The American Brittany

Objective and Purpose:

To promote cooperation and friendship among the breeders and owners of Brittanys and to encourage higher standards in breeding, training and showing of Brittanys in the field and in the show ring; to discourage the breed from becoming split into groups of "field dogs" and "show dogs" and to strive to keep it forever a "dual dog".

TRAININ' DOGS

with Rick Smith

Moving on to the Next Step

Training a dog is a series of steps and stages. No matter what training method you follow, there is a system and a plan for what needs to be done, how it should be done, and what steps to take to achieve the results. Sounds simple, right? Well, it is simple...except for one big detail that can make or break the whole thing. How do you know when one step is complete so you can move on to the next one? And what happens if you move ahead too fast? And can you do too many repetitions at one step before moving on? How about skipping a step, or changing the order?

Training a dog is as much a process as baking a cake or putting together an engine: It requires specific directions and a system of making the directions work for optimal results. The big difference is that engines or cakes don't have a brain that can think on its own a n d the ability to move and react without human control. That adds little more complexity to the training process, but it doesn't change the fact that we have to follow steps that are both consistent and simple. Can you change the order of the steps in training? It's Rick Smith has spent a lifetime breeding, training, and handling National Championship bird dogs. His highly popular training seminars teach the "Silent Command System" to dog owners world-wide. During hunting season, Rick can be found on the Mariposa Ranch in south Texas.

Sharon Potter has a strong background in animal behavior, and has been training both horses and dogs for many years, with several National titles to her credit. She is an avid hunter and archer, and in her spare time is working on the first of a series of books on bird dog training with Rick Smith.

possible for an experienced trainer to rearrange a few things, but they can get away with it because they're experienced. Your best results will come from finding a "recipe" that you like and then sticking to it. Following a specific order makes it easier for the dog to understand and learn. The steps in the Silent Command System, for example, are arranged in an order that flows together, and one step leads in to the next. This also makes it easier to give your dog a tune-up, because each step is clearly defined and has a specific purpose.

Any time you're interacting with your dog, you're training it whether you intend to or not. Dogs read our body language far better than we read theirs most of the time, and they learn from what they observe. Since they want to please, they often pick up things we didn't even try to teach them. How do they manage to do that? By watching us do the same thing, over and over again in the same way. And once they've learned that, it's easy for them to pick up on pieces of whatever we're doing and react as well.

Once your dog has been on a few hunting trips, it'll know whether you're going to run errands or going hunting based on what it sees you pull out of the closet – and it knows for certain that picking up the keys to the truck means you're going somewhere, and that means they might get to ride along. Those are easy things for a dog to learn because they are fun, exciting, and not very difficult. Some of the skills we need to teach our dogs for hunting aren't as much fun for them at first, which

This Weimaraner is sight-pointing a quail and acting very interested. At this early stage of bird exposure, building confidence is important, and the step we'd add now is to ask the dog to use its nose rather than its eyes. That will encourage the pup to point on scent rather than roading in and trying to see the bird.

A backing/honoring exercise: The setter on the right is learning to honor and tried to steal point from the setter on the left. A correction was made by launching the bird when the dog got in too close, effectively telling the honoring dog that he screwed up. He's handling the correction well – a bit unsure, but alert and in learning mode.

doesn't put the dog in the right frame of mind to learn and makes our job a little tougher.

How many repetitions does it take for a dog to learn a skill? There isn't a hard and fast answer to that question; it takes as long as it takes. We can tell you that they'll learn most quickly if they are getting clear and consistent messages from their handler. Make the correct response easy and the incorrect response difficult.

The big question (and the subject of this column) is: How do we know they've really learned it reliably? Dogs, because of their desire to please, try hard to figure out what we want. Often they begin to respond after just a couple of repetitions, but don't fall into the trap of thinking they understand and are trained to respond just because you've gotten a couple of correct reactions!

At this stage of learning, the dog is guessing at what we want, and our reaction either reinforces the behavior or negates it. Once the dog's made a correct "guess" two or three times in a row, stop and do it again later. Why not keep repeating it over and over right then and there if the dog got it right? Because the dog is still guessing, even if it's guessing correctly. If you keep pushing, the dog may well become confused and figure that since you're still giving it a cue, it must have guessed wrong, and then it may start offering different behaviors. Instead, if you put the dog away and stop training for a bit, it will have a chance to think and process the information during the down time.

A dog will learn far more quickly in several short sessions of repetitions than in one long session. You can repeat a training pattern several times a day if you only do it for a few minutes and a few repetitions. This helps your dog respond correctly, because the training time is brief, the cues are clear, and if they offer the same response, they are rewarded with a break.

How do you know when the dog has stopped guessing and has really learned the behavior? Using multiple short repetitions, you will notice your dog anticipating your cue and perhaps trying to respond before you can give it the command. Anticipation is an early sign of understanding and acceptance. It isn't the final sign, but it tells you your dog is on the way to learned behavior (meaning forming a habitual response to your command).

The dog's body language is important, too. If the posture is confident, the tail and ears up, eyes bright and attentive, your dog is telling you it is confident in what it's doing. Ears down or pulled back, tail tucked, droopy, or just barely wagging are signs of confusion or uncertainty. We want our dogs to look bright, happy, and confident when they're given a command they understand. This tells us they've accepted and understood what's being asked.

The final step is asking the dog to respond in different locations and with distractions. Often a dog will respond perfectly in the same spot in the backyard but not in a different place or with distractions. We call this last phase "proofing" the training. Take the dog

This young dog is learning about wearing the flank collar for whoa and is uncertain at the moment. No correction needed, just more repetitions and building confidence.

Training a dog is only as complicated as you choose to make it. If you try to rush things or do too many steps at once, it can be a snarled mess and take a lot longer because you're constantly having to fix things and re-do them.

Taking one step at a time and doing it thoroughly before moving to the next step, keeping it simple, following a plan, and being consistent will allow your dog to focus on what you want it to learn. It will also give you a well-trained dog that responds the same whether you're in the backyard at home, in the field at the local preserve, or hunting wild birds anywhere you choose to go.

to different places to train and teach it to respond to the cue in numerous situations and locations. When you get the same confident response any place and time you ask for it, the dog is showing complete acceptance and understanding. At this point, you can move on to the next step in your training.

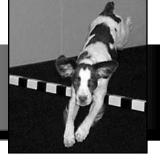

Let's go back to baking that cake or putting together that engine. Both are done in steps that need to be followed. If you just dump all the ingredients into a bowl and start mixing, you'll end up with a sloppy mess that doesn't much resemble a cake. It's simple chemistry: The ingredients need to interact according to the recipe for it to work right and produce a light, fluffy cake. And with that engine, if you don't put the rings on the pistons before installing them in the cylinders, your engine won't have the compression to run. Just like dog training, it's important to follow the steps and do each correctly and thoroughly if you want the best results.

Obedience/Agility/Rally

OBEDIENCE/AGILITY/RALLY

By Carla Simon

Thanks to all of you who responded to last month's request for feedback for the Non-Field Performance Committee. As a whole, Obedience/Agility/Rally fanciers are very devoted to your dogs and passionate in having a great time playing and competing with your dogs.

Due to space limitations, we are unable to publish all letters received. We are considering all that you had to say and are using it to inform our committee's final report and recommendations to ABC's Board of Directors at its upcoming November Annual General Meeting. We'll share more information, as space allows, in an upcoming issue.

By Dr. Jackie Nicol, Sahuaro Brittany Club, Southern Arizona, Board of Directors member

I know this is late but just catching up on things after a lot of traveling.

I believe that non-field and non-confirmation events such as obedience/agility/rally are essential to the future of the American Brittany Club (ABC).

We are hikers. We got Brittanys as they are a breed that can keep up on the trail all day. I now have three Brittanys.

We started by doing a lot of confirmation. Once my dogs had titles and started getting old that was the end of conformation, except for vet sweeps. We campaigned our male a little locally and he did reach the top 25 for two years, but it was a lot of work and travel. We got Junior Hunter titles on the two girls, and tried field trails.

I have managed to get into Rally Obedience with the youngest, who is now ten years old. We love it and made great friends. It's something that those of us who love our Britts and who are not hunters, can do and have fun doing.

One thing I like about Rally Obedience is that you compete against yourself, so you can get a title even though everyone else is. It's much more rewarding. Getting those green ribbons for legs, as with getting orange ribbons for hunt tests, is such a boast, especially when you are new to Brittanys.

We know Hank and Dee Hartnek very well as Sassy, my rally dog, if from one of their breedings. I was really surprised to see today that she ranked 10th in 2013!!!! I hadn't realized.

ABC needs to promote Obedience/Agility/Rally Obedience as things that Britts love and can do. It may encourage more of those like my husband and I to continue being members of ABC.

DID YOU KNOW? Obedience and Agility entries are growing!

Comparing all-breed entries in American Kennel Club Competition from 2006 with 2013,

- Obedience entries are up 13% (122,251 in 2006 vs. 140,381 in 2013), and
- Agility is up 40% (745,852 in 2006 vs. 1,242,000 in 2013).

"How can you possibly see out of these windows?" Inquired my better half. She had just slid into the front seat of the vehicle that my three Brittanys regard as their exclusive domain.

The reader needs to know that before my wife entered the car, I had quickly brushed all the loose, feathery, white dog hair from the seat with my orange ball cap. I just knew Emma would not want it clinging to her coat and dress slacks.

I hoped she wouldn't notice the muddy paw prints on the seat, and as I brushed away the hair, I found myself wishing that I had a wet rag. No matter – she didn't mention them. But with her next statement I regretted that I hadn't used Windex to get rid of the smudges on the glass.

"I can't believe it!" she exclaimed. "This car has gone to the dogs, and I mean it literally. What filthy windows!"

With a bit of dry humor, I responded, "But dear, you know these are nose prints. See? This one in the top right-hand corner is Dewey's. And the one over there on the bottom, next to the side window, is Bear's. Oh, here's one of Herb's in the middle of the windshield."

My wife was unimpressed. "What the devil are you talking about? Those are nothing but dirty smudges from your dogs. You can't tell me you know which of those marks were made by which dog."

"Now wait a minute," I persisted. "A dog's nose – and especially a Brittany's nose – is just like a man's or woman's fingerprint. Each is different and has its own distinguishing characteristics. My Brittanys all have different nose prints."

"Rubbish!" said Emma. "You even have a smirk at the corner of your mouth. These are just filthy windows, and you're just making excuses for your dogs. You should have cleaned the glass before this."

Then we both laughed.

But that was the first and last time my wife rode in the "dog car." It was a good thing, because several weeks later, while I was discussing some business affairs in a local restaurant with my son, my Brittany Herb chewed the leather covering from part of the steering wheel. There was no sense in scolding him, the damage was already done. I had simply spent too much time talking to Dan, and Herb had become bored. Black electrician's tape did a repair job that was just fine for the dog car.

This past year, in November, we donated this marvelous automobile to the National Kidney Foundation. The transmission was making funny noises, as were the brakes. As the tow truck rumbled down our driveway. I am absolutely sure I saw Dewey's nose print illuminated by the sunlight on the front windshield. I allowed myself a moment of regret that the new Brittany pup, Addy, wouldn't have the chance to put her signature on the windows of the dog car.

HUNTS

I received the July copy of The American Brittany magazine Saturday for which I warmly thank you. It is a very impressive publication. Much time, effort & attention to detail are manifest. I have read a few articles all very interesting. I look forward to further enjoyment after which I'll lend it to Michael.

I have reviewed all black/white & color pictures which I had "digitalized" but, as I expected, I have no pictures of the Allamuchy days other than the one below, probably fall 1947. Our Fou of Mac Eocheidh is in the foreground with the line of car tail ends in the background, the front ends over looking the bird field on Ryan's Panther Ledge Farm where Jockey Hollow field trials took place. It is not much of a picture. I am enclosing it for your interest to do with it as you wish. The Ryan property as you may know, sports as of many years ago, a high end housing development & golf course.

Having been "weaned" on ruffed grouse in southern Ontario ("paht-ridge" in the local vernacular) I was very interested in Mr. John Eichinger's article on page 7. In the '30's there was almost an over abundance of grouse, particularly in the completely undeveloped expanse north east of Orillia at the north end of Lake Simcoe, extending possibly well over 100 miles in a northeasterly direction. At that time only narrow dirt roads & a total absence of civilization existed, with unlimited heavy cover -- truly ruffed grouse paradise. My wife & I had the opportunity to revisit the area in 2009. Many miles of paved roads & extensive housing developments now occupy that once magnificent grouse habitat. "Progress" has its negative side.

BARN HUNTS and BRITTANYS

"Old dogs can learn new tricks," both human and canine. We have recently taken up a new sport with our Brittanys. It's called Barn Hunt. Two of our dogs, Max (DC Sunquest's Marsport Manhattan, CD, RAE, SH, CGCA) and Chase (GCH, CH Sunquest Cimmaron Catch the Wind, MH) can now add the title RATN to their titles. They were the first two Brittanys to be recognized by AKC as having completed the requirements for their Novice Barn Hunt titles. Max needs one additional leg for the next level, Barn Hunt Open known as the RATO and Chase needs two more legs. Both earned multiple placements, including first places, along the way to their titles and most importantly, they both had a great time!

The following are some excerpts from the Barn Hunt Association, LLC website and are used with their permission:

For years, informal barn hunts have been done in conjunction with earth-dog events and terrier fun days, using various rules, and as something to enjoy with no pressure on handler or dog. But these informal events have never been a sanctioned sport. The Barn Hunt Association, LLC has created a sanctioned sport honoring the traditional role of "rat-catchers" in ridding barns and properties of vermin. Barn Hunt opens this fun sport up to any dog, of (almost) any size, type or breed. In Barn Hunt, you can earn titles and placements at levels from Instinct through Master, and even Championships and beyond.

A Barn Hunt is a timed event with 3 different height sizes. Teams, dog and handler, can get titles, placements, and championships. Barn Hunt events may be held indoors or outdoors, in almost any area as long as the ring can be securely fenced. In Barn Hunt, dogs locate rats (safely enclosed in aerated tubes) hidden in a straw/hay bale maze. The tubes are built to be tough enough for dogs to be unable to crush or even get a tooth into.

Barn Hunt sport is meant to emulate real life skills. Dogs who are unwilling to go into small dark places or climb up bales will not be effective ratters. The willingness to encounter and conquer adversity in pursuit of the "prey," (in this case not really since rats are not harmed) is an important breed instinct trait for many breeds. For non-vermin hunting breeds it demonstrates confidence and drive. All dogs must be registered with Barn Hunt Association, LLC to be able to compete in Barn Hunt trials. You do not, however, have to register your dog to compete in a fun test or training clinic. Currently the registration fee is $26 per dog, which covers infrastructure and title recording for the lifetime of the dog. It is a one-time fee.

Barn Hunt is an independent organization. Your dog does not need to be registered with AKC. However, if you have an AKC registered dog and would like Barn Hunt titles listed on your AKC pedigree, you can do so. On February 19, 2013, an announcement was made from the American Kennel Club (AKC) and the Barn Hunt Association LLC (BHA). In it, the AKC announced that they will recognize and record Barn Hunt titles on AKC pedigrees. AKC will charge a nominal fee for this service, and it is optional. The Barn Hunt Association is also working in cooperation with the UKC and as of January 1, 2014 Barn Hunt titles are also recognized by the UKC.

We've have a great time at Barn Hunts. If you are interested in finding out more about Barn Hunts or are interested in participating, check with the Barn Hunt Association website HYPERLINK "http://barnhunt.com" http://barnhunt.com for clubs putting on Barn Hunts near you.

UPDATE: As of June 15th, Max is the first and currently the only Brittany to earn an Open Barn Hunt Title. He can now add RATO to his titles.

Steve Ralph

I have been involved with hunting dogs since I was 8 years old, growing up with labs that we trained for Duck and Pheasant hunting in Minnesota. In 1980 I bought my 19rst pointing dog, a Brittany that I trained for Grouse and Pheasant hunting. Since then I've hunted nearly every game bird available with my dogs in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Nebraska, South Dakota and Iowa. Wanting to do more with my dogs, I attended my 19rst 19eld trial, placed 2nd in a Derby stake and the hook was set.

My wife Lori and I travel to ②eld trials across the country where we campaign our Brittanys in All Age, Gun Dog and juvenile stakes. Our dogs have won and placed in hundreds of AKC and American Field stakes throughout the years, including the ABC Futurity, ABC National All Age Championships, ABC Chicken Classic, ABC Pheasant Classic, ABC Quail Classic, and other Championships, Classics and hour stakes.

We have had some good dog's over the years with the most notable being 6xCh/FC/AFC Smarteyes-Joker with 30 All-Age Hour Placements, his son 5xCh/FC/AFC Joker's Jackpot with 15 All-Age Hour Placements and 2012 Purina All Age Brittany of the Year Award winner, and FC/AFC Tally-O On The Go.

I am active in our local St. Croix Valley & Minnesota Brittany Clubs, having held various officer positions since 1993 and served as the Field Trial Chairman since 1996. I am also active at the National level with the American Brittany Club, as an ABC Director (2011-present), the ABC National All Age Field Trial Secretary (2005-present), ABC Purina All Age Award Statistician (2004-present), ABC National Dates Chairman (2012-present), ABC Webmaster (2003-present), and the Brittany Field Trial Hall of Fame Webmaster (2010-present).

Over the years I've judged just about every pointing breed in many American Field and AKC Peld trials all across the country. Some of the championships I've been selected to judge include the Trail City GSP Sharptail Championship (1998), West Coast Brittany All Age Classic (2000), Twin Cities GWP Open Shooting Dog Classic (2002), Gordon Setter National Championship (2002 & 2004), German Wirehaired Pointer National Championship (2005), North Country Shooting Dog Championship (2006), Region 19 Amateur Shooting Dog Championship (2008), International Brittany Shooting Dog Championship (2009 & 2011), Prairie State Brittany Shooting Dog Championship (2010), and the Region 19 Amateur All Age Championship (2013).

I am honored to have been selected to judge the ABC National Amateur Gun Dog Championship and look forward to watching many championship performances.

Diane Vater

My life with dogs began in the mid 80's with obedience Cocker Spaniels. I got my Prst pointing breed (a Weimaraner), and began Peld trialing. I turned pro in 1996. I started in Weims but no train all pointing breeds. Since turning pro, with the help of my husband Chuck, I have Pnished over 50 Field Championships and won 14 National Open Championships (10 Weim and 4 Vizsla). Our customers have won 8 National Amateur Championships ships with dogs that we trained (7 weim and 1 Vizsla).

Chuck and I travel from coast to coast, training and trialing with a large string and 6 horses. I am truly living my dream.

In addition to judging numerous local trials, I have judged the following regional and national championships. VCA National Amateur Championship; GWPCA National Amateur Championship; GWPCA National Open Championship; NGSPA National Amateur Shooting Dog Championship; Inez Smith Amateur Invitational; NGSPA Region 4 Amateur Shooting Dog Championship; NGSPA Regional 12 All Age and ASD Championship; Great Lakes ASD Championship.

I am honored to be asked to judge and look forward to watching some good dogs.

2014 National Open Gun Dog Championship Judges

Larry Meek

I acquired my first bird dog in 69. She was an Irish Setter about a year old. She was short on style but was a strong bird dog. After raising a litter from her I kept a female I called Dawn. Ed Stowell and Henry Taylor took her to Illinois and ran her in a puppy stake. That was the most costly third place trophy. I became a member of the Santa Caligon Irish Setter Club of Kansas City, Mo. At that time we were putting on 5 trials a year on the James A. Reed Wildlife Area. Four of them were just weekenders, but the other one was called the Mo. Shooting Dog Classic. The classic was ran for 7 years before we could call it a Championship. It was ran for 30 years by the Irish Club. I was the last club member for the last three years, so at the end of the 30th year I turned it over to a trailer from Springfield, Mo. I am now in my second run as president of Mo. state field trial assoc., which I think is around 8 years.

I have judged several open and amateur championships over these forty some years. Over these years I have had several good trial dogs. Some of these were ran in Championships but didn't make the grade to be called champion. I have gone north with Gordon Hazelwood off and on for more years than I can count.

My interest for the last few years has been with my grandkids and them showing horses.

I am looking forward to judging your trial with David Taylor whom I have know for many years.

David Taylor

David Taylor of Neola, Iowa is a retired coach and educator who has been active in field trialing since the early 1970s.

David and wife Marilyn have been married for 52 years and have four children, eight grandchildren, and seven great grandchildren.

Ringafire Kennels has produced four National Amateur Champions. Three of those champions were products of the Taylor's All Age Champion Ringafire's Rhythm. Two time Runner Up Champion Ringafire's Nemaha Buddy qualified for and was called back for the finals of the National Amateur Shooting Dog Invitational. One of the Taylor's current champions, FC AFC NAFC Ringafire's Sweetwater, was runner up in the American Pointer National Amateur Championship in 2010 and was National Amateur Champion in 2012. FC Ringafire's Eclipse, placed fourth in the AKC National Gun Dog Championship in 2013 and was named best of breed.

David has judged the National Amateur Pheasant Shooting Dog Championship and the National Amateur Chucker Championship. It has been David's privilege to judge eight AKC breed championships and the AKC National Gundog Championship in Grand Junction. Judging the Hobart Ames Field Trial on the Ames Plantation and the Manitoba Championship on the celebrated grounds at Broomhill were special experiences.

David was one of the original founders of Region Seventeen of the Amateur Field Trial Association and served as secretary and president of that organization. He has served as a board member of Region Seventeen since it was founded in 1985. David served as president of the Midwest Field Trial Association and he and Marilyn are currently serving as secretary/treasurer.

Field trialing, reporting, and judging have allowed the Taylor's to travel throughout the United States and Canada. During these travels David has judged over 50 championships and the Taylor's have made many special friendships that they treasure.

It is an honor to be invited to judge the National Brittany Gun Dog Championship.

Jim and Janet

The dogs were their children, the American Brittany Club their extended family, and when mentioning the Brittany Field Trial Hall of Fame... they beamed like proud grandparents. You would be hard pressed to find a husband and wife team more dedicated, passionate, and philanthropic to the Brittany community than Jim and Janet Chase. Their actions and accomplishments in the sport for over 40 years made them individually first ballot Brittany Field Trial Hall of Fame members, but if you had the pleasure of knowing

A CPA in the Deerfield, IL firm of Veatch, Rich, and Nadler, Janet served as treasurer for the American Brittany Club from 1988 until 2011. She was elected to the ABC Hall of Fame in 2002. I found her to be intrinsically ethical, insightful, and delightful. Her "school-girl" personality was infective. I've stood in the haul road of the Pyramid trial grounds in miserable cold weather and after a conversation with Janet, be absolutely convinced what a blessing it was to be there. Janet was an executive, counselor, baby sitter, road guard, field trial secretary or anything else required to conduct an event. After 40 years, her excited manner of execution might lead one to believe it was her first field trial. She arrived early, stayed late, and your day

Based in Chicago's famed Union Station, Jim Chase was a tall, lanky, railroad operations engineer. Once he took a job or adopted a cause.... step back, things were going to start happening. There were no barriers in his "get it done" world, it was just a matter of time, effort, and money.....Jim was generous on each front. As a Director for the Brittany Field Trial Hall of Fame and National Bird Dog Foundation, he leveled the cross-hairs on creating a wing in Grand Junction TN for his breed, it was no longer a matter of "if", just "when". In his effort to kick-start the giving program, he offered to match all donations. Yet if you went to the February Illinois trial, he'd be on his ATV in an insulated suit Sasquatch would envy planting birds

With a lifetime of owning many great competitors, most notably Hall of Fame and foundation sire Rimarda's Trademark, they continually drew new members to ABC and were genuinely happy when others won. They created the Illinois Paw Paw trial as a fun event bringing new faces to the game while raising money to support the American Field Championships. I've seen them in the Sandhills of Nebraska driving the dog wagon, opening and closing gate after gate, day after day in the September Chicken Championship heat. One year at the Gun Dog Nationals, they were on opposite sides of the rooms visiting friends when the auction began. I happened to be sitting near Janet and up for bid was a donated FBI ball-cap. She leaned over with a twinkle in her eye and whispered, "I'm going to buy that cap". So the bidding begins and it quickly gets to $200 and I'm thinking surely Janet is going to stop...but no, she gets it bought at $300 only to find out she was bidding against Jim the entire time. She giggled like a teenager for the next hour as Jim rung his hands over the price paid. Over lunch one day at the All Age Nationals, Janet was describing all the features of their new living quarter horse trailer. She was particularly happy with the kitchen and stove features. Chad Holman overheard her and laughed aloud mentioning he'd never seen her cook anything....she lit up like a Christmas tree and retorted "that's right Chad...but you never know, I might start!" If Jim had not been successful in the railroad business, many would agree his future may have been in the salvage business. Jim was rather legendary for all the ingenious ways he found for destroying some of his, or possibly your, possessions. He'd managed to sink boats in Idaho rivers, drive tractors into ponds, and if he was ever backing his horse trailer at the trial grounds, you'd best be around for filling out the insurance form or, at least, serve as an eye witness. I often reminded Jim, he was the only person I'd ever seen who

The American Brittany Club lost two legacy members in 2012 with Jim passing from an April stroke and Janet losing her battle with a brain tumor in October. Yet to this day, they continue to inspire us all.

On July 22, 2014, Dick Pulliam drove to the National Field Trial Hall of Fame in Grand Junction, TN and delivered a $100,000 check for the Brittany Endowment Fund. In possibly their final gift, Jim and Janet earmarked the funds from the sale of their estate for our breed, our history, and our future.

"At the junction of the Memphis and Charleston Railroad line in southwest Tennessee lies hallowed ground....... a place of memorable events, people, and bird dogs. A place that honors excellence, sportsmanship, and commitment. A place for those notable few, that richly deserve a place in history."

Every breed needs visionaries....
The American Brittany was truly blessed to have Jim and Janet Chase.

Eastern Futurity Field Events

Sara Conyngham, Reporter

The American Brittany Club's Eastern Regional Futurity Field Trial was held at Flaherty Field Trial Area in East Windsor, Connecticut. These events were hosted by the Northern New England and Southern New England Brittany Clubs. Always the case, the pleasant quality of the day belied the efforts to prepare for it with the work of Bob Fleury, Rita and John Poland, Henry Wierzbicki, Mike Blondin, and Ray Gorman. Bird planting, food preparation, trouble shooting, and countless other efforts were also their responsibilities, as well as their partners'. Many other members of the field trial community were on hand and willing to lend one to see the day through and make it more pleasant for everyone. As in the past, Purina generously provided support and the enviable prizes of their ProPlan Performance dog food, which fuels many of the most successful dogs as well as the hopefuls. Additionally, few will forget the aspect of Flaherty in the springtime, managed beautifully and effectively by the State of Connecticut and a devoted group of Flaherty's volunteers, organized by Rich Murphy. This was truly a team effort and an example of the endangered art of cooperation.

As a group of competitors, we were fortunate to have two great judges on hand who have extensive experience in judging and being judged. John Stolgitis of Ashaway, Rhode Island, and Elias Richardson of Uxbridge, Massachusetts, offered their time and expertise to judge the particular commodity of potential, often thought to be the most difficult criteria on which to judge a dog. Their selections were well received.

Gun Dog Futurity

At 10:45am, we enjoyed clear skies and a wind out of the west for the American Brittany Club's Eastern Regional Gun Dog Futurity. Our judges, John Stolgitis and Elias Richardson.

BRACE 1: First out of the gates were WILD MOUNTAIN'S 2ND AMENDMENT (BEN) WITH MELODY ROTTMAN AND AMMO-SIGBRIT NITRO'S TRIPLE THREAT JH (TRIP) WITH BOBBIE SIGMUND. The dogs looked the course over, started to head out, and then regained a kindlier contact with their handlers. The first find of the stake was Trip's at 5 with an enthusiastic point and chase. Shots fired, the fun was on with a divided find (13) on the Tobacco Barn Field hill, Trip growing operatic in his pursuit of the birds. Again, shots were well tolerated by the dogs. Ben did not have far to go with his next find (15). He demonstrated exemplary staunchness as his handler flushed and collared him away. At the bottom of the course near the stream crossing, a rose bush held birds as indicated by the dogs (18) Ben again pointing. The dogs were soon under the birds and shots rang out. Ben and Trip were on ahead full for the clubhouse turn with a bird on the right just before the road leads to the clubhouse, both handlers firing. Trip took his attractive race to the right as the course turned to the left, requiring a little guidance as the brace came to a close.

BRACE 2: THE SECOND BRACE SAW CH LABYRINTH N ILLUSION KISS MY BENELLI JH (BENELLI) HANDLED BY JAMIE MORGAN AND MR P'S LITTLE TWINK (LT) WITH JOHN POLAND. LT's first find occurred after the culvert in the perpendicular tree line to the right of the road. Pointing and chasing, and propelled by the sound of the shot, LT gave chase. Brought back to the fold by John, LT moved ahead and as he did, Benelli joined him at a rose bush at the base of the Tobacco Barn field for a nearly broke find (17). Both dogs exhibited good pointing style. Benelli made an attractive cast out to the right edge of the field. returning to the left side of the field to check the cover there. LT was independent and forward, heading for the next cover. At 24, Benelli pointed in the draw's edge in the big field at the clubhouse. All in derby order, she continued on, having been joined by LT who had been working well at a distance ahead but suspected he was missing something. LT finished with drive to spare.

BRACE 3: At noon the 3rd brace waited for the whistle. Rick Neff stood by CIMMARON TRAILS LITTLE MISS ANNIE (ANNIE), AND LINDA OUELLETTE SQUIRED LABYRINTH N ILLUSION POLO'S GEORGIE GIRL (GEORGIA). Georgia had an early taste of game at 6, pointing closely and yielding to temptation, handler firing. At 7, Annie had a find with a quick, attractive pointing style in the tree line at the first rise to the Tobacco Barn field. Shots ended her discipline, while across the opening, Georgia sagely worked scent in the unwelcoming roses. Annie began to work closely while Georgia's race picked up intensity, following lines and edging part of the right side of the field. Annie was rewarded with a find at the top of the field on the left side (14), and completed that to find a bit of edge on the way down the other side. Georgia's ground speed quickly carried her down part of the edge, then into the scent of birds at the rose bush in the lower section. Annie came in and pointed, Georgia establishing herself beautifully a short time later. Birds were flushed and guns fired. Annie later retrieved a bird after working and pointing it at the field's bottom edge. At 22 at the Clubhouse turn, Annie had a staunch find and attracted her bracemate, who came in to point. Shots were fired and the dogs went on happily, Annie with her modest race, and Georgia with her comparatively aggressive application. At 25, Georgia's find came in the draw on the far side of the clubhouse turn. Marking the flight, she had her bird.

BRACE 4: The 4th brace gave us CH RIVERMIST BROXDEN MAKE MYNAH DOUBLE JH (DANIEL) WITH CLIFF PENNELL AND BREE'S NORTHERN GUNN SADIE (SADIE) WITH LEONARD SINCLAIR. Daniel had a particularly attractive aspect as we begin. His was the first find in the perpendicular tree line after the culvert, in acceptable derby style. Sadie had a deliberate race, coming to an intense point in the cover on the left as we approached the hill. Her manners were honest and exemplary as her handler flushed and fired, her only youthful transgression being a slight pop before regaining her composure. Few would accomplish her forbearance. Daniel broke out with some big swings in the field before moderating at the cover. Sadie looked as if she might have picked up something in her foot or leg until the bottom of the downhill slope of the big fields. Daniel lit into the rose bush on scent, pointing before quickly routing the bird. Sadie hunted the covers at the turn with a moderate pace, but took the edge of the clubhouse field smoothly and well. She finished with a find after time.

BRACE 5: At 1:45pm for the 5th brace, an interesting duo delivered us from our digesting. MIKE BLONDIN BROUGHT GREEN MOUNTAIN LOUIE GUNN (LOUIE) AND STEVE PENTA HAD SHORT TAIL'S STARRY MIDNIGHT (MEADOW). The interesting bit was that they were littermates. Good ground speed and a forward race described both dogs as we began. The first reputable cover on the right after the culvert drew both dogs' interest at 6, Louie having a nonproductive, circling, pointing again while Meadow orbited a few times then aborting. At 7 on the left Meadow pointed and then was under the bird with shots fired. Louie appeared to be backing. Handlers were able to recover their charges to the front. As the dogs worked, Meadow's upward physical carriage added to her attractive running style. Louie's pointed at the top of the hill, but the bird flew without encouragement. Meadow came in to get a piece of the action or to back, but quickly moved on afterward. Louie cruised ahead, coming to a point at 14, and again, Meadow came in and ran around Louie. The bird flew and shots were fired. Both dogs came together again at the favored rose bush on the downhill slope. Louie stood on point as Meadow did not, though this time no birds were produced. Louie crossed the culvert and went uphill to the left of the road, pointing at an unlikely spot on bare ground before the trees. His faithful handler dismounted and flushed unsuccessfully, but his dog proved him wrong, the bird having walked farther uphill. Mike fired while Louie gave chase with his bracemate; Meadow stayed with the scent while Mike gathered Louie and moved on. Meadow reserved some spark for this end of the race and pointed in the draw at the clubhouse turn. She relocated and put her bird in flight while the handler fired. Louie had used his nose and his bracemate was all motion. They made a good package.

BRACE 6: The winds were building at 2:16pm for brace 6. Brookwood's Starlite Starbrite (Gem) was stationed at the break away with handler Tom Bass while CH Rivermist Broxden Best I Feather Seen (Macy) waited with Cliff Pennell. I had my suspicions that Gem had a bird that she was not telling us about as evidenced by the sudden speed and animation she displayed early on and through much of her brace. Such were the freedoms of youth. Macy handled at a rate and range that were considerate of her handler and bracemate as we made our way around the course in the dry and windy portion of the day. At 12 Gem had a brief point on the top of the Tobacco Barn hill as did his bracemate, Macy. Their time together was cooperative with one another and their handlers.

BRACE 7: The 7th brace broke way at 2:50 with GREEN MOUNTAIN RUSTY GUNN (RUSTY) HANDLED BY MIKE BLONDIN, AND AMMO'S SOUTHERN BOOGIE (BOOGIE) HANDLED BY SANDRA LEAVENS. Boogie moved forward with a nice pattern as Rusty looked the course over. At 7, having crossed the first culvert, both dogs were into birds after a slight point. At 9 the dogs were again rewarded, Boogie with style, as the two pointed and chased their second find. Neither dog seemed to relish the downward slope of the hill, and had to wait until the clubhouse turn for the next find at 21. The dogs stood for this one while handlers flushed and shot. At 22, Boogie's more forward race brought a find in the open field, marking, chasing, and ignoring the shot in good derby form.

BRACE 8: KINWASHKLY J D'S SUPER HERO (COOPER), UNDER THE MANAGEMENT OF JEFF CURRIER, AND CH BREEZEWATER GONE WITH THE WIND (MELANIE) WITH LISA TAILBY comprised the 8th brace. Melanie made an instinctive cast along the edge of an opening that no other dog had explored and came to the front as the course went left over the culvert. Cooper was all about speed and race from the beginning, taking edges and coming back in to check with the handler. At 14 in the Tobacco Barn field, Cooper was seen pointing, but without great style. Seconds later, a dead bird was taken up, explaining the dog's reserve. Melanie had come in for a look, but was not impressed enough to point. They joined one another after the shot, Cooper finding the front for a find at 15, at the very end of the crowning tree line. Cooper pointed again. This time Melanie was seen under a bird as she crossed the field. Currier fired for Cooper and moved on with his dog. Point was called on the downhill side of the field in the farthest corner. By the time judges arrived, they didn't see a bird and the dog had moved into the cover to find its mark. Failing in that, progress was made down the field.

Melanie and Cooper took the edge and worked the woods and cover on the way to the clubhouse, Melanie checking in with her handler. At 18, Cooper scored again, pointing well and chasing, never acknowledging the shot. Melanie recognized the same scent as Cooper's find but didn't loiter. Both dogs streamed along the clubhouse's field with Cooper in the lead, and penetrated the cover over the near horizon. Melanie was the first to reappear, followed by Cooper to finish the course.

BRACE 9: At 3:45pm the wind was impolitely unending as the bye dog, CIMMARON TRAILS SWEET SOPHIE DEL PRADO (SOPHIE) WITH RICK NEFF AS HER HANDLER came forward. She started with a springy, forward race, taking a well calculated cast at the culvert. The trees to the left at the bottom of the hill held promise for her. As she worked the scent, a bird emerged, and she knew what to look for. She checked cover and ran well, but the wind, arid afternoon, and lack of a bracemate worked against her. At 19 she hit pay dirt on the hill before the clubhouse. Pointing, chasing, and firing were all in order as we went on. She finished the course and the stake with attentiveness and desire to please her handler.

All-Age Futurity:

BRACE 1: RED LACE LA BELLE (LACY) WAS AT THE READY WITH LEROY LONG, AND POLO'S LIKE A ROLLING STONE (DYLAN) awaited Linda Ouellette's command. The day was clear and cool with recent rains hanging in the air at 7:59am. Flaherty had been well used that week, and its wet areas were wide and debilitating for all the young dogs. As Dylan and Lacy moved up the grades to the pines left of the power lines, they swung into an inviting path and onward far to the right where the first culvert traverses a water course. Getting the youngsters back took some doing, Lacy being the first to return. Continuing to the islands of trees to the right of the road well past the pond, Lacy pointed her first birds (7) and put them in flight. Dylan, who had been working some trees deeper to the right, was quick to catch on to the activity. His birds were smart to take flight, and all was gun shots, handlers' shouts, birds in flight, and dogs in action.

Handlers reoriented their young charges, Dylan moving into the trees as the course turned left. He cleared the trees to penetrate the open field, thought better of it and returned to the cover behind. Unable to change his mind, Ouellette called for the tracker at 13.

Lacy had taken the edge then came willingly with her handler to the left with the course. She finished her brace with another find and with a willing attentiveness to her handler.

BRACE 2: CH DIAMOND HILL DANGEROUS WEAPON (STUART) ran as a bye in the second brace with Lisa Pollack. He navigated through the mud before strengthening his race toward Dearborn. Pollack was able to bring him to the front, and he took the edge after the stream like a candidate. Songbirds dipped and rocketed at the top of the hill in response to his attentions. Those swallows had him stretched out, but he had plenty of focus for the usual covers behind the pond. He pointed at the treed islands to the right of the road (7), where he didn't come up with the goods until a moment later when he froze again (8). Stuart advanced, shots were fired, and Stuart was off until he retrieved the prize to his handler. Guided to the front. Stuart was off to Dearborn, taking an edge there and handling the turn for a find at 21. The birds walked off, and that was too much for the young man. Shots were fired and Stuart was off again. Stuart had had a few moments that bespoke his age or the challenges of the course at Flaherty, but then found more scent (27), this time for a point and a non-productive at the same location as bird work earlier in the week.

BRACE 3: POLO'S UNA MAS (UNA) WITH LINDA OUELLETTE AND SIX RIDGE DANGEROUS TWISTER (MAX) WITH LISA POLLACK were readied for the third brace. Max took off like a mature dog while Una momentarily consulted her handler before taking on the course. Max powered up to the power poles' edge before handling back to the course and the Una took the lead on the next edge. Max has a find at 8 in the treed islands, all in acceptable derby style. Una and Max both had retrieves before their handlers could liberate their charges from the excitement. At 13 Max staunchly pointed a bird stranded in the open as he started across the large field to the left of the treed corner and another find at 15. Una and Max made their way to Dearborn, handling the edge admirably, and then making their way to the course's turn with the handlers' summons. Each was attentive to its handler at pick up.

BRACE 4: IN THE LAST BRACE, CH TRIUMPHANT'S COUNTRY GIRL SHAKE IT 4 ME (JINGER) LEFT THE BREAK AWAY AND HER HANDLER, BOBBIE SIGMUND, for parts unknown with animation and her head held high. She flew through the course without a brace mate's support, eager to find the front. At 9 in the far off clumped trees of the open field below the break away, she had her find. Unfortunately, her pointing style was unobservable in its brevity. Shots were fired and Jinger again took to the front for the remainder of the brace and the conclusion of the stake.

Announcing the 2014

ABC National Championship Judges

Ken Chenoweth

My passion for bird dogs started back in 1974 when I purchased my first German Shorthaired Pointer. By the early 80s I was training a few dogs for the public and by the mid 80s I had judged some of the local trials.

As my passion and experience grew I began to accept more and more judging assignments. Since that time I have had the fortune of judging several National events for the German Shorthair Pointer National Championship, Gordon Setter National Championship, Irish Setter National Championship, Vizsla Club of America National Championship, Red Setter National Championship, German Wirehair Pointer National Championship, and the American Brittany Club (All Age & Gun Dog) National Championship. I have also judged many regional championships including the Rocky Mountain Championship, Missouri Open Shooting Dog Championship, Hawkeye Shooting Dog Championship, and Missouri Amateur Shooting Dog Classic. I have also had the fortune of judging several Brittany Championships like the Prairie States Championship and Iowa Gun Dog Classic.

Besides being busy spending time in the saddle judging, I have had the opportunity of finishing several Field Champions, Amateur Champions, and Regional Champions.

I am looking forward to watching fine All-Age dogs from across the country at the American Brittany Club National Championship.

Skip Wonnell

I live on 80 acres in eastern Kansas with my wife Laurie, several Vizslas, and a few horses. I'm a native Kansan and have hunted quail and pheasant around the state for most of my life.

I started competing in trials and shows with my dogs in the late 90s. My wife and I have the pleasure of owning and training several Vizslas that excel in the field as well as in the show ring. We've finished two duals and several bench champions.

I have had the honor of judging several championships including the Prairie States Championship, Hawkeye Shooting Dog Championship, ABC Pheasant Championship and International Championship. I've also judged the ABC Central All-Age Futurity, some local AF trials, a fair number of AKC weekend stakes, and will judge at the GSCA NFT this year. I look for the total performance package – application, style, and intensity, something I would enjoy hunting behind.

I support our sport in many ways. I'm a member of the Vizsla Club of America as well as several local clubs. My wife and I have run dozens of trials, served on National Committees and handled just about all jobs related to field trials. I also provide an online database of field trial results.

I'm honored to be asked to judge at the ABC National Championship and look forward to seeing great dogs compete.

ABC National Amateur Championship Judges

Wade Haines

I am retired from AT&T Technologies. My wife Josephine and I have been married sixty two years. We have four children and grandchildren.

I purchased my first bird dog in 1965 and trained it myself for a hunting dog. I acquired my first Brittany in 1972 and was introduced to field trialing. I finished my first field champion in 1977. I was then asked to judge field trials for local regional clubs. Since then I have judged all the different stakes in many trials in the East, East Central, Central and Midwest regions.

Classics and Championships I have judged are: ABC National Amateur Championship (2013); ABC Chicken Classic; Michigan Brittany Open All Age Championship (twice); Gordon Setter Amateur Nationals; Irish Setter Nationals; Prairie State Brittany Open Shooting Dog Championship (twice); Oliver De Luca Open Shooting Dog Classic – Pointers and Setters (twice); ABC National Gun Dog Championship (1990, 1991, 1998, 1999); Mid-South Brittany Open All Age Championship; ABC Gun Dog Championship (2008, 2009); Pennsylvania Brittany Open Shooting Dog Championship (twice); Region 4 Brittany Amateur All Age Championship.

I have owned and campaigned six AKC field champions, two of which were American Field Champions with multiple wins and runner ups, open and amateur. I have competed in many American Field Championships, and many times in the ABC Open and Amateur National Championships.

I feel honored to be asked to judge the ABC National Amateur Championship.

Stan Noble

I have placed dogs in 8 nationals (Irish and English Setters) and won the Irish Setter National Amateur Championship in 2006. I have finished four dogs as AKC Field Champions and have had two dogs finish as the breed "Dog of the Year" based on number of dogs defeated (Irish Setters).

I have judged two national championships- Vizsla (2006) and Gordon Setters (2008), and multiple regional championships with most recent being - Continental Breed Southeast Regional and Prairie State Brittany Regional championships both held in 2014.

I am currently scheduled to judge the AKC Pointer Amateur championship in October 2014 at Branched Oaks.

I have judged over 60 AKC and American Field stakes beginning in 1998.

I look forward to judging the American Brittany Club National Amateur Championship.

A SPORTSMAN'S RAMBLINGS

by Marty Garrell

10/13/05 North Fork Outdoors/ST/Marty

One of the worst moments any canine owner ever faces comes when he or she realizes that a dog has gone missing. Whether this has to do with a door left ajar, an unsecured kennel, or a bad experience in the field, the sinking feeling in the pit of your stomach is always the same.

We're not talking here about a pet left to roam the neighborhood and get into trouble as it inevitably does (a no-no both ethically and legally in places like the North Fork where leash laws are explicit). However, the refugees fleeing the New Orleans area in the botched Hurricane Katrina evacuation who were forced to leave their animals behind (by inhumane and incredibly stupid rescue personnel!) can certainly relate to such moments.

Sometimes all's well that ends well. When we lived in Mattituck on the edge of what was then open land in "Tuttletown", we often had pets come through our back yard north of the Main Road, and we generally found their relieved owners pretty quickly. Sometimes there's tragedy, too. We remember good friends who left sporting dogs with "house-sitters" who failed to secure doors. Upon returning, they were absolutely devastated to learn that their beloved dogs had escaped and gotten killed by highway and byway traffic. You never quite get over such things.

It helps to have dogs that are thoroughly trained to stop and come on commands like "Whoa" and "Here". This won't always work, however, when sudden distractions appear and the dog is so far away that you cannot enforce the command. Beagles and many other hounds are notorious for their headstrong behavior when trailing rabbits or larger game, which is why East End veterinarians and pet shelters are always seeing strays. This used to be even more common when there were enough open lands and farms for local hunters to pursue cottontails during the Suffolk small game season. We loved to chase rabbits with the Cheshires and the Cardinals back in Calverton, and it was always an adventure to pick up their beagles at day's end, especially if the pack was tracking a hot scent. If you couldn't kill the rabbit, you had to get into the rabbit track before the dogs got past. Then, with a firm command, the dogs would stop so that you could carry them back to their crates.

Even when discouraged (through electronic training collars) most dogs will pursue deer that jump up in front of them. Again, we're not talking about loose packs of dogs that chase deer and have no business being in the fields and woodlots, but of individual field dogs working with hunters or trainers.

By the time the dogs lose the deer, as they always do, they are miles and miles away and thoroughly lost. Just last weekend, at a trial near Gettysburg, one of our Brittanys started a deer and disappeared from the field trial area. Although Bandit was wearing a tracking collar (usually effective for locating dogs inside of a 12-mile radius) the hilly terrain caused the signal to fade out, and we had to scour the nearby roads. Our trainer guessed the general location where the dog might go, so we began to circle the grounds, looking for fields and driveways where the dog might pop up. Luckily, two miles away and off a state highway, we found a long driveway that led to a house whose owner had seen the dog wander through. Moments later, the dog came trotting up the driveway, hot and tired in the 80-degree heat.

You must be lucky, of course, to recover a lost dog, but there are certain guidelines. Many dogs will eventually return to the spot where you last saw them, even if it takes many hours, so someone in the search party should either stay in that area and keep calling or leave a garment or blanket with "people scent" on it, then return to the spot periodically. By circling the area with vehicles, starting close by, you can sometimes find the dog when it pops out of the fields or woods and before it crosses too many major thoroughfares. Thinking positively helps a lot; dogs can and do cross major roads safely. Every dog ought to be wearing a collar with a brass plate bearing the trainer's or the owner's address and phone number, and valuable show and field dogs usually have subcutaneous implants that any vet can locate.

If hours turn into days, and you've knocked on all the doors in the immediate area, calls to local shelters and posters for local vets or stores may produce positive results. In suburbs like ours such positive results usually come pretty quickly. A pet gone missing is an awful experience, but there's usually a happy reunion at the end.

HEART OF ILLINOIS

Bloomington, IL May 25, 2014

The Heart of Illinois Brittany Club had their specialty show in conjunction with the all-breed dog show sponsored by the Illinois Valley Kennel Club of Peoria, IL. This was part of the four day Heart of Illinois Cluster Dog Shows. I want to thank the show committee of the Illinois Valley Kennel Club for their hard work and supplying the ring stewards for the specialty. Another thank you goes to the Brittany exhibitors for supporting our specialty with their entries.

CENTRAL MAINE

Cumberland Fairgrounds Cumberland, ME June 21, 2014

The 2014 Central Maine Brittany Club Designated Specialty Show was once again held at the fairgrounds in Cumberland, Maine. As part of Maine's Chickadee Classic four day cluster our Brittany entries remained consistent over the weekend for a four point major in bitches on Saturday and Sunday.

Saturday morning started with complimentary snacks and beverages set up in a grooming area reserved exclusively for Brittany exhibitors. This set up is so convenient. It is directly across from our usual "Ring 4" just steps away and includes free electricity and nearby water hookup. A spacious hospitality area with tables and chairs was set up under the big CMBC tent for exhibitors to visit and relax and enjoy the complimentary sandwich bar. Another tent was set up with several tables full of promotional items and raffle prizes. Once again we were given a generous and expansive parking area just for Brittany exhibitors lending to a true sense of community.

I tried listing each individual who helped in some way to make this year's show a success but I did not want to take the chance to overlook anybody. Early in the year CMBC members began to send monetary donations to help offset the price of trophy prizes which were noted in the official catalogue. There were those who came to the show site to help with set up before the cluster began. On the day of the show itself, several members came to the show site early for the sole purpose of helping out. They arrived all ready to oversee and assist with preparation of our food and hospitality area, the annual raffle, donations of desert and salads, photography, trophy distribution and more. These folks are the ones who made themselves available to help wherever it was needed right up until the final chair was loaded back into the club trailer. Thank you a million times over. Your help was especially appreciated because as most folks around here know, I had a total knee replacement this spring. Although successful with pre-show tasks at home, when I landed at the show site several CMBC members were standing by to help bring them to completion. As anyone coordinating an event is well aware, every hand willing to help is so greatly appreciated.

With spectacular weather for the first day of summer in Maine our Sweepstakes entries were judged by Mr. Jay Kitchener from Ogunquit, Maine. A total of five lovely Brittanys were presented to him.

Our judge for regular classes was Mr. Roger Hartinger from Cincinnati, Ohio with an entry of 25 Brittanys. (A special note is made to say that thanks to Mr. Kitchener and Mr. Hartinger sevenyear-old Miss Alana Day had a very positive and enjoyable experience for her first time in the ring showing her grandparents' six-month-old puppy)!

It truly was an impressive line of Brittanys from the youngest and inexperienced to the well-seasoned show dog. The spectators sat ringside cheering and applauding as Mr. Hartinger put each class through the paces. CMBC club members were especially delighted to see Phil and Sherri Thayer's Birch Spring PC Lunar Eclipse JH finish her championship title by going Best of Winners at the hands of Joyce Coccia. This makes the lovely liver and white Luna CMBC's most recent show champion owned by members.

Fifteen-month-old Kinships Triumphant Pursuit made his breeder/owner/handler Kim Hatton very proud and happy. "Myles" not only won Best in Sweepstakes but went on to win Best Bred-By-Exhibitor, Winners Dog, Best of Winners for a four point major, and last but not least earned a Bred-By-Exhibitor Group 2 placement. Way to show!

As far as breed pride goes it's always exciting to see the Best of Breed Brittany go on to earn a Group placement at a Designated Specialty Show. Even more so when it wins Group 1. Such was the case in Maine this year and not only that, many of us gathered ringside and watch GCH Triumphants As Good As It Gets JH (Beckett) win an impressive Reserve Best In Show!

I've had the pleasure of serving CMBC as third Vice President of Shows for six years now. Four of these years our designated specialty has been held at the Cumberland Fairgrounds in Cumberland, Maine with Penobscot Valley Kennel Club as our host. Additionally, the Lewiston-Auburn Kennel Club has worked alongside of them to provide a positive experience for Brittany exhibitors. Having said this, it is our pleasure to confirm indeed that Central Maine Brittany Club will welcome the 2015 American Brittany Club Summer Specialty to the beautiful rocky coast of Maine where lighthouses and lobsters abound. Mark your calendars now for Maine's four day Chickadee Classic from June 18 through 21, 2015.

Respectfully Submitted, Ann H. Short

Part Three Generation to Generation

Brooks County Payback

Elmo Kelly's death was ideal—by his own oft' declared standard. His many friends remembered Elmo saying, not once buy many times, "All a man can ask from life is to die quick. without warnin'." Elmo died instantly when his favorite cutting horse threw him while shying from a wokeup rattler on April Fool's Day. Elmo's head collided with a rock, one of the few in Brooks County, Texas, where Elmo's pride and joy, the twentythousand-acre Hangeron Ranch, helped hold the earth together.

The Hangeron lay snug-up against a southern section of the King Ranch, just south of Falfurrias down Route 281. Elmo had won it in a poker game in New Orleans the night he got off the troopship that brought him home from four years of adventure with the U.S. Marines in the Pacific Theater. (Elmo disembarked with a Silver Star but as a private, busted from NCO status three times for indiscretions involving off-duty exuberance, not neglect of duty).

When Elmo expired on April Fool's Day, he left behind on the Hangeron scores of bobbing oil-well horseheads, a big herd of Santa Gertrudis, a hundred head of horses, and fifty bird dogs—new-whelped pups to pensioners. He left also his son and best friend Elmo, Jr., age forty-five, known to all as "Junior" (a name as common as Bill or John in Texas and much of the rural South). The last of Elmo's wives (number four...or was it number five?) had left the Hangeron ten years before, unable to adjust to the south Texas life style she described in her divorce deposition as "desolation...perspiration, snakes, cows, poker and hunting...for a civilized woman like me, pure desperation."

Elmo was a larger-than-life character in a country specializing in them. On first appearance the essence of a rough, tough Texan, but beneath the surface a bighearted soft touch. While oil and gas beneath the Hangeron's sand had sustained Elmo's "if I like you I'll invest with you" philosophy for years, on his death unscrupulous wheeler-dealers had overcome the Hangeron's mineral riches. Elmo died flat broke—in fact the mortgages on the Hangeron topped his assets by millions; his pal and lawyer, Ben Babb, had figured it out the week before his death. He and Elmo had been weighing the options—Chapters 13, 11 or 7 of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code—in the Hangeron's gun room while polishing off a six-pack of Lone Star.

"How could you have let me get in this shape, Ben?" Elmo asked. "Wasn't my fault, Elmo, and you know it. I advised you against every one of the deals that took you under. You're a mark, Elmo, easy pickin's for every deal seller, not just the Texas ones, though there's enough of them to break everybody on the Forbes 500 List if they suckered in like you. If somebody you befriend (that's your definition of a friend, Elmo) asks you to invest, you feel like you've got to or hurt their feelings."

"Well, maybe the price of oil will jump—that would bail me out," Elmo said, unwilling as always to face the reality of his finances.

According to his instructions, no funeral was held for Elmo; his remains went for medicalschool use. Also according to instructions, a small group of Elmo's local friends gathered at the Hangeron's big house for a barbecue to celebrate Elmo's passing three weeks after the fatal day. Ben Babb came the night before to help roast the steer. Also present for the vigil was Roy Green, Probate Judge for Brooks County, and in his youth a fellow Marine with Elmo.

CHRISTUNG 96

As Ben and the Judge stood beside the pit, occasionally shuffling positions to stay upwind of the smoke, the Judge asked, "How bad is it, Ben?"

"Pretty bad. He owed considerably more than the Hangeron and his other investments are worth. In fact the other investments are all worthless—every son-of-a-gun that's been down here quail hunting free sold Elmo something. If there were some way we could make those rotters pay back just a little of what they got from Elmo, there'd at least be a little left for Junior. He's put his whole life in this place—don't know nothing but punchin' cows and breakin' bird dogs. He's as goodhearted as his old man was and sure to be a victim of that goodness. Elmo's one good night of poker kept him afloat forty years, but Junior is going to be on his own with less than nothing... there is going to be a bunch of sad leeches come next quail season. That stream of slickers that Elmo took hunting every day from first of December 'till the end of February will be a long time finding another deal like being a friend of Elmo."

As the Judge contemplated the sad job that would be his—presiding over the liquidation in probate of the Hangeron—an idea came to him (later he could claim that it had been beamed down (or maybe up) by Elmo's ghost).

The friends from Brooks County rolled in the next afternoon for the barbecue. At first the mood was sad and subdued, but after awhile Elmo's spirit seem to drift in as one by one the guests recounted an Elmo anecdote, some example of outrageous kindness or generosity or both on the part of their recently departed friend. When the gathering finally broke up about midnight, Junior, who did not drink, served as designated driver for a dozen of the guests, taking them home in an old hunting vehicle, leading them in Bob Wills tunes that had been Elmo's favorites..."

Next day Ben and Judge Roy Green conferred in the Judge's chambers, a small dusty office smelling of stale cigar smoke at the back of the Brooks County Courthouse. The Judge told Ben of his idea to get Junior a grubstake from the Hangeron before its inevitable liquidation to satisfy Elmo's long list of creditors. Then the two men set about composing a letter for Junior's signature.

Elmo's will was then probated in Judge Green's court. It left all of his estate to Junior, with Ben Babb's as the executor, but alas it was an empty gesture, for even in south Texas, the claims of creditors outranked those of a devisee. Judge Green entered an order leasing the Hangeron to Junior for a year for a dollar and his care-taking services during probate. Then the letters went out. The names of the addressees came from the guest book at the Hangeron big house.

Within days responses began to trickle into Junior's mailbox at Rachal. He deposited the checks that came with each one in his mutual fund account, to be invested in a S&P 500 index fun (unlike his father, Junior Kelly would not fall prey to the sucker bets of investment sharpies who claimed they could outsmart the market in stock, oil, commodities, precious metals, real estate...). One June 30, when Ben Babb called Junior to see how things were going, Junior said, "We got a few responses."

Quail season opened Thanksgiving Day in Brooks County. The day before Junior invited Judge Roy Green and Ben Babb to join him at the Falfurrias Airport to watch the jets come in. Elmo had always liked to watch them the day before the season opened. Junior figured there might be a bit more congestion this year than usual, although the strip always did a big business that day since it served the fancy shooting places within fifty miles of Falfurrias, and there were quite a few of them.

With a case of Lone Star iced down for the lawyer and judge, the tree men sat atop Elmo's hunting truck parked beneath a cottonwood at the strip. With binoculars in hand, they placed bets on who could first identify the incoming planes of former regulars at the Hangeron. When Ben asked Junior how many planes were expected, Junior's answer was evasive. About 10 a.m. the landings started. One after another the Lears, Gulfstreams, Citations, Hawker-Siddleys and other exotic corporate jets rolled down the little strip. By noon all the tie-down space was occupied. Further flights would have to use other fields. Fully two-thirds of the jets held recipients of one of Junior's letters. "Just how many acceptances did you get, Junior," Ben Babb asked after they had departed the airstrip for lunch at Kingsville, Junior as always the designated driver, the lawyer and judge well into the Lone Star.

"Quite a few actually," Junior said sheepishly.

"Good grief! We'll be lynched, impeached, disbarred," said the Judge, alarm in his voice. Ben Babb called a copy of the letter they had drafted from his rattler-skinned briefcase and read it aloud. It had been cleverly done, if he did say so; there wasn't an untruth in it.

Dear Friend of Elmo Kelly,

I'm writing you as one of Pop's special friends—one of those who has hunted the Hangeron as Pop's guest for many years.

Now that Pop is gone and with the debts and estate taxes, we won't be able to continue to have you come free. But for those of Pop's very close friends who came regularly, we're offering a special arrangement that we think Pop would have approved.

For a cost of only $50,000 per gun, this elite group will share all the Hangeron hunting for the coming season—yes, deer, turkey and hog, as well as quail—and only members of the Elmo Kelly Memorial Hunt Club will be allowed to hunt the Hangeron.

If you wish to be a member, send your check for $50,000 payable to Elmo Kelly, Jr., as I have leased the ranch from the estate for the year. An organizational meeting of the Club will be held at the big house on Thanksgiving Day, and the members will then divide up the hunting days among themselves, elect their officers, and make arrangements with local guides.

Very truly yours, Junior Kelly.

"How many acceptances did you get Junior," Ben Babb asked, fear of the answer clear in his voice.

"Well," drawled Junior, "I mailed out a thousand and fifty of your letters of invitation, and four hundred and fifty-three accepted."

"My word, that's $22,650,000," said Judge Green.

"Yep," said Junior. "After the income tax, that should pay Pop's debts and leave me with the Hangeron free and clear. And after this year, all of the hunting is going to be reserved for you two fellows...at reasonable rates, of course."

MEMBERS OF THE AMERICAN BRITTANY CLUB

Give the gift of a new membership... to give the opportunity to someone to learn about and participate in the American Brittany Club.

This membership campaign is really quite simple, we are asking every member to donate/sponsor a membership in the American Brittany Club. This "gifted" membership might be to a puppy purchaser, or a friend/acquaintance who has a Brittany. All of us encounter people who may just need a little encouragement to become members.

This can work, but it is totally dependent upon your support. Please use the ABC application form in the back of the magazine to enroll a new member today. You may donate/sponsor multiple new memberships. The names of new members & ABC sponsors will be published in the magazine on a quarterly basis.

THIS IS OUR CHANCE TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE!
