Objective and Purpose:

To promote cooperation and friendship among the breeders and owners of Brittanys and to encourage higher standards in breeding, training and showing of Brittanys in the field and in the show ring; to discourage the breed from becoming split into groups of "field dogs" and "show dogs" and to strive to keep it forever a "dual dog".

Wednesday, November 19, 2008 – Eukanuba World Challenge Brings Dogs From Around the Globe; Canine Competitors in Agility and Obedience Also Descend on Long Beach, CA December 13 & 14.

The American Kennel Club® and Eukanuba announced that 2,312 dogs from 50 States and 52 Countries will compete for a total of $225,000 in cash prizes at the Eighth Annual AKC/Eukanuba National Championship on December 13 and 14, 2008 in Long Beach, California. The two day event is held in conjunction with the AKC Agility Invitational and the AKC Obedience Invitational (entries of 468 and 100 respectively) making for a combined entry of almost 3,000 dogs competing in all events.

The AKC/Eukanuba National Championship is also host to the Eukanuba World Challenge, a unique event offering top dogs from 52 countries the opportunity to compete for prestigious international recognition. Rare breeds such as the Briquet Griffon Vendéen and the Xoloitzcuintli will compete against more traditional favorites such as the Dachshund and Labrador Retriever for the title of "World Challenge Champion" and a total of $15,000.

The AKC/Eukanuba National Championship will be simulcast on Animal Planet and the Discovery Channel on Saturday, Jan. 31, 2009 from 8-11 p.m. (ET/PT). Highlights from the AKC Agility Invitational will air on Animal Planet on Saturday, Feb. 7, 2009 at 8 p.m. (ET/PT).

"The AKC/Eukanuba National Championship is a one-of-a-kind experience for any dog lover – whether they are watching it on TV or enjoying it in person," said Ron Menaker, Show Chairman. "With nearly 400,000 square feet of event space, 3,000 dogs in competition, dozens of vendors, 148 educational displays, numerous demonstrations and now 52 international competitors in our World Challenge event, there is nothing that can compare to this complete canine extravaganza."

Invited to compete in the AKC/Eukanuba National Championship are:

- The country's top 25 dogs (based on breed points) from each of the 158 AKC recognized breeds.
- Every Best in Show winner from AKC all-breed shows held during the qualification period
- Reigning National Specialty winners
- Breeder/owner handled Champions from the Bred-by-Exhibitor and/or Puppy class
- The top 7 dogs in each breed (based on each country's own ranking system) from 70 countries around the globe.

The owner/s of the AKC/Eukanuba National Championship Best in Show winner will receive more than $50,000 while the breeder/s of the Best in Show winner is awarded $15,000.

"We are proud that our Bred-by Exhibitor competition continues to grow each year and attract the breeder/owner/handlers that are the heart and soul of purebred dogs," added Menaker. "Over 900 dogs representing nearly 43% percent of the total will compete for the honor of Best Bred-By-Exhibitor in Show and a $15,000 cash prize."

In addition 156 youngsters, ages 9-18, who have met high academic standards and qualification criteria based on year-round competition, will compete in Junior Showmanship.

The Long Beach Convention Center has long been the home to the Dog Hair & Egg Nog Cluster of dog shows held by local kennel clubs. These shows continue to be held in the three days prior to the AKC/Eukanuba National Championship with a combined entry of approximately 6,700 dogs.

The AKC National Obedience Invitational (NOI) report lists the top dogs ranked in Obedience events and is based on the total number of OTCH (Obedience Trial Championship) points earned during the qualifying period for this national event.

This shows the Brittany's that ranked within the top 10% of the breed. If there are less than 30 dogs that qualify for the NOI, then the top three (3) dogs are listed.

This AKC Obedience Invitational list the top dogs for Brittany's. No guarantee can be made of the number of dogs that the list will contain. If, for example, only one (1) or two (2) dogs of a certain breed are participating in obedience events, assuming that they meet the qualifications for the AKC National Obedience Invitational, there will only be one (1) or two (2) dogs listed on the listing for that breed.

Update on Marvin D. Nelson, Jr. Memorial Fund for Brittany Health Studies at the Center for Companion Animal Health, UC Davis School of Veterinary Medicine

Submitted by Gordon Theilen

DNA samples are needed from all new litters, i.e., three swabs or portion of docked tails and blood, or six swabs from each parent. There is a great need for samples from severe hip dysplastic dogs, as well as those with epilepsy and aggression. To complete an experiment to find DNA markers for the above conditions, there must be confirmed evidence of them at least 25 or more dogs. We have not reached that number yet for Brittanyys with hip dysplasia and epilepsy, but we are very close to having enough samples from dogs with aggression, with special thanks to the Brittany rescue people. The Norwegian and Swedish Brittany Clubs have also joined the effort in sending DNA samples.

All gifts directed to The Regents of the University of California for Brittany health studies have been placed in the endowed fund, and the payout earned in fiscal year 2007-2008 has supported those studies. The Center for Companion Animal Health, where the studies are being conducted, has contributed about $75,000 to initiate Brittany DNA studies and has collected and stored 1,800 DNA samples. We are fortunate to have the UC Davis Canine Genetics Laboratory involved in Brittany DNA studies.

On May 31, 2008, Tore and Anna Sorensen from the Norwegian Brittany Club visited the UC Davis School of Veterinary Medicine. On August 28th, 2008, Jim and Janet Chase from the American Brittany Club also visited the school--see the photograph of them standing beside the Marvin Nelson Memorial Plaque in the Center for Companion Animal Health (shown on left). Donors of $500 are recognized with a nameplate that is placed on this plaque. Janet Chase is also shown outside the Center for Companion Animal Health, giving a check to Lisa Woodard-Mink, Director of Major Gifts with the UC Davis School of Veterinary Medicine (shown above). The donations were collected at the Brittany National Show in 2007.

- Reflections -

The following article requires little explanation. The American Brittany Club was formed to promote the Brittany. The main way of doing this and finding the superior specimens of our breed is through competition both in the field and in shows. During the later years, we have seen an increase in agility, rally, obedience, etc... It is difficult for a club to be all things to all people but we always seem to try. This article was an attempt by the author to bring the hunting crowd into the world of field trialing and show the reasons for the sport.

I thought you might find some of the early methods of judging and posting interesting. The term "cull" comes up in this article. "Cull" has changed in today's vernacular. People still "cull" but today that means to most, selling without papers and making sure the dog is spayed or neutered. Some things do change. We may not think the Animal Rights way of thinking has impacted us, but it has. We don't hear much about Culling or Brushpiling in today's society even if it is still practiced by some. As thought processes change, customs change, and laws change, we find ourselves finding new ways to accomplish the same outcomes with a different mindset.

THE SPORT OF FIELD TRIALING

(Reprinted from The American Brittany,
Vol. XIII, No. 2, February 1962, page 20-22)

Readers of THE AMERICAN BRITTANY can be divided into two groups - Field Trialers and non-Field Trialers.

Probably the largest group is composed of those that do not have an interest in field trials—our many readers whose basic interest in the Brittany is as a hunting dog, a companion, pet, or show dog.

To be sure, most of the field trial enthusiasts are also interested in their Brittany as a hunting dog, a companion, or a competitor in the show ring. The difference is that the field trial enthusiast knows that he has something extra that could be shared with all Brittany owners.

THE AMERICAN BRITTANY feels that the great satisfaction and pleasure that is to be found in field trials could and should be enjoyed by all. We are sure that many deny themselves this added pleasure because of a misconception of field trials, or a lack of understanding, or merely a reluctance to get wet feet.

With this in mind a series of articles has been prepared to help you understand what the enthusiast sees in this sport.

Regardless of your present opinion of field trials—or even if you have no opinion at all—or even if it is all news to you, follow along through the series.

We may not convert you, but at least we hope to increase your understanding of THE SPORT OF FIELD TRIALING.

In the relatively short space of 87 years, the sport of field trials has grown into an important and popular outdoor recreational activity. Regarded by many as the cleanest of all the sports, the pastime has continued to thrive and provide thrills for its followers as well as serving its primary purpose - improvement of the shooting dog.

Many factors have contributed to the amazing growth of field trials. There are thousands of sportsmen and sports-women whose only interest in out-of-doors sports is in field trials. The bird dog game's principal purpose is the improvement of the various pointing breeds and elevation of the standards of gun dog performance in the field. Incidental to this purpose is the fact that field trials give personal pleasure to those who participate and has many aspects beneficial to wildlife resources.

A field trial is a sporting dog competition under actual or simulated hunting conditions, staged in a formal manner, with rules, regulations, and standards governing the tests. Sporting dog fanciers, through this type of competition, endeavor to find the best performers to perpetuate the breed. Better than 500 separate formal trials were run last year under the American Field's FDSB and an additional 175 under the show minded American Kennel Club. Those were trials for pointing dogs only.

The first public trial of record took place in Canneck Chase, near Stafford, in England, on May 1, 1866. The dogs were judged according to meritorious work, on the following scale of points; Pace and range, 20; Obedience, 20; Style in hunting, 15; Game finding abilities, 20; Style in pointing, 15; Merit of backing, 15, for a total of 100 points. Four stakes comprised the field trial program. The Anglesia Stake, for English Pointers only, open to dogs up to 5 years of age; The Beaudesert Stake, for English Setters only, with the same age limit. Two other stakes were run which compare to puppy stakes and the Paget Stake for setters. It is interesting to note that pointers and setters did not compete against each other.

The first English bird dog trial aroused widespread interest and received a great deal of publicity in the sporting press. However, the judging system, praised by some, was condemned by others. Changes were soon made to take into account merits and demerits the latter in case a dog failed to take advantage of his opportunity... and to handle game according to the approved standards. The score card system used in the first trial, was finally discarded as unsatisfactory and the "Spotting System" was installed which is still in vogue. Under this method, the judges weigh the actual work of all the dogs in the stake, each against the balance of the field. Thus the first and second place dogs may come from the same heat. Discarded about the same time was the custom of posting the names of dogs, considered by the judges to be ahead and winning the stake, before the stake was concluded.

Although field trials originated in England, the sport has really matured in this country. The first trial in the United States was held near Memphis, Tennessee, on October 8, 1874, sponsored by the Tennessee State Sportsman's Association. The winner was "Knight" a black setter who scored 88 points out of a possible 100. Judging was based on the following schedule: Nose, 30; Pace and style, 20; Breaking, 20; Pointing style and Staunchness, 15; Backing, 10; Roading, 5. This scoring system was soon discarded and the universal "Spotting System" as used in England was adopted. There has been some criticism of this method, but the phenomenal growth of field trials indicates that the method is sound and that the sport as now conducted has gained the confidence and patronage of bird dog owners everywhere.

It is interesting to note that every so often we find someone, unfamiliar with field trials proposing the old scoring method as a new idea and who claim that the performance standards of today are impractical. It is true that the dog with the greatest number of finds does not always win the stake for it is the quality of the find rather than the frequency of the occurrence that wins placements in field trials. It should be remembered, and well, that field trials were not instituted for the purpose of developing a gun dog suited to the needs of the average gunner, but to bring to the fore the dogs with the most desirable qualities and natural heritage.

Field trials serve two purposes; a basis for information on which to conduct breeding operations; and a spectacular form of sport. One must remember that there is a big difference in conditions one finds in a field trial and those that the average shooting dog encounters. The average hunter has only one thing in mind, making a record for himself by getting the "meat in the pot." The work his dog does is only secondary and how his dog produces the bird means little or nothing for his dog is not subjected to a strict record or searching analysis and is not being compared to another dog.

Field Trials bring out the cream of the crop for competition and only through field trials can bird dogs be improved.

Someone once said that the slogan of a successful bird dog breeder should be "Breed, Feed and Weed." It is necessary to cull every dog that does not measure up in the endeavor to bring out the brilliant performer with wholesome brains, a level head, implacable desire to hunt, and the kind of a nose that should be perpetuated.

Remember the rules laid down for field trials are the best possible for high class gun dogs. A dog to win must have speed, range, endurance, nose and bird sense. He must find birds and point them staunchly, with pleasing style and intensity, and be steady to flush and shot and stand until ordered to retrieve or move in. He must hunt intelligently and cover ground in a thorough manner. All else being equal, the one that finds the most birds is the better gun dog. What more could a hunter ask of a gun dog?

New Country

By Alan Pilkington

"She thought she was running in new country," Ted said, of Daisy, killed by the crushing edge of the snow plow, coming fast through the growing snow storm in the early darkness, charging at sixty like a solid steel angel of death, its great curved blade angled to throw her twenty yards along the mountain road into a snow filled culvert where she lay curled, as though asleep, crushed terribly inside but with no blood from her nose or mouth, her body soft, still warm and gathering snow when Martha found her almost an hour later. "Must have run down to the snow covered road and lost her bearings," Ted said, sadly. "It looked different to her in the storm. A scent probably took her there, and she was hunting in new country."

In his early grief Alan just nodded. He tried to make sense of it, that Daisy, who had run that way a hundred times with Bessie, who knew the mountain path around his home, who never ran to the road, could go so easily to this familiar but suddenly alien place.

Yes, Ted should know, he told himself.

Ted had trained Daisy for all the years since, as a young and energetic dog living in a troubled household, Alan had chosen her as his bird dog over the brown Labrador pup from South Dakota. Looking back, it seemed an easy choice. She was a Brittany, intelligent, tirelessly energetic, curious, always questing; the right size and well bred, a dog that craved affection, but returned it tenfold. She had been lost in the large house with two small boys, and Suzanne and Doug, headed for divorce, no time to love her, let alone train her or hunt her, and it was a relief for Suzanne when Alan took the young dog so eagerly and quickly, without strings or equivocation. It was then that Daisy was reborn, suddenly transplanted, her enthusiasm re-focused around one man, around a new house in the mountains, around its new smells and her new life.

The young dog grew to become strong and indomitable. At forty two pounds she was bigger than the breed standard, her size a gift from her father, a tall, deep-chested dog bred to point and retrieve the long spurred wild pheasants of the cornfields and switch grasses of Nebraska and the Dakotas. She wore his thick and wiry coat, so dense across her neck and shoulders she would run unflinching and unmarked through the thickest briar and willow stands. Early in her last summer, to reach Alan and Bessie, she had swum across the snow-melt swollen stream in Coal Basin, on her fifth attempt, after being swept under and downstream through the boulders the previous four.

She seemed indestructible, too. On her first hunt at Greg Biggin's South Dakota ranch she tore open her stomach, leaping to retrieve a shot pheasant through a barbed-wire fence, its rusted spikes ripping a gash a foot long in her pink, lightly furred underbelly. She had run to the dead bird and bought it back. Dropping it at Alan's feet, she waited, smiling up at him, until he patted her head, before she licked the bleeding wound. A vet stapled her together; within two weeks she was hunting again.

There was toughness in her nature that could quickly boil into a dog fight. She was unafraid, once flipping a retriever twice her size onto its back by its ear, then attacking its throat before Alan kicked her off. She chased bears from the aspen grove below the house, usually fiercely protective mothers with cubs, and she learned to gauge the narrow gap between their swinging claws and her nose as she danced behind them, snapping at their backs and heels. She made a fearless accommodation with the big coyote dogs that used the game trail above the house in summer, a sort of Mexican stand-off in which they would sit on their haunches, measuring each other. Daisy would allow them within twenty yards of the house but no closer, before she chased them off, sometimes two at a time. That was the alpha dog in her at work, Martha said, the third dog in Daisy, the one that occupied the same body as the loving pet and the hunter.

There is no preparation a man can make for the sudden loss of his tough and indestructible dog. Such dogs are never killed; they survive cancer, gun-shot wounds and snake bite. You imagine them aging with you, ten years from now, retired, grey-muzzled, asleep by a fire, with you ready for their dignified and gentle passing.

Martha saw Daisy below her, in the snow, the dog's large orange spots and ears visible in the torchlight through the storm, contrasted against her white body and the snow that cradled her.

"Daisy!" she called, frantically.

The dog did not move.

"I see her," she yelled into the storm.

When Alan reached Martha a half minute later, coming down the bank, striding off the hillside towards her through two feet of snow, she was quietly sobbing, gently wiping the gathering snow from Daisy's side. He saw Martha's eyes were red and tear-filled in the yellow torchlight.

Sensing the dog was lost, Alan asked, "Is she gone?"

He suddenly regretted his question, at forcing Martha this way. She bit her lip and nodded. "I think so," she said, and started to cry.

The dog was not contorted; there was no blood, no evidence of the violence that had taken her. Her eyes were closed and she seemed peaceful, half curled, the way she slept in her basket. Alan held his fore-finger near the dog's nose, then the open palm of his hand. He could feel no breath. He leaned down, putting his nose close to the dog's, touching it, almost hopefully, and still he could feel no breath. He moved his lips to the side of Daisy's face and kissed her.

"My Daisy," he said. "My darling Daisy."

Then, standing, Alan said, "Would you go get Aaron, to help. I'll stay with little Daisy."

Martha trudged off into the snow, following the beam of her flashlight, as in a trance.

The storm was still building and after a minute Alan decided he should follow her. He tried to take the dead dog in his arms but found, with her spine and rear legs crushed she had no form, unlike the composed, sleeping dog he had just kissed, and she rolled in his arms like a sack loosely filled with wheat, and she started to slip between his arms. Awkwardly locking his hands to contain her body, Alan struggled up the hill in the deep snow until Aaron, his neighbor, reached him.

Taking Daisy, feeling her body, Aaron said, "At least she would have gone quickly; instantly, I'd say." It was a cold consolation. Together they carried Daisy to Alan's truck. Alan did not want to use the heavy black plastic trash bag Aaron had produced to carry the dog, did not want even to think of her in it. Nor did Martha; she laid the bag on the truck's back seat, and over it Alan put his old Barbour hunting coat, and on that they laid their dead dog.

Alan felt an impulse and a responsibility to tell people. Perhaps it was his way of dispersing grief, so he and Martha should not shoulder the weight of it alone. He called and wrote his family, then slowly told his friends and hunting partners, all those who knew Daisy well, who may even have loved her, those who would think they had a right to know, and who probably did.

A neighbor had seen Alan and Aaron carry Daisy's body to the truck and soon the sad news spread through the small mountain community. Alan and Martha were barely home, had hardly finished laying Daisy out in her wicker basket, composing her, before Steve, their nearest neighbor called.

"I know you loved Daisy," he said, "and I did too."

Jake, through whose open garage Daisy often ran in summer as he worked on his dune buggy, called to say what a welcome visitor she always was, how happy Sharon and he were to see her, how the road past their house would not be the same.

The day after, in Aspen, Alan's friend Kirk, said Daisy reminded him of the disadvantages of his pilot's life and its uncertain schedules. "They prevent me from having a dog," he said, "any dog, but especially one like Daisy."

Aaron, a sled dog owner and racer, who had lost his own dogs through the years, confessed simply, after two days, that he "was missing Daisy already."

Daisy's veterinarian Ben and his staff sent flowers.

"They can't do that for all their dogs that die, can they?" asked Martha.

"She was one of my favorites," Ben said when Alan called to thank him.

Russ, Alan and Martha's ranching friend, wrote how "working dogs are different; they are with you all day, they want for nothing but to please you. I don't think many people understand that, how strong a bond a man has with his working dog."

From his children, never without dogs in their home as they grew up, the reaction to Alan's email was immediate. Both daughters called, and sent consoling replies, Emma's hoping Daisy would now be hunting with the family's Labrador, Sanko, who had died in Australia, almost twenty five years before, "wherever the bird dogs go to hunt together."

Her husband, Todd, wrote how Daisy, "added grace to our lives, both on and off the field," and Amy, Alan's younger daughter talked lovingly of "the gift of companionship," dogs like Daisy bestow.

It was several days before Alan felt up to writing to his hunting partners, those who'd hunted pheasants over Daisy on the wide, rolling prairies and corn fields of central South Dakota each fall. Some were his closest friends, with whom for over twenty years he'd shared the dramas of their marriages and their children's lives, and from them a gradual, emailed eulogy to Daisy followed, the responses of thoughtful, saddened men, grieving for their hunting friend, mourning the loss of his small, spirited, orange and white pointing dog.

"Remember when we hunted the edges with Paul?" JT wrote, "In her first year, when Daisy was just starting to bloom."

Paul recalled that happy afternoon, too, then said, "we are blessed to be given time with these creatures." He told Alan the only time he had cried since his father died in 1960 was when his Golden's hips finally gave out, and he had "to take her in."

"I'm so sorry for you, and for little Daisy," Charles's note read. "I can't imagine our house without our Labrador pup." He sent a photograph of Daisy, posing proudly with the hunting group, twenty brightly colored, dead ring-necked roosters lying before them.

Frank likened the loss of a dog to that of losing a child, and Dave allowed she was, "a great little dog."

Rob described her as "both a fine bird dog, and a lover, as nice a dog as you could find." He had come to know Daisy late, just two years before, but he loved her as the others did.

A close friend, a surgeon and no stranger to blood and death, Bob was so disconsolate he was unable to write Alan for several days.

Dick, who met Alan at a driven shoot in Suffolk over twenty years before, had hunted birds with him every season since. He had killed the first pheasant Daisy ever pointed in South Dakota, four years before, and he shot the last, on a warm November afternoon at the edge of some switch grass, the second bird of a double point and rise, Alan killing the first.

"I think I know how you must feel, what you must be going through," Dick said, telling Alan of his anguish in the twenty minutes before his ageing German Short-Haired pointer, Aspen, was rescued from a partly frozen lake, struggling and barely alive from hypothermia, after she'd run onto thin ice to retrieve a dead bird for him.

"I doubt I could have seen her go that way," Dick said, "before my eyes."

Daisy ran ahead. She knew her man-friend would take them around the path again. Young-dog, the pup man-friend called Bessie, was running behind. The snow was driving, swirling past her nose as she ran and the clean air was mixing with new smells. At the edge of the clean air was the smell of wild-dog, quite far away, and under the snow banks was the smell of voles in their burrows, and she knew if she scratched the snow from the stone walls by the road she'd find the smell of chipmunks in their winter nests. The smell of squirrels blew down to her from the black timber. Young-dog came up and they ran together, shoulders touching, looking up into the spruce trees for squirrels in the storm. The smell of wild-dog seemed stronger in Daisy's nose. It was the big wild-dog she knew from summer. She decided to look for wild-dog where she and her man-friend saw it two days before, where it was hunting voles on the hillside across the road, in the clearing where the elk wintered. She would not fight it; she would just find it and watch it, as she did in summer. Its scent was stronger now, swirling all around her. Young-dog had found the fresh smell of another squirrel in the snow and had run off, chasing it to its spruce tree. She heard her man-friend call "Daisy!" then heard his whistle, but she was alone with the scent of wild-dog, and it grew stronger, coming to her from across the white field ahead, where the road should be. She was running fast now, with long loping strides, her strong body flashing white and orange in the storm, her nose close to the ground. She ran towards it, chasing the wild-dog scent, into new country.

In Memoriam

Harold Nesham – An era of Brittany and bird dog trialing in California and the West has come to an end, our good friend Harold Nesham died Sunday November 2nd at the age of 88 years, after a long illness battling cancer. He was a veteran of the World War II, being a member of the Air Force.

Harold obtained his first Brittany in the early 1950's and was a strong supporter of the breed and a long time member of Golden Empire Brittany Club. He was known throughout the entire California and Nevada pointing breed communities. For in the last thirty years, involvement in judging, wrangling, gunning, and announcing status of the trial over his loud speaker system was the vision we all have of this giving man. He was always available to help a person with a disabled vehicle (broke down, stuck in the mud, etc) until the matter was corrected. Harold owned several good horses, however, one in particular, "Mandy", a gaited mare, which introduced many dog people to horse handled trials.

Harold emotionally touched hundreds, possibly thousands, of others through dedication, generosity and being just a regular down to earth man that God placed on this earth to help others. We will miss Harold, but fully know that he is now in a place where suffering has come to an end and he can continue to provide help for all of God's creatures great and small, on into eternity.

Hunting Field Trial Dogs

By Jeff Steele

Like so many people I started as hunting being my passion and my favorite dog of choice was a Brittany. My childhood friend who had recently returned from a tour of duty in Vietnam had bought a Brittany on his return to central Illinois. He and I had hunted in our early days without dogs then with my beagle lab mixed dog. She did not know whether to bark or retrieve. My friend bought a Brittany which was unfamiliar. I followed suite and bought a Brittany pup a year later. I did not know a thing about training but we managed to understand each other and I had the greatest wild bird hunts with her for the next several years while I added more Brittany's. One from the Hammond brothers in Kansas, another from a individual near me, and one from Rick Smith when I attended one of Delmar Smith's early training seminars.

Dogs are very intelligent and quite adaptable. If you have been field trialing in the fall and the dogs have been hunting in the past generally all you need to do is take out the shotgun, foot hunt and they adapt very well. If you are among the minority that hunt from horseback, that works too. Being absolutely honest, I do not worry about losing a gun dog but I do the all-age dog in the small, confined, heavy cover grounds we have in many areas in Illinois and other central states. Field trial gun dogs can handle the habitats we hunt universally whereas the all age can more easily be hunted where the visibility is good and you can walk all types of terrain with ease or hunt off horseback. As a matter of fact, although I never have hunted wild chukar in their native habitat, as an example, I think even in my prime I would have preferred to hunt off horseback and preferred all-age range.

I have a good friend in Michigan that came down to hunt with us in central Illinois over 25 years ago and I will always remember his remark. After hunting acres of wide open harvested corn fields bordered by hedge rows and fence rows (most them gone today) he said, "I now understand why you guys run all-age dogs." His dogs were field trial gun dogs and field champions and he did a lot of grouse hunting in Michigan and was a very successful field trialer in those habitats and still is. He could understand why some of the dogs we had on the ground were all-age dogs with gun dogs to "fill in the gaps."

I would not own a Brittany that was not a multiple purpose dog. My reason for buying my first Brittany was because they were a pointing dog and they were very good retrievers. A dog that can be hunted successfully on wild birds or on release sites and can be successfully field trialed or used in hunt tests are true bird dogs. My best hunting dogs have been out of field trial dogs and I want to see as many field titles as possible, HOF credentials, and possibly most important dual champions. I am not nor have I ever been strictly a show enthusiast. But I do believe a dog that has accomplished field and show championships possibly has it all. It is kind of like owning a Corvette. They look great, but are they highly functional for their purpose. If you know of dogs in your prospective puppy's pedigree that are multiple hour winners then there is a very good chance that those dogs were anatomically and physiologically sound. Two breeders, trainers, handlers and hall of famers that I have a great deal of admiration for are Delmar Smith and Robert Wehle. Their success is legendary. Both of them knew what the physical standards for a successful hunting/field trial dog should be. Their dogs were handsome or pretty because they were physically correct and could run hard in hour or longer stakes or could hunt all day. Read their books or books about them and you will understand "show" standards. Mr. Wehle was a breeder and student of many different species. He was not a trained geneticist but understood the science on a very practical level. Form follows function.

The recent past National Amateur Gun Dog Champion and his owner recently put a skeptic in his place. I had read the Peoria Journal's outdoor columnist/editor over the years. Once he put a couple of Brittany's he hunted behind down pretty badly because the were "boot lickers." There were a few times he essentially said that field trial dogs (of any breed, but mainly pointing dogs) were incapable of being practical hunting dogs because they ran too big. Talk about both sides of your mouth. With some "heavy lifting" some of my field trial friends and I persuaded Mr. Lampe, Outdoor Editor of the Peoria Journal, to seek out an invitation with the now 2x NAGDC/DC/AFC owner/trainer/handler/breeder and hunt wild pheasants and quail on some central Illinois farmland. How did it go? Mr. Lampe wrote I thought a wonderful, somewhat conciliatory full-page article. I think that hunt made its point.

Field trial dogs are great hunting dogs I know of many very successful handlers of field champions that hunt their dogs with great success and I am betting that they do a better job overall than many dogs strictly used for hunting. I have a friend that I have hunted with for years and he has become a successful field trialer and judges, but his main love is hunting and all of his current dogs have had success as adults in competition. One of his dogs was actually steady to wing and shot on one of our hunts. Honestly, I had not seen that in forty some years of hunting. When hunting I have always allowed my dogs to break at shot. If I knew the bird was not hit I could easily stop them.

I evolved from a "meat hunter", with average but good Brittany's, to a field trialer/hunter with top quality dogs that got the job done in competition or on a days hunt. Not that it matters I suppose, but I have owned and hunted pointers, wirehairs, red setters, spaniels, shorthairs, and labs and of course my favorite is the Brittany.

The Dreamer

By Larry Bates

Well look at you, all curled up and cradled in the arms of Morpheus. Sloshed back a few too many now, did we boy? And just because it's all you can eat, doesn't mean you have to get double your money's worth. Dream on little buddy. The morning comes quick enough and you're in the first brace. You can pay for your sins then and pay for them you will.

It had been a typical afternoon at the field trial grounds. The chores were done, tailgates down and lawn chairs out. The horses were staked out, most standing motionless, staring at the ground, asleep on their feet. The older dogs relaxed on their chain gangs as pups tried to play with their neighbors. Volleys of laughter came from the various congregations around the horse trailers. And as usual, the tales got taller as the beer supply got shorter.

There was the one about Buck and his Brittany in the pointer trial when they didn't use his dog because "his tail wasn't long enough." The next time he ran under that judge he walked in to flush and stopped behind his dog. He pulled the tail of a tabby cat from his pocket, stretched it out and held it up behind his dog and asked "is this tail long enough for you?" Not waiting for an answer, he grabbed his dog's collar, harnessed him up and roaded him back to the parking lot.

There was the one about the field trial secretary and chairman going to the local bank to deposit the receipts in the club's account. They forgot to take off their blank pistols. Fortunately, they avoided a panic by pulling out their shirts and covering up their holsters before any of the patrons noticed the guns.

Famous scout stories and their helpers were retold for the neophytes of the group. Ah yes, the one about the dog in the pick up, taken from behind and deposited forward on the course. It wasn't always the same dog or handler but the results were the same. They won the stake. Fact or fiction, it made a great story.

And then the judges got their due. No body saw that first place dog run and shouldn't they have picked up that Spike dog and they got the right dogs, they just didn't get them in the right order. With dogs put up for the night, the party moved on to the favorite resteraunt where tables were pulled together and the stories and beer continued to flow.

Later, back at the motel, locked in dreams, the mind churned and sifted and sorted through the day's events.

You are driving from the all-age course to the gun dog course with a panting dog sitting behind the front seat breathing on your neck. Who's that standing next to the squad car on the side of the road? It's that cute, waitress, Jeannie, from the restaurant and she's got a tabby cat on a leash. You'd better pull over. Don't get out, but you have to get out. He said to get out.

"What's that you got there boy. You better show me your hands."

"This is only a blank pistol and I'm a field trialer."

"This is only a 45 automatic and I'm a State Trooper. You better come with me."

You are in a big room with mahogany walls. The door opens and the judge gallops into the room in black robes and descends from the saddle of a black walking horse. Climbing into his perch he peers down wearing a baseball cap with a dog food label. Can it get any worse? The judge says yes. "Boy, you're in big trouble. Illegal transportation of a firearm is a serious offense. Do you swear to tell the whole truth and nothing but the truth." Can it get worse? Yes, and you are about to meet the scourge of cellblock number 2, your new roommate, Big Willy. His knee is pushing into your back and it's starting to rain. You can hear the water running down the wall outside.

"Tell me a field trial story", says Big Willy. "Tell me the one about your Trooper saddle."

"Honey, honey, wake up. You're having a bad dream." As Big Willy fades away into dreamland, the voice of your wife and the sound of the shower in the next room, welcome you back to reality. People are stirring at the motel and it's time to get up.

"You can stop poking me. I'm awake. My head hurts. Why don't you run the dog today? I'll stay here. Let me know how it turns out."

"Forget it Charlie! Run your own dog. Nobody made you drink all that beer. There are aspirins out in the truck. Maybe that Big Willy guy you were talking to in your sleep will go out and get them for you!"

"Yeah, in twenty years when he gets out. Maybe Jeannie will."

"Jeannie who?"

"Don't ask."

The sun rises over the grounds with a cool, gentle west wind. What a great sport and what a great day to run dogs. The aspirins have kicked in and you've got your horses saddled. And now, as you wait for the judges to head for the line, the dreams of the day kick in, the ones that keep you coming back week after week. Will you get him qualified for the big dance and if you get there, can he grab a piece of the glory? But remember, the prize may be important but the journey is too. So keep dreaming little buddy and above all, enjoy the ride along the way.

TIDEWATER Dick Cross WMA, VA March 22-23, 2008

Submitted by Event Secretary Bobbie L. Sigmund

The Tidewater Brittany Club held its Spring Hunt Test at a new location this year. Judging from the amount of entries and positive comments of the participants, it was an overwhelming acceptance of our new grounds and more liked the hunting course location. Weather was cool with a slight shower or two during the weekend. Our judges, on both Saturday and Sunday, expressed the delight of how many good dogs they had the pleasure to watch throughout the weekend. But the Tidewater Brittany Club Hunt Test Event would not have went so smoothly if not for the great efforts of Rebecca and Zac Walker (bird planters, line and riding marshals), Don Tellock (Event Chairman and official gunner), Ed Rudzinski (great cook again -- Ed, thanks), Spencer Hill (president), Mike Sigmund (official gunner), and any others not already mentioned. Thank you so much. We look forward to seeing everyone again in the fall.

MULTIPLE BEST IN SHOW & BEST IN SPECIALTY SHOW

DC/AFC AWARDS RUSTY RIDGE JAKE, MH

(Ch. Hermit Ridge Valiant Venture x Our Magnificent Emmy Award JH)

May 26, 1994 - April 26, 2008

Bred by Jeane White in Washington, Jake came to Alaska at 8 weeks old. Purchased as a pet, he soon caught the attention of the Alaskan dog people and at their urging he became our first performance dog. We never dreamed how far he would go! Jake was exclusively campaigned in the show ring by Alaskan handler Colleen McDowell; owner-trained and handled by Claude to his Master Hunter title; and amateur handled to most of his field trial wins by Ellis Herz, with Claude stepping in on occasion.

A few highlights of Jake's career include:

American CH in 8 shows at 12 months
Canadian CH in one weekend
Back-to-Back All-Breed Best in Show wins
on June 22 & 23, 1996 at age 2
Best of Breed at the 1996 ABC Futurity Run-Off
Master Hunter in June, 1999
Best in Show win #3 on August 5, 2000
FC in November 2000 to become the
First Best in Show winning Dual Champion Brittany in History!
#2 Brittany Gun Dog nationwide in 2000
AFC in January 2001

On July 8, 2001 Jake garnered his sixth Best in Specialty win, taking the ABC Summer Specialty from the Field Trial Class and continuing all the way to his fourth and final Best in Show win. To date Jake is still the breed's only multiple Best in Show winning Dual Champion.

Lifetime Show Stats: 121 BOB out of 144 shows; 60 Group Placements, 6 BISS, 4 BIS

Lifetime Field Stats: 32 placements in 50 starts

Jake was bred only a few times and to date has sired one Dual Champion, one Amateur Field Champion, ten show Champions, nine with hunt test titles including one Master Hunter and two Senior Hunters, and two dogs with numerous obedience and agility titles.

Thank you to Jeane, Colleen, Ellis and all of Jake's supporters. Most of all, thank you Jake for being strong of heart and doing everything we asked of you and then some. We miss you.

TONAN-RAO KEPT IN SUSPENSE

NORTHERN NEW ENGLAND July 10, 2008

Hot weather and even hotter competition made the show that almost wasn't, a memorable one. Our Brittanys drew the largest entry of the show for yet another year. A new crop of youngsters impressed sweepstakes judge Ms. Karen Gatchall with their promise for the breed's future. JMAT'S FIND JUST KEEP SWIMMIN' took Best in Sweepstakes and TRIUMPHANT'S ABSOLUT'LY COSMOPOLITAN took Best of Opposite. CH SWIFT RIVER'S HOT TICKET floated around the ring to win the prize for Best Veteran and CH ROBARD BEBOP TIPCANU TYLER TOO was named Best of Opposite.

Mrs. Keke Kahn had a lot to look at but picked out FLASHFIRE'S ABSOLUTELY MCDREAMY as her Winners Dog. The young ones continued to impress with reserve going to JMAT'S FIND JUST KEEP SWIMMIN' and TRIUMPHANT'S ABSOLUT'LY COSMOPOLITAN kept the trend going as Winners Bitch. Reserve was TONAN-HOPE UNBE-LIEVABLE. Quality was evident in the Breed line-up making the choice of CH TONAN-HOPE'S ROCKIN' THE BOAT as Best of Breed a deliberate decision. Proving liver can be lovely, TRIUMPHANT'S ABSOLUT'LY COSMOPOLITAN was named Best of Winners. CH GRANMARS CANDO DIAMOND CREDIT took the position as Best of Opposite. In the special judging for Best Bred-By Exhibitor, SWIFT RIVER'S FLEXIBLE FLYER flew to first in the breed as well as in the Group representing the Brittany well. The previous day's supported entry provided an honorable mention. Making owners Barbara and Frank Goss incredibly proud was CH MT VIEW'S STAR CHASER who was named Best Veteran in Show.

This event owes its success to the continued support of the exhibitors who were welcomed in the club's hospitality tent for lunch and good company. Benefactor's David and Joan Hayes continue to sponsor this show. Many thanks to the following club members, for their varied contributions: Priscilla Thibodeau, John Poland, and Linda McCartney-Roy, and to Dottie Boyatzi who never fails to share a tasty dish. It is with great pride that I report the thoughts of four judges who shared their impressions of the Brittany as a breed. One commented that the quality in his ring, "took his breath away" and the others noted that our dogs continued to meet the standard producing better and better dogs while other breeds seem to fall away from that goal. I guess that sums up this exhibition!

TEXAS COASTAL July 17, 2008 Houston, TX

Our Summer Specialty show was again held with the Houston Combined Specialty Association shows in the sprawling Reliant Center in Houston, Texas. The weather outside was hot and humid but inside we were cool and excited. We sincerely thank our judges, our many Brittany friends and supporters from Texas and out of state entrants from Alaska, Washington, Pennsylvania, Florida and California. We hope you will return next year for this 4-day weekend of shows.

Ms. Helen Dorrance competently judged her 7 sweepstakes entries and awarded Best in Sweepstakes to HICKORY HILL'S SWEET FLOWER owned by Anne Parchman and Sarah Cornelious from San Antonio and Best of Opposite Sex to BAR LO'S MOVING ON UP owned by Nancy Anderson and Michelle Langan from Paris.

Mrs. Vicki Abbott did an excellent job of judging her 10 dogs, 14 bitches, field trial dog and 2 champions in the breed ring. After carefully considering all entrants she awarded Winners Dog and Best of Winners to SHELANNY'S KING ARTHUR owned by Scott & Carol Luxton; Winners Bitch and Best of Opposite to TRIUMPHANT-PEACHCREEK ELECTRA owned by John Lisano and Nan Gilliard and Best of Breed to CH R.J.'S SIERRA EDITION SH owned by Robert & Joyce Wire.

Junior Showmanship was also judged by Mrs. Abbott and she selected ROSE LEALE as her Best Junior Handler from 2 entrants. Rose handled in the regular classes too and did a beautiful job.

Thank you to all who attended our show especially Sandy Faulkner, our Ring Steward, with Barbara Steele assisting, and club members Fred & Betty Brooks.

And, we cannot forget our generous trophy donors Nancy Anderson, Michelle Langan, Steve Hintzel, Fred & Betty Brooks, Braescroft Animal Clinic, Tom & Sandy Schrank, Kris Kieta, Larry & Patricia Mankin, Robert Power and Jim & Mary Crawford. Thank you for supporting our show! Hope to see you next year!

BUCKEYE July 26, 2008 Marion, OH

Buckeye Brittany Club held it's annual specialty show on July 26, 2008 at the Marion County Fairgrounds in Marion, Ohio. The show is held in conjunction with the Dan Emmet Kennel Club. The all breed show this year was dedicated in memory of Kay Wiggins, long time kennel club member and treasurer and also long time Brittany owner.

The weather was hot and threatened to rain several times but it held off and we were able to have our luncheon after showing was over. I want to thank everyone who entered our specialty despite the high gas prices and the club appreciates the support very much! We had an outstanding turn-out of club members to the show this year and that was wonderful! Thank you to everyone for all of your help and support! Everyone pitched in to help with food and set-up and I think we all had a good time watching the dogs strut their stuff in the ring.

REGION 4 AMATEUR
ALL AGE CHAMPIONSHIP

Larry Bates, Reporter

This marks the seventh consecutive year that the Region 4 Amateur All Age Championship has been held at the Ionia grounds in Michigan. There was talk last year of adding a third day to spread out the running and allow the opportunity to accommodate more dogs. This change was made and thirty-two dogs vied for the title.

The cover was very friendly for our little Brittanys, especially for the middle of May. There are some benefits to a hard Michigan winter and a late spring. The temperatures for the three days of running, ranged from the low 40's to the mid 70's. There was a little rain, some mist and also a need for sunglasses, in other words, typical Michigan weather.

We wish to thank all those who made this championship a success. This event was organized through the leadership of Sherri and Kent Merryman. Each morning, Bill Thomson, Ron Gulembo and Kent bagged and planted birds. John and Judy Marinelli, Jack Montgomery and Hap Harison took care of the dog wagon duties. Donna Janulis, Judy Robin, Mary Jo Trimble and Kathy Gulembo guarded the roads. On Thursday night, chef Bill Thomson conducted his annual steak fry to the satisfaction of all. We have a very special thank you to our corporate sponsor, Nestle Purina. Their financial support makes it possible for us to have these events and the high quality of their foods keeps our dogs healthy, strong and able to perform at these high levels. Purina Representative, Jim Smith was in attendance and rode many of the braces. He spoke at the dinner thanking us for our continued use of Purina products.

Our judges this year possess many years of judicial experience in the saddle. Al Van Wieren is from Dyer, Indiana. He is well known to the Brittany community. Al and Sharon owned Hall of Fame member, DC Royal Brits Starbuck of Auten; Jim Cipponeri from New Hudson, Michigan has judged several Brittany trials here at Ionia. Jim is a long tail enthusiast with both Setters and Pointers. Jim and Al communicated well with each other and with this reporter.

The winner of this year's championship was FC/AFC CLYDE'S MICRO-BREEZE (Mike), owned by Paul and Lisa Pollock from Medford, New Jersey. Lisa handled Mike The Runner-up was FC TRACE OF TIME (Trace), owned and handled by Bill Thomson from Midland, Michigan. Third place went to FC RU-JEM'S DIAMOND JEM (Jim), owned by Ruth and Jerry McGee from Stewart, Illinois. Jerry handled Jim. FC/AFC WINDY HILL FLY BY (Buzz) took fourth place. Buzz is owned and handled by Kent Merryman of Holland, Michigan.

THE RUNNING

Brace 1: RU-JEM'S A TOUCH OF BOURBON/McGee; TRUCKER'S WILD RIDE/Trimble. After a rain delay due to the threat of lightening, the dogs were away, down the hill and across the creek. Rider made a long cast to the old barn, came across to the cut by the second pond and headed for the edge along Hire's field. He came through the edge with a bird in his mouth. The judges agreed that unless a dog was seen chasing and catching a bird, there would be no infraction and the dog would be allowed to continue. On the west edge of the big hay field, Chug scored first at 20. Wet birds equals bad fliers but Chug handled the temptation well. He scored again at 29 digging into the tree line, just before the Boy Scout bridge. Down Cardiac Hill and across Tibetts creek, Chug headed for the derby course. Rider was missing at this location and the parties became separated. Chug had his third find at 39 on the second horizontal line of the derby course. High in a tree above the dog, sat a Red Tail Hawk, surveying the action. A bird was still there and again, flew poorly. Chug handled it all with class. His last find was at 55 in the orchard. Rider rejoined Ray and tallied a find just before Sessions Creek.

Brace 2: LANE'S END BOW TIE BLACKIE/Robin; SHAMROCK'S SIRIUS/Haines. Breaking away down the hill from the big oak tree, Blackie picked up the first line and headed for the small field before the shoot. Si turned right and head for the levee crossing. Wade pulled him out of the corner and Si took the woods along the swamp heading forward to the shoot. Blackie established point on the last line of the gun dog course. He moved through the line and chased with gusto. With the course to himself, Si crossed Sessions Creek and back up to the top of the derby course. The Red Tail had left but there was a bird still there for the mannerly dog. He stopped again at 37, near the Boy Scout bridge, where Chug had his find. Wade made a brief flushing attempt and decided to take the dog on. Si scored his second find at the end of Hire's field as time expired

Brace 3: RU-JEM'S STOP-N-WATCH/McGee; WINDY HILL SKY ROCKET/Merryman. After coffee at the old barn parking lot, the dogs broke to the north. Cruise rimmed the field and disappeared in the northeast corner. Quill's day ended early as he came over the hill with a present. Jerry elected to pick the dog up. With Sherri out scouting, Kent rode toward the championship course, those fields used in hour stakes. As Kent swung north, Cruise came out of the southeast corner, far across the big hay field. He sprinted across the field to rejoin his handler. At cardiac hill, Kent stopped and called for his dog. They continued across the creek and on to the derby course. At 28, Cruise established point. The hawk was back and was obviously having an effect on the quail population. The dog was uncertain and Kent moved him up. The bird was produced with all in order. Cruise was found standing in the orchard at 43. The gun shot and a very loud whoa, pulled Sherri out of the cover. She had been out scouting. The flushed bird had landed directly in front of the dog. Sherri asked, "What happened?" Al Van Wieren responded with a chuckle, "Kent got nervous. The dog was fine." Cruise looped the field by the big oak, went through the shoot and finished the hour on the gun dog course.

Brace 4: LINVELS ACE OF DIAMONDS/Pollack; TRACE OF TIME/Thomson. Breaking from the gun dog parking lot, Ace took the edge forward to Sessions Creek. Trace had his running shoes on but left his compass in the dog box. Bill got held up as he tried to get Trace turned and headed in the right direction. Trace returned to the front, hitting the cover hard, fast and forward. With Paul handling and Lisa scouting, Ace was doing his own thing. By this time, the pattern had been set and we all knew when to expect bird work. At 6, after working back and forth on the line where the hawk had been, Ace established point. He took a nonproductive. Continuing on to the other side of Cardiac Hill, both dogs headed east. The handlers turned right across the Boy Scout bridge and headed back to the weekend, all-age course. The dogs could either continue east and cross Tibetts creek at the big wood bridge or turn around and cross at the Boy Scout bridge. Both scouts were out looking for the dogs. Ace came up from the Boy Scout bridge, while Trace showed from the big wood bridge. With Ace gone in the woods to the left before Hire's field, Trace took the edge and scored at the end at 33 with a stylish, intense point. Both dogs ran an all-age race. It was obvious that Trace has been here before and Lisa's horse got a great work out.

Brace 5: BRITTMONT THE HAWK/Montgomery; LANES END WE-BE CLEAN/Robin. These dogs broke away from behind the club house after lunch. Hogan turned right before crossing the creek. Warren rode forward hoping to pull the dog through. If the dog fails to cross the creek at the path he will have a thick swamp to cross. This start gave Hogan some trouble in establishing a forward pattern. We-Be crossed the creek and took off running fast, far and forward. We caught up with him at 19 as he stood on the edge of the big hay field. As it attempted to fly, the thick cover beat the bird down. On its second try it flew out past the dog. We-Be ended his day trying to get a closer look at the tempting flier. Meanwhile, Warren was getting frustrated with Hogan's pattern and he was considering picking him up. Just then, Hogan showed to his left at the entrance to the championship course, completing a nice cast which put him exactly where he should be. Warren left him down. Later, after Sessions Creek he elected to pick Hogan up

Brace 6: CLYDE'S MICRO BREEZE/Pollack; ODYSSEY'S ACE OF HEARTS/Janulis. Away from the gun dog parking lot both dogs hunted forward into the orchard. At five, Mike was found standing in the orchard. As Lisa was preparing to flush, Ace came around the cover and backed. Lisa waited for Donna to arrive and then a bird was produced for the stylish pair. The dogs looped the field by the big oak and headed back through the shoot. Across Sessions Creek, Ace pointed at 23. He took a couple of steps with the flush and was returned to the dog wagon. Mike was on course, with Lisa riding confidently. As we crossed Cardiac Hill, Paul pointed the dog out, far ahead, taking the long way around to the weekend all-age course. When the judges and handler got to the all-age course, Lisa rode over to the line to the left and pointed out Mike down in the corner. The judges remarked that they hadn't seen a lot of this dog but when they did, he was right where he should be. At Hire's field, Mike went on point at 57. Lisa discovered a pile of feathers and rather than relocate, she elected to take the dog on. He finished his hour, going away across Hire's field.

Brace 7: AJAX'S DIAMOND DYNAMITE/Marinelli; TRADEMARK'S ICEMAN/Janulis. Far to the front, on the edges, these two put down nice all-age runs. Dyna picked up a dead bird at Hire's field. This would be the only bird contact during the brace. She took a nonproductive down low in the orchard at 48 and another at the west end at 53. Timmy finished his hour going away past the big oak. With bird work, these two could have moved things around.

Brace 8: ELEFTS COLORADO BLUE/McGee; HI-POINT'S DISAPPEARING ACT/Gulembo. Breaking away from the big oak, Blue took the woods edge along the swamp, hit the line by the small gravel pit, swung around and headed through the shoot. He was seen far ahead at 23, as we entered the derby course. Ghost set up on point through the shoot on the gun dog course where Dyna took her first nonproductive. Ghost suffered the same fate. At 22, on the derby line, Ghost stood again. As Ron attempted to flush, the Red Tail Hawk flew over the gallery with a quail in his talons. It must have been the one Ron was looking for as Ghost took his second nonproductive. Ron reached for his leash. Meanwhile, Blue had been gone for some time. At 46, Jerry reached for his tracker and the brace was over.

Brace 9: BRISCO'S MR. STUB/Trimble; KARO/Schaffer. Stub hunted the lines well. He scored at Hire's edge, head high and tail high. The bird flew into the fence and may not have fared too well. The dog remained mannerly through out. At 20 on the edge of the big hay field, Stub was found standing. Karo was approaching the area and established a back. Ray picked up the dead bird, threw it and shot. Mr. Stub handled the situation. Karo did not. On to the championship course, Stub had his third find in the tree line before the Boy Scout bridge. Again, he looked good, high and tight. The bird was a short flier and Stub handled it well. He finished the hour strong, going away.

Brace 10: HI-POINT'S BET'N HE'LL ROCK/Gulembo; HAP'S SPICE RUM LUKE/Marinelli. Luke was up early in the orchard. He established point where we had had two previous nonproductives. This time the bird was home and it flushed in the dogs face. Ozzie hunted well, through the orchard, across Sessions Creek and up on to the derby course. At the domain of the Red Tail Hawk, he had a stylish find at 19. Cast away after this find, he ran with renewed vigor. He took the line to the left. Turning right at the next horizontal line, he screamed to the end. Unfortunately, he turned right again. Ron tried to get him turned but he headed back to the line where he had his find. Ron galloped over to round him up. The judges waited to see what would materialize as Ron disappeared behind the cover. After awhile, Ron came through the line with the dog on the roading harness. He said that he contemplated holding his hat in the air, just to see what the judges would do. Apparently, Ozzie had several more finds along that line.

Brace 11: HI PROOFS RONRICO/Schaffer; GAMBLERS JAZZ N IT UP/Janulis. Rico hunted the edges hard with Chuck following through the fields towards Hire's. Jazz was gone with her scout out looking. As Rico worked the west edge of Hire's field, Jazz was seen coming down the east edge. She came across joining Ed and both dogs proceeded on through the old barn field towards the big hay field. Here, Rico decided to harvest a bird for Chuck and his day was over. At 23, the scout called point for Jazz at the edge of the big hay field. A bird was produced with all in order. At 49, Jazz cast along the woods to the left on the derby course and picked up the line of the Red Tail Hawk. With an east wind, she took the west side and turned right heading across the front. Ed slowed his horse anticipating a find. Jazz obliged but temptation got the better of her and she joined Rico on the wagon.

Brace 12: THE ROCK II/Pollack; GRAND JUNCTION JAKE/Pulliam. Away from the gun dog parking lot, Rock cast to the first line and headed left towards the swamp. He swapped ends and Paul called point. As he rode to the dog, Rock lowered his head, turned right and took off towards the swamp. Paul was in hot pursuit and later returned with the dog in the saddle. Jake hunted forward, through the orchard, across the gun range and through the shoot. At 21 he set up on point, high and tight. Dick walked in front of the dog, kicking the cover. A relocation attempt failed and the Jake was taken on. With the warm afternoon temperatures, Dick elected to pick his dog up and the second day of running came to an end.

Brace 13: PK'S JAZZMAN JACOB/Jagielski; RC'S RUFF RANGER/Richter. Jazz had no bird work but ran the course to the extreme. Ruff set up at Hire's edge but looked unsure. Rob found a dead bird in front of the dog. As we left, the judge road up a bird farther out in front of where the dog had been. At 22, in the big hay field, Ruff had a stop to flush. He showed his style and intensity on point with a nice find at 30 in the tree line before the Boy Scout bridge. After the bridge, Jazz turned right and disappeared. Tom followed the course to the left towards cardiac hill. The judges remarked that Tom would have to pull a rabbit out of his hat to get the dog to show to the front. The dog bulldozed the cover on the left along the creek bottom or he got up on Tuttle and ran past the dog wagon unseen by anyone. Either way, it was a heck of a move and you can call Tom or the dog, Houdini. Ruff added another find to his card at 44 on the derby course edge. At 59, Ruff had another dead bird pointed, which Rob found after moving the dog up.

Brace 14: WINDY HILL FLY BY/Merryman; RU-JEM'S DIAMOND JIM/McGee. Breaking away from the big oak, Buzz scored at 6 at the end of the shoot. Unlike most of the birds we had seen all week, this was a good flier. Judge Jim Cipponeri referred to it as a "German" bird, one left over from the Shorthair Championship the previous week. Both Buzz and Jem made long casts, along the lines to the front. At 33, before the weekend all-age course, Jem took a nonproductive after a relocation attempt. At 43, in Hire's field he tallied a find with style as Buzz had a stop to flush at the same time and near the same location. At the big hay field, Buzz had an open field find on the west side as Jem had a find along the east edge, both at 53. Both dogs finished strong with Jem a bit farther ahead.

Brace 15: KT' ARTIC GLADIATOR/McClary; TILLY'S RANDOM TASK/Hall. Away from the snowmobile parking lot, Max cast across the derby course to the site where we had much bird activity. The birds were home and to the surprise of all, Max reminded us of his derby days. With the course to himself, Billy took off across Sessions creek and through the orchard. He was not returned to judgement.

Brace 16: KD'S SLIP AND SLIDE/Jagielski; ST. JOSEPH'S ORI/Ori. The last brace of the Championship broke away from the gun dog parking lot. Both dogs hunted forward for their handlers. At 31, both dogs took Hire's edge and set up on point next to each other. All was in order for this divided find. Again, at the big hay field, both dogs stopped. All was not in order here as Splash took a couple of steps in front of Joey. Tom collared his dog and Joe flushed for Joey. Taken on, Joey hunted forward, ending his race at Cardiac Hill with no further bird work.

PURINA

Congratulations to RC'S RUFF RANGER and handler Rob Richter for winning the first running of the Open Limited Walking Gun Dog stake. This was an hour walking stake and it was well received. We'd like to congratulate all of the winners and thank all who participated. We need to acknowledge the folks who donated their time to judging the stakes at this trial. The proceeds from this trial provide funding for several of the championships that are run in the Central part of the country. A special thanks goes to Purina for their continued sponsorship of the championships and this trial.

ST. CROIX VALLEY Crowhassen Park Reserve Rogers, MN May 9-11, 2008

by Brian Lange

The St. Croix Valley Brittany Club held its annual spring field trial May 9-11, 2008 at the Crowhassen Park Reserve near Rogers, MN. Friday's running enjoyed sunny skies and steady breezes. All-Age ran strong and wide but were challenged to find birds with dry scenting conditions. The Open Limited Gun Dogs ran big yet slower, yielding plenty of bird contact. Saturday we woke to cloudy skies and steady winds. Northern MN awoke to ice covered lakes and snow for the MN fishing opener.

Limited Gun Dogs finished before lunch as the drizzle started to fall on the puppies. Open Gun Dog endured continuous rain but still found birds to point. After Saturday's running we again hosted a fish fry on the grounds. Thank you to Heidi Chester-Heap for bringing the walleye and Steve Ralph, our club's chef extraordinaire. Gustly winds overnight blew away the clouds for a cool sunny start Sunday. Derbies ran far and wide with cool winds. Early afternoon was cool in the saddle, but warm on the ground for the walking handlers in Walking Amateur Gun Dog. Steady and sometimes gusty winds had the gun dogs covering all corners looking for birds. Most took advantage of the ponds for a sip before hitting the hillsides.

We would like to thank Nutri-Source for sponsoring our trial and supplying dog food to all of the placed dogs. Thanks to judges Dan Voss, Kendall Brown, Bruce Heiter, Burton Wice, Pam Baird, Bret Lindback, and Fran Marier for their time in the saddle. Big thanks to bird planters Denise Koslowski, Susan Januschka, and Steve Ralph for putting birds in all of the likely places. Thanks to our dog wagon crew: Bret Lindback starting the trial, John Lindback, who traveled from South Dakota, all three days, and Steve Ralph for finishing up the amateur stake. Thanks also to professional trainers Bob Burchett, Greg Dixon, and Matt Eder for bringing their dogs to our trial. Special thanks to Eileen and Carlos Gust for serving us lunch each day. From the warm homemade caramel rolls and cookies, to a different menu each day. Next year I think I'll throw a saddle over the picnic bench and watch the dogs from the tent. We look forward to seeing everyone next year. Hopefully we have as nice of weather then too.

SKYLINE Sport Haven Bennett, CO

May 10-11, 2008

The Skyline Brittany Club would like to start out by saying thank you to everyone who helped make this walking trial a success; Matt Clyker for chairing the event; our judges; Mike Katzenberger, Rex Christensen, Scott Wilson, David Towner, Charlie Rose, Leslee Masolotte, Steve Bailey, Jeff Hoskins; Joan and Ernie Peters for their great cooking; and Joyce and Dave Lincoln for letting us run on their beautiful property. The Gun Dog course is a beautiful river bottom lined with trees. Both the Puppy and Derby courses have open areas and great tree lines, and open areas where the dogs are able to show their potential.

On Saturday we saw almost every kind of weather possible out in Bennett, CO. It rained, snowed, and hailed and we got in a little sunshine at the end. The judges, Mike and Scott, said it was a very good Amateur Gun Dog stake despite the (rarely ever heard) "too many birds on course." Most, if not all, dogs had bird work but it seemed as though there was something in the air, as not many made it through the course clean. The judges said that despite the breaking, the style and run the dogs showed was impressive. The course on which the puppy and derby stakes were run had an enticing berm on the east side that caught the eye of the bigger-running dogs, making it a little bit harder for the foot handlers to get their dogs back around to the end of the course. The Open Puppy and Open Derby entrants also got great reviews from the judges. The judges got to see a lot of run, great pointing and lots of potential in the young dogs. After dealing with the weather on Saturday, everyone was looking forward to the sun forecasted on Sunday.

The Open Gun Dog judges, Rex and David, raved about the dogs they saw. Rex, who hasn't been out to a field trial since the late 1990's, said that they got to see a lot of clean bird work and mentioned how he appreciated the general intensity and style he saw. The Am Puppy and Am Derby were again great stakes. Many of the young dogs are sure to become hearty contenders in the adult stakes in the future. It's always fun to watch the young ones as they learn and mature.

Thanks again to everyone who helped with the trial and to all the new people that came out and gave our walking trial a try. We look forward to seeing more of you in the future.

MEMBERS OF THE AMERICAN BRITTANY CLUB

Give the gift of a new membership... to give the opportunity to someone to learn about and participate in the American Brittany Club.

This membership campaign is really quite simple, we are asking every member to donate/sponsor a membership in the American Brittany Club. This "gifted" membership might be to a puppy purchaser, or a friend/acquaintance who has a Brittany. All of us encounter people who may just need a little encouragement to become members.

This can work, but it is totally dependent upon your support. Please use the ABC application form in the back of the magazine to enroll a new member today. You may donate/sponsor multiple new memberships. The names of new members & ABC sponsors will be published in the magazine on a quarterly basis.

THIS IS OUR CHANCE TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE!
