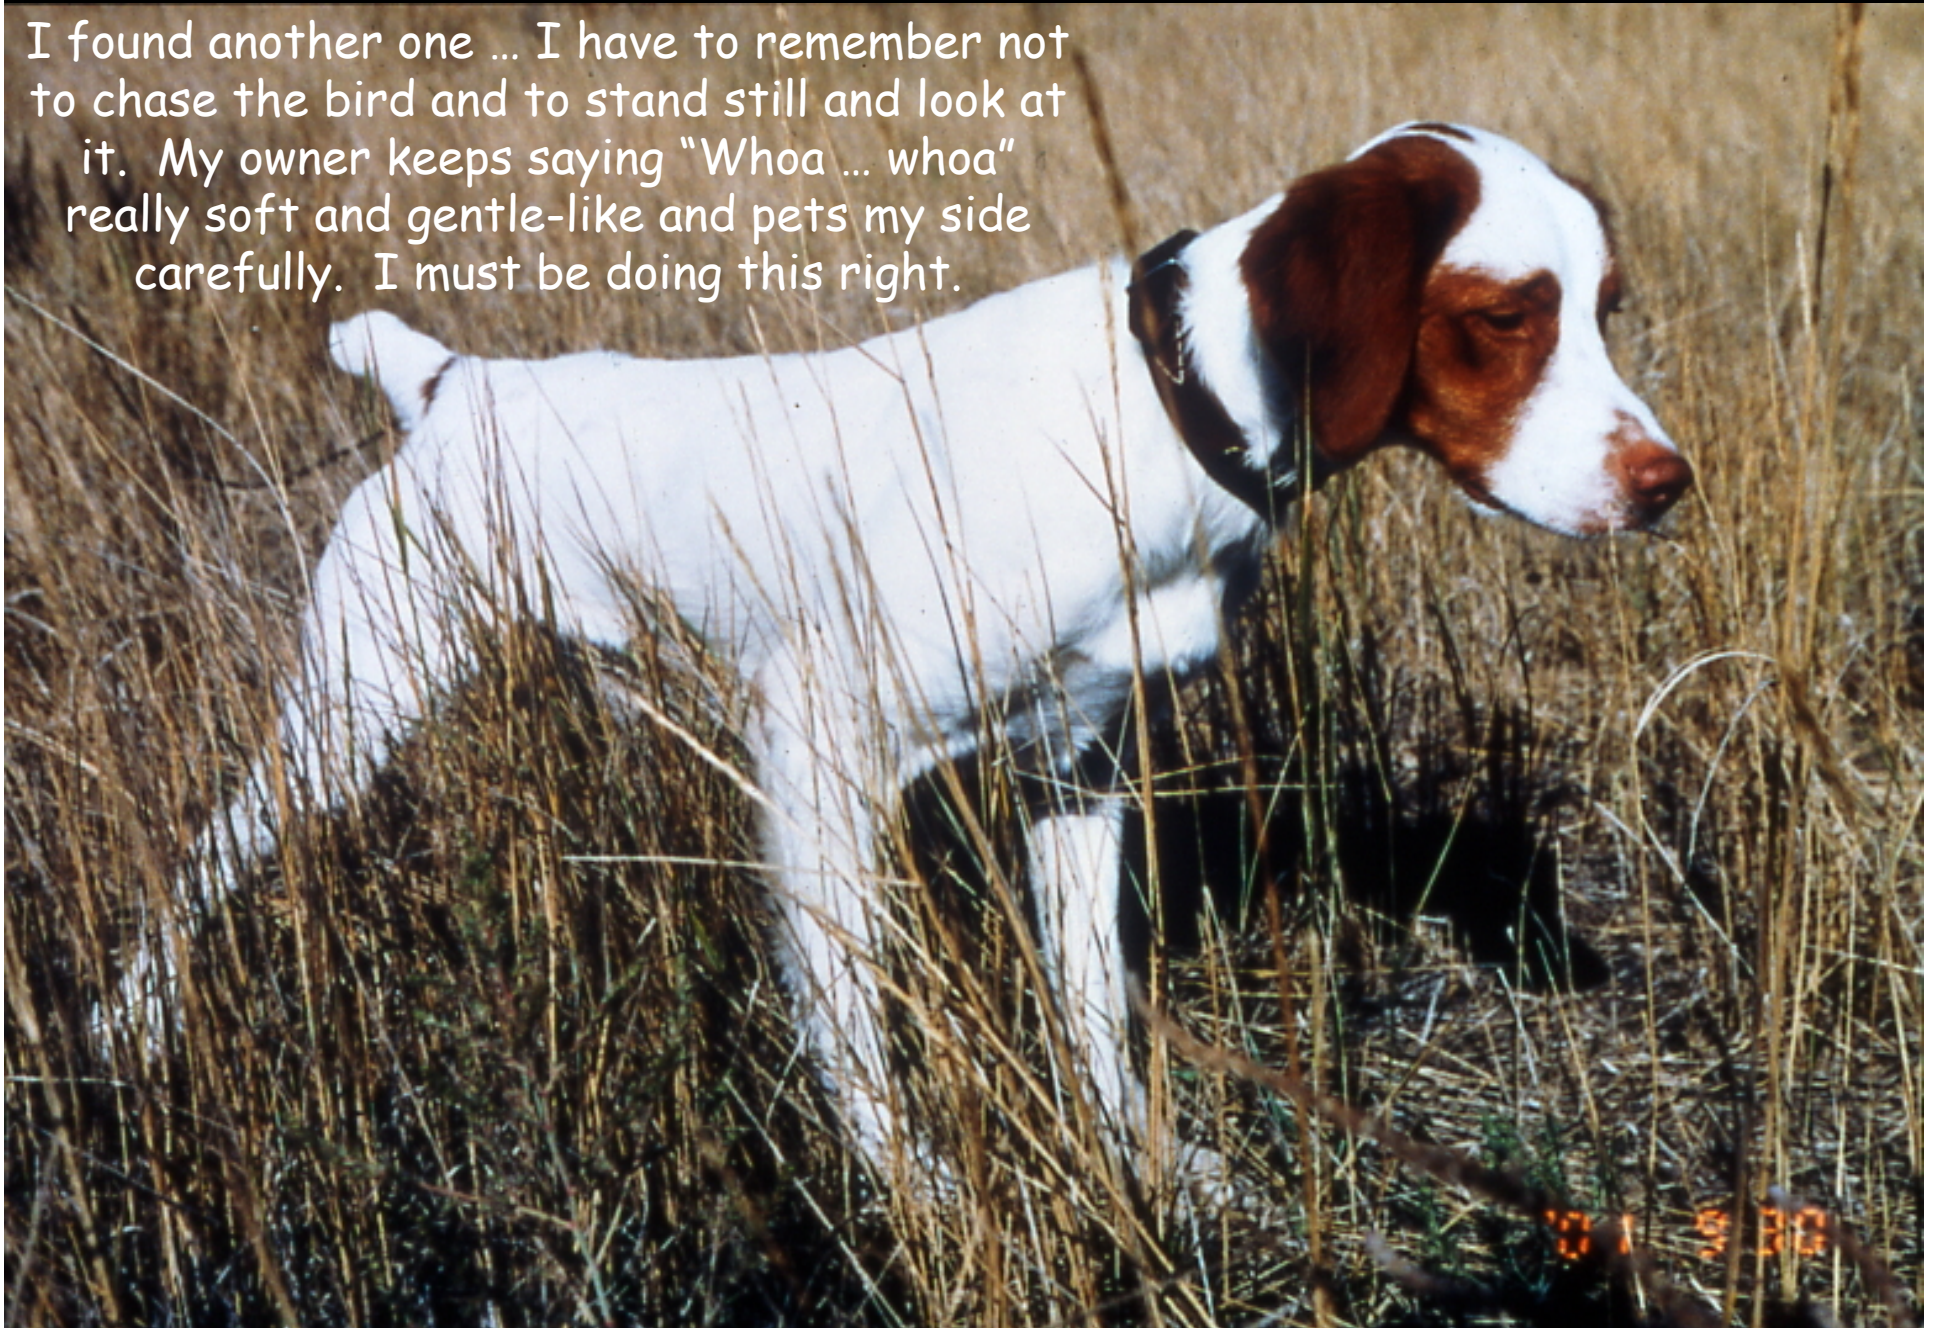

It's my turn
now ... look, he
has one of
those birds
again. I'll stand and
watch it.

I found another one ... I have to remember not to chase the bird and to stand still and look at it. My owner keeps saying "Whoa ... whoa" really soft and gentle-like and pets my side carefully. I must be doing this right.

Oh boy, oh
boy ... I love
this and he
loves me.

Picture
perfect ...

Picture perfect ...

Guess Suzi needs to practice standing still some more on the Whoa barrel.

What is this fake dog doing out here? Why is my owner saying "whoa" ... that's not a BIRD !!!

Oh, I get it. When I see another dog pointing a bird, I have to stop too.

OK, I've got it ... stop when I smell a bird; stop when I see another dog stopped. My owner calls that an "honor". Guess I have to be polite sometimes and let that other dog get the bird. Sure wish I had gotten here first though.

OK ... time to roll.
Hope I get to bring one back this time.

Those guys on foot and horseback are just too slow.

Hey ... I found a bird; look ... it is right in front of me.
Hurry up and GET HERE!!! Hope they are a good shot.

GREAT! They sent me to retrieve it ... oh boy, oh boy, oh boy.

I am one happy fella ... here I come; man, am I glad they keep me healthy. I love to stretch out all my muscles; it sure feels good. Do I look spiffy with my tail up? Can you see how happy I am!!

This is the life ... glad I have a good strong neck.

I have to be gentle with this bird; my mouth is so soft; my lips just cover my teeth so I can bring this back to my owner. I am SOOOOO happy.

ROADING - or the field's
answer to "Jog-a-Dog" !!!

This is cool; exercise. Better than lying down all day. I love to run. 29

This is the life; there's one in here, folks.

Even in the snow, I can find and point birds.

How's this for a classic point? I really don't do it this way very often.

This is a more comfortable way to point since sometimes I have to wait for awhile for my owners to come.

Man, is this bird CLOSE. Hope I can stare it down so it will stay put.

OK, now what!! We both found this one at the same time. Who gets to go? Look, I even made a classy pose for you. Hope it's me ...

Hey ... this one is up in a tree. Can't you tell?

I won a bag
of dog food.
Everyone is happy.

Here are all of us that won together today. What a blast (by the way, the banner says it's a GSP trial!!).

It's time to get combed
out from
those darn
stickers. I HATE
spring-time.

This is the part I love the best. Back on the line with my friends and getting some loving.
