Objective and Purpose:

To promote cooperation and friendship among the breeders and owners of Brittanys and to encourage higher standards in breeding, training and showing of Brittanys in the field and in the show ring; to discourage the breed from becoming split into groups of "field dogs" and "show dogs" and to strive to keep it forever a "dual dog".

Agility at the 2015 ABC Summer Specialty

By Kim Tees, 2015 ABC Summer Specialty Agility Trial Chairperson

Rosemary McGavin, 2015*

The 2015 American Brittany Club Summer Specialty got started bright and early on the morning of June 18th, with 25 Brittany's and their handlers competing in two back to back AKC sanctioned agility trials. The picture perfect Maine summer weather had both dogs and handlers feeling great and a good time was had by all.

We had a total of 25 dogs entered in both agility trials. Standard and Jumpers with Weaves (JWW) was offered in both trials and Time 2 Beat in Trial 1. We had just over 100 runs, in total, between the 2 trials. Many of the dogs were also entered in the breed ring, and several were also entered in Rally and/or Obedience.

It takes a lot of work to make an agility trial happen and this one was no exception. Many thanks to the 2015 Summer Specialty Agility Trial Committee; Wendy Archinal, Andrea Lee, Kim Hatton and Sarah Camire. You guys were the best!

Thank you to our Judge, Victoria MacVicar, who presented us with fun but challenging courses, and as a fellow Brittany breeder, owner and agility competitor, was able to enjoy the Brittany antics along with the rest of us.

A huge thank you to the day's competitors as there was never a shortage of help. From set up to take down and everything in between the competitors (and many spouses and friends) were there to make sure every detail got covered. ....with lots of laughs and smiles.

Thank you to everyone that donated towards the prizes and awards, and last but not least to Ann Short and the Central Maine Brittany Club for their support in bringing agility to the 2015 Summer Specialty.

- Most Entertaining/Judge's Choice: Dash and Dottie Peruzzi and Spence and Laurie O'Donnell

HIT SPOTLIGHT: MACH 5 Marjo's Demon in the Ruff
MXB2 MJG2 MXF MFS TQX T2B2

Simi is 6 years old and is Janice Barkby's third agility Brittany. Over the 5 years they've been competing, Simi has ranked in the top 5 Brittany's for the AKC Agility Invationals for 3 years in a row, and is currently #3 in the standings for the 2015 qualifying period. At the 2014 Agility Invitational, she made it to the finals and placed 4th in the 20 inch class.

From the time Simi was a puppy, Janice made agility a game. Because she loves to play with her ball more than anything, training was easy.

No matter how Simi performed on course, whether she made up her own course, or left the table to do a tunnel 9 times now, she was always right and got rewarded. For Janice there is no better reward than Simi's smiling face when they exit the ring to play.

We'd also like to recognize all the dogs and their handlers that earned qualifying scores:

Again, many thanks to everyone that had a part, large or small in helping make agility part of the 2015 Summer Specialty events. I think it's safe to say that the agility trials were a great addition to the weekend and we all hope to see agility continue to be offered at future ABC events.

Obedience and Rally at the 2015 ABC Summer Specialty

By Kim Tees & Pat John

In addition to the Conformation and Agility events at this year's Summer Specialty, there was also the opportunity for the Brittany's to compete in several all-breed obedience and rally trials held as part of the Maine Chickadee Cluster. The trials were held in a covered arena with sparrows and pigeons flying about and horses trotting around the track just outside the building, so as you can imagine it was a bit of a challenge to keep the Brittany's focused. But several Brittany's participated and did quite well.

HIT SPOTLIGHT:

MACH Magical Minded Mandy MXS MJG OF

Mandy is 10 years old and was bred by Robert Coombes of New London, PA (Sandy Creek Kennels). Sam Tait got Mandy at 5 weeks of age. She was house trained at 7 weeks, went thru 3 levels of puppy obedience then earned her Canine Good Citizen title.

Mandy has run in over 200 trials, over 2600 runs, with an overall Q rate of around 80%. Mandy is very consistent but not crazy fast. At this time Mandy has not trained in over 4 years, just trials. She has achieved her MACH in AKC, 2 C-ATES in CPE working on a 3rd, 1 C-ATE is 240 Q's across 7 different classes.

Mandy is Sam's heart dog. Her name of Magical Minded Mandy fits her since she learns things after 2 or 3 times, which makes training her very easy.

Team Morse Code, Dot Peruzzi and Dash (Carrollton's Ray Of Sunshine CD BN PCD RAE CAA RATN CGC) qualified in Open A (Obedience) with a 1st place on Friday and also earned the final leg (with a 1st place in Advanced and a 4th place in Excellent) needed for their RAE (Rally Advanced Excellent) title. Dot and Dash earned the 10 qualifying scores for their RAE title in 10 consecutive shows!

Note that for obedience titles (CD, CDX, UD) and Rally titles (RN, RA, RE), the dog and handler have to qualify 3 times to obtain the title. For the RAE title, the dog and handler have to qualify in Advanced B and Excellent B on the same day for a total of 10 times.

Pat John and Candy (CH Swift River's Believe I Can JH BN RE NA NAJ NF NAP OFF NJP VD) completed their RAE title qualifying in both Rally Advanced B and Rally Excellent B 3 days in a row, placing in Excellent B all 3 days!

Mary Walker and Reno (CH Goldstar's Hot Attraction JH OA OAJ OF NAP NJP VD) completed their RN title (Rally Novice) with a first place in Novice B on Friday. They also earned a leg in Pre-Novice with a first place that day. They qualified in Novice B Rally again on Saturday earning a 'bumper' leg, winning the class and with a score of 98 (out of 100) earned the award for High Scoring Brittany in Rally.

Congratulations to all!

TRAININ' DOGS

with Rick Smith

When to Use a Trainer

We're firm believers that most people can train their own bird dogs. With a good program to follow and clear directions plus a well-bred dog with natural ability, and the time and motivation to train the dog, it's quite possible for the average person to train a great hunting companion. However, there are a lot of bird dog trainers out there – people who make their living training dogs for other people. If training your own dog is possible, why are there so many trainers? And if you are training your own bird dog, is there ever a reason to use a trainer's assistance?

There are a multitude of reasons why people send their dogs to trainers. One big reason is to run in competitions. Numerous pros make their living in competition venues such as field trials. Pros running the field trial circuits give the dogs a chance to see a lot of different country and cover because of their travels and access to land. Serious competition requires a lot of travel, and not everyone has enough vacation time to take their dog out on the competition circuit for weeks; and even if they do have the vacation time, it may need to be spent with family or doing other things besides playing dog games.

For dog owners with no interest in competition, lack of time and access to land can be factors that force them to seek the help of a trainer. Working long hours plus family commitments can leave little time for training a dog, and lack of nearby access to land to train on can be another stumbling block. And let's face it, not every person has the patience required to train a bird dog. And for some folks, even if they do have the time, they don't have the "want" needed in order to train – they'd prefer to just take the dog and go hunting. That's where the services of a good gun dog trainer come in handy.

But what about the owners who do have the time and access to land and want to train their own dogs? Is there any reason for them to seek the help of a pro?

We all realize that each dog comes with its own personality and talents. That personality may make things easy, or may make things difficult for the person doing the training, depending on how their personality meshes with the dog's. When you run up against a roadblock and aren't making forward progress, stop and try to find the problem and come up with a solution.

If you can't figure it out within a reasonable length of time, and both you and your dog are getting more and more frustrated, it's probably a good time to seek some help and advice. Sometimes it just takes a fresh pair of eyes and new perspective to see where the problem lies. Plus, a pro has the benefit of having handled a lot of dogs, some of which are sure to have had the same problem you're working on. That experience can save you weeks of frustration. And you're likely to improve your own handling skills as well, under the watchful eye of a good coach.

So, let's say you've decided that you've hit a wall with your dog training and need some help. How do you get the help you need from a pro trainer? You're not planning to commit your dog to long-term training with that person, you just need to get past this particular training issue that's got you blocked.

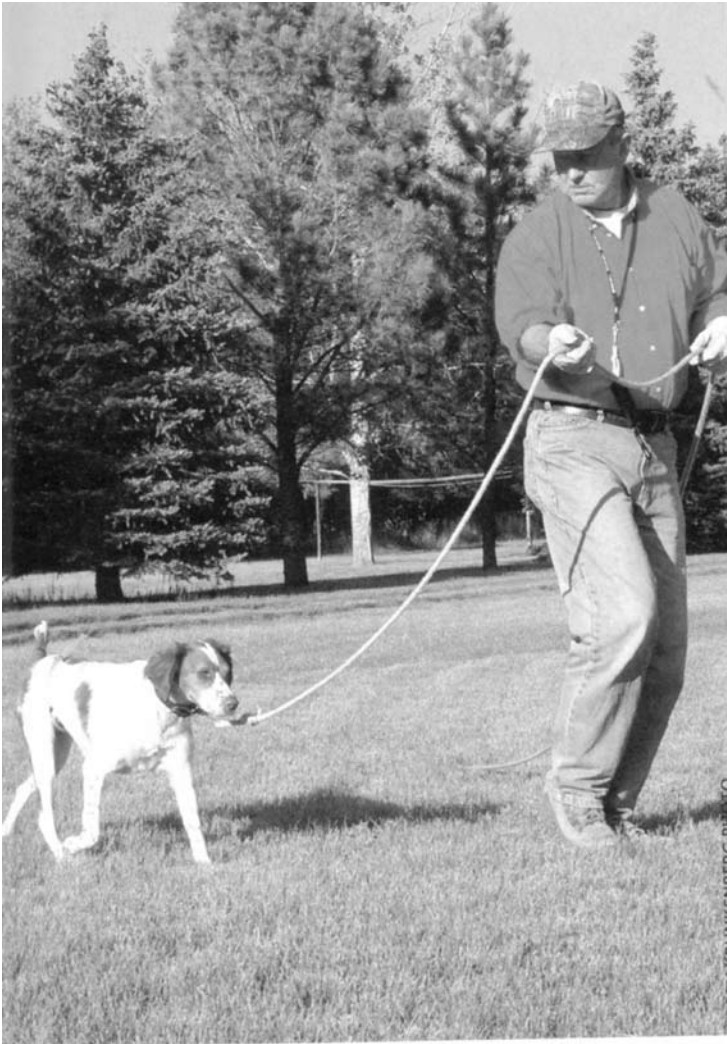

The first step is to ask around and find out who in Rick Smith has spent a lifetime breeding, training, and handling National Championship bird dogs. His highly popular training seminars teach the "Silent Command System" to dog owners world-wide. During hunting season, Rick can be found on the Mariposa Ranch in south Texas.

Sharon Potter has a strong background in animal behavior, and has been training both horses and dogs for many years, with several National titles to her credit. She is an avid hunter and archer, and in her spare time is working on the first of a series of books on bird dog training with Rick Smith.

your area is good. Check with local veterinarians, feed stores, other bird dog people, and dog clubs. Once you have a name or two, give them a call. Remember, most of these folks work pretty hard from dawn to dusk and aren't likely to either answer a call or return a call while they're in the field training dogs. If you leave a voice mail message, be brief and be sure to leave your contact info, making sure to speak slowly and clearly. It's really frustrating trying to return a call from someone who says their name and number so fast that you can't understand it even if you repeatedly listen to the message.

When you do talk to the pro, don't expect to spend half an hour on the phone or sending e-mails...you can't train a dog on the Internet or over the phone. Explain the training snag and then let the trainer do the talking. If it's something there's a quick answer to, you're likely to hear, "Try doing XYZ, and give me a call if that doesn't work and we'll get together." If not, ask if you can set up a time to visit and have your dog evaluated.

Many trainers will do paid hourly sessions in which they work with you and your dog, and a few of those may be all it takes to get through a rough patch. Don't be afraid to call and ask for help, but also don't expect a trainer to spend an hour giving you free advice on the phone. Would you call a plumber or an electrician that you found in the phone book and expect them to spend their time coaching you through a home improvement project at no charge?

When you set up a time to take your dog to work with the trainer, be prompt. If you're supposed to arrive at ten o'clock on Saturday morning, be a few minutes early. When you get there, be open minded. Go with the idea of expanding your knowledge and learning, and don't be afraid to ask questions. When you get there, look around a bit. Is the facility neat and clean? Do the dogs in their runs seem content and in good condition? The place doesn't have to be fancy or perfect, but if you're having to tip-toe through a dog poop landmine field you may want to look elsewhere. While dog poop is one of hazards of having dogs, seeing several days' worth of it scattered around doesn't speak to a well-run operation.

The trainer will probably want to see you work your dog first, so he/she can observe how you handle the dog. The trainer may want to run through some basics to make sure there isn't a hole that needs patching before moving forward to another step. And at some point, he/she may ask to take over and work the dog. Watch closely at both your dog's responses to the trainer and the way the trainer handles your dog. You will likely see a crisp efficiency that may be lacking in your own handling, and your dog's reaction will tell you how things are working.

Again, ask questions and make sure you understand the answers. Don't just nod your head and agree if what is happening isn't completely clear. A good pro wants you to understand and be successful, and won't mind breaking things down and explaining them further.

Don't expect miracles in one session. While it is often possible to get some things straightened out in a very short time, it is just as likely that a few sessions may be needed to work through whatever problem you're having. This is especially noticeable if you've been struggling with a particular problem area for a while – the behavior is in, or close to, the habit stage, which will take more time to reverse. For example, a dog that is showing sensitivity to noises and is on the way to becoming gun-shy is not going to be fixed in a one-hour session. But a dog that is pulling on a lead may well be. In the long run, having a pro walk you through a problem area is money well spent, since it saves both you and your dog time and frustration.

While training your own dog is a great thing and really helps cement your relationship, there's nothing wrong with asking for some help if you need it. You're still the one doing the training...and having a mentor can put you light years ahead of the game. The added bonus is that it will likely get you out of the yard and into the field, and that leads to a more productive and fun hunting season.

Proper Hydration is Key to Avoid the Dangers of Overheating

For today's competitive canine athletes, heat and the potential to overheat can result not only in decreased performance, but also in serious health conditions. When your sporting dog competes in the field, rising temperatures can lead to a number of health problems.

"The most common risk to a working dog is an increase in body temperature," says Purina Senior Research Nutritionist Arleigh Reynolds, DVM, PhD, DACVN. "The level of danger from overheating can range from simply making a dog uncomfortable to a life-threatening situation."

Like humans, exercise and other forms of physical activity can increase the body temperatures of dogs, which normally is between 101 to 103 degrees Fahrenheit. Unlike humans, dogs cannot regulate their body temperature by sweating. Where people have sweat glands throughout their bodies, the only place where dogs sweat is around the pads of their paws.

"As a dog's body temperature rises, the dog compensates by panting," Reynolds explains. "Dogs have a very complex type of circulation. The act of panting causes the dog to salivate and as the fluid evaporates, it cools the blood going into the brain, which helps maintain central nervous system (CNS) functioning. While panting is an effective short-term solution to help maintain CNS function, it is an inefficient method of lowering body temperature in the long run because the act of panting itself uses energy and that generates additional heat."

Another way a dog regulates its temperature in extreme conditions is by the body redirecting the flow of blood. Warm blood from the body core is directed to vessels under the skin where it is cooled by air or water flowing over the skin.

Most dogs are very good at controlling their body temperatures, except when they are put in stressful situations, Reynolds says. "When a dog's body temperature goes past a critical level, it can be dangerous. Even after the dog's temperature is lowered back into the safe range and it recovers from the crisis, a dog will never again be able to regulate its body temperature as well as it did before the crisis."

"Take your dog's temperature at the first sign of distress or after exercise," Reynolds says. "If it is above 105.5 degrees, start cooling down your dog right away. If the temperature drops down below 104 degrees in 3 to 5 minutes, the thermoregulatory mechanisms are working. If it remains above that temperature, the dog is suffering from heat stress. That dog will regain some regulatory ability but may never be able to work well again in even mildly warm conditions."

Proper Hydration

Proper hydration is very important. Water losses occur when a dog performs exercise of increasing intensity or duration and in very warm or cold environments. For competition, your sport dog should be well-hydrated with plenty of water but not carrying excess water in the stomach or bladder. Maintaining hydration is critical to prolonged endurance and thermoregulation.

"Hydration is important for two reasons," says Purina Nutrition Scientist Brian Zanghi, PhD. "Exercise is a heat-producing activity, and water is required to help dissipate heat. About 60 percent of heat dissipated by dogs during exercise is through water evaporation in the respiratory tract."

During rest, water loss is largest through urine, but during exercise, through respiration. Panting is an inefficient way of cooling a dog, but it increases blood flow to the vessels in the back of the throat, helping to cool blood as it travels to the brain.

"Water also is needed to remove the byproducts of energy metabolism. This may be the most important determinant of endurance and performance. Though dogs may be distracted by the environment or their work, they should be encouraged to drink water during extended periods of exercise," Zanghi says.

The risks of dehydration include: increased cardiac workload, impaired delivery of nutrients and removal of water from the muscles, and impaired thermoregulation, or ability to maintain normal body temperature. Immediately after hard work in the field, a sporting dog's temperature may be as high as 107 degrees. However, within 5 minutes the temperature should decline to below 104 degrees.

Dogs usually seek water or show signs of thirst when they lost about 1 percent of their body water. A mildly dehydrated dog (1 to 5 percent body water loss) will likely show signs of water seeking behavior, excessive panting and fatigue. In a warm, humid climate above 75 degrees, dehydration risk begins to grow and rises with increasing temperature. Heat stress and dehydration can rapidly occur in warm temperatures. Dogs seeking shade and showing loss of motivation for training should be cooled and rehydrated, as they are expressing signs of heat stress.

Trainers concerned about overheating in their sporting dogs should carry a rectal thermometer that can be used during training. An overheated dog, one whose temperature stays at 106 degrees or higher, can be cooled down using a mixture of cool water and alcohol under their front legs and in their groin area. Having the dog ingest cool water immediately is beneficial because it rinses the saliva from the back of the dog's throat to improve cooling when panting, cools core body temperature within the intestinal tract, and begins to replenish hydration. Ice water should not be used as it may cool the dog too quickly and lead to other health problems.

"The most important thing is to watch your dog, anticipate problems before they occur and, when in doubt, take its temperature," Reynolds says.

Signs of Heat Stress

- A dog with heat stress will not self-hydrate. Always check for these signs of heat stress in your dog. A dog that appears in distress should promptly be examined by a veterinarian.
- Shade Seeking
- Lethargy
- Heavy panting
- Lack of coordination

Hydration Tips

- Proper hydration is essential. Follow these tips to keep your hardworking sporting dog hydrated during exercise.
- Offer your dog water every 15 to 20 minutes when working
- Never give ice-cold water
- Try baiting water with low-sodium chicken broth to encourage drinking
- Monitor a working dog for signs of heat stress and dehydration

Marcy Beveridge, Reporter

The 2015 American Brittany Club Central Futurity Specialty Show was held on Friday, April 3rd at the Creston Alternative School in Creston, Iowa. We offer many thanks to our sponsors Purina, Mud River, and Garmin...It is their continued support, quality research and product development that keep events such as our Futurity program going. We also thank the Iowa Brittany Club and membership for hosting this Futurity, as well as members of other Clubs in the Central Region for their willingness to help make the Central Futurity Specialty successful. Twenty-two dogs were entered in the Central Futurity Specialty, with twenty-one shown to Judge Teresa Richmond of Illinois. Teresa is well known in the Brittany world and we extend much appreciation for her expertise in judging this Central Futurity Specialty entry. Dogs from all around the country entered the 2015 Futurity Specialty ring.

The judge's picks for male money winners came from both the Intermediate and Senior age brackets. First was awarded to CH Triumphant's Chances Are bred by Kristyn McCartney and Linda McCartney-Roy, and owned/handled by Kristyn McCartney. Second went to Millette's Tribute, bred by Michelle Millette and Michelle Chaney, and handled by Robin Tomasi for owners Rick and Cheri Perez. Bred by Helen Riggle and Jessica Arent and owned by Helen Riggle and Andre Coulombe, Wild Mtn's Storm Warning garnered third, handled by Helen Riggle.

Picks for the female money winners also came from the Intermediate and Senior age brackets. First money female was taken by Dream City's Everything Zen, bred by Judy and Arthur Cohen, and handled by Judy Cohen for owner LuAnn Fullwood. Second went to CH Wild Mountain Masterpiece, bred by Rick and Nan Crites, with owner Julie Nelson handling. Bred by Robin Tomasi and Barbara Dayton, Copley's Dangerous Three Olive Martini took third with Robin Tomasi handling for owners Matt and Laurie O'Donnell and Lisa Pollock.

Judge Richmond's final nod for the 2015 Central's Best In Futurity went to the very handsome male CH Triumphant's Chances Are, with the lovely female CH Wild Mountain Masterpiece taking Best Of Opposite. Dog's competing in both the Futurity field and the Futurity specialty vie for the coveted Dual Award. The 2015 Central Futurity's Dual Award winner was garnered by CH Wild Mountain Masterpiece who took third in the Gun Dog Futurity field and second money female in the Futurity specialty.

The quality of these young dogs shown at the 2015 Central Futurity was consistently high, boding well for the future of our breed. Congratulations to all of our breeders, owners, handlers and of course pups!

2015 Central Futurity – Field Portion
Union County Bird Dog Ranch
Thayer, IA
April 2, 2015
Reported by Ken Windom

The field portion of the 2015 Central Futurity was held at the Union County Bird Dog Ranch near Thayer, IA. This venue has been the site of several editions of the Central Futurity over the past two decades. It is now under new ownership and numerous major improvements are being made to enhance it for the continued running of field trials. The south course was utilized for both stakes, with the full course coming into play for the All Age dogs; and a modified course, more suited for the foot handler, used for the Gun Dog stake.

Participants in this year's Central Futurity came from as far away as Idaho in the west, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Ohio in the east, Texas to the south, and Saskatchewan, Canada to the north. Although the number of entries in the field portion was less than in previous years, the quality of the dogs was every bit as good as this reporter has seen. The All Age winner, Kinwashkly Copperhead Road, handled by Scott Johnson, showed range and drive equal to some of the best dogs in the country that have run on these grounds. He ran in the first brace and set a standard no other dog was able to best on this day. Whiskey, as he is called, was bred by Leslie Andreas and is owned by Charlene and Darren Moch. The winner of the Gun Dog stake, Rocklan's Chasing Mtn-Aire Dreams, owned and handled by Timothy Gonzales, showed excellent application and pointed with great style and class. Chase was bred by Margilee Sauer & Nancy Morabito.

Judging both stakes was the husband/wife team of Bob and Valerie Weaver Burchett, lately of Conway, MO. Bob is a well-known professional dog trainer and field trailer who knows what traits to look for in young prospects. He also has intimate knowledge of these grounds and the tendencies of dogs that run here. Valerie is an up-and-coming judge who has been around pointing dog field trials much of her life, particularly trials that have been run on the grounds managed by Sportsman's Association of Grovespring, MO. Both judges gave each dog their full attention during the running.

We want to express our great appreciation to our sponsors, Purina, Garmin, and Mud River. Continued support from these businesses has been critical over the years in the running of field trials and other dog sports. Their dedication to these sports, as well as the products they manufacture and sell, allow for the continued development of our dogs by providing competitions such as this futurity that allow dogs and breeding programs to be tested and evaluated.

Events such as this do not just happen, but require a lot of work and planning beforehand. Roger Stowell and Marcy Beveridge of the host Iowa Brittany Club did the lion's share of work in preparation for this futurity, as well as on-site management of the activities, with assistance from club president Jon St. Clair and members Chad Dop and Kendall Brown. Ken Windom served as reporter. The National ABC Futurity Committee Chair, Bobbie Sigmund, was on hand to assist wherever possible and give support when needed.

Gun Dog Futurity (9 starters)

BRACE 1: DIRTY BIRD'S PLAYING WITH FIRE (STALKER) AND CH TRIUMPHANT'S PLAYMATE OF THE YEAR (GROMMON).

The first brace of the gun dog futurity left the breakaway at 1:33 under sunny skies and mild temperatures. Both dogs stayed fairly close-in to their handler, with ash being the bolder of the two and exhibiting better application. Lacey seemed confused by all the people and horses, but started hunting more earnestly after finding a bird at 20 along the ditch near the broken-down shed. Ash had a find a minute later farther north along the same ditch and another at 23 along a terrace south of the hedgerow. Lacey had one other find at 27 in the hedgerow.

BRACE 2: SIGBRIT'S SWEET RIDE (SIGMUND) AND DOUBLE SHOT OF JACK DANIELS (STONEHOUSE). Both dogs were away at 2:09. Ryder showed great range in the early going, and exhibited remarkable handle for such a young dog, being very responsive to his handler's commands. Jack was generally forward, but not at the range as his bracemate. Both dogs encountered birds at 20 along the ditch north of the broken-down shed. Ryder pointed on the back side of this ditch about a minute later and a bird was produced. Jack scored a find at 25 along the Hedgerow. Both dog lost focus during the second half of the brace.

BRACE 3:DIRTY BIRD'S GIRL ON FIRE (STALKER) AND ROCKLAN'S CHASING MTN-AIRE DREAMS (GONZALES). Temperatures were rising under a warming sun as this brace was loosed at 2:45. The dogs set to work, running at good range and searching likely objectives. Both dogs had bird contact at eight along the tree line west of the hedgerow. Chase slammed into a beautiful point at 15, west of the terrace below the hedgerow. Kat pointed a minute later just east of chase's find. Both dogs showed consistently good application, range, and handle throughout their allotted time, approaching the end of the course with several minutes left in the half-hour. Handlers were instructed to bear right along the course to fill the remaining time. Chase was drawn back toward the breakaway by the gallery as time expired, but this did little to detract from an otherwise solid performance.

BRACE 4: WILD MOUNTAIN MASTERPIECE (NELSON) AND DR JAC'S PISTOL ANNIE BOJACK'S O'DEE (HAMMES). Official breakaway was at 3:30, but Monet showed her eagerness by getting an early start. Both dogs made nice opening casts along the west edge of the course. Monet carded a find at 10 along the terrace south of the hedgerow. Annie exhibited good style as she pointed a single quail along the ditch by the broken-down shed at 17. Monet scored again at 24 just below the hedgerow. Annie pointed at 27 at the head of the ditch west of the hedgerow and a bird was flushed in the heavy cover. Both dogs showed good application during this brace, with Monet being the wider-ranging of the pair, whereas Annie had more of a tendency to check back in with her handler.

BRACE 5: NORTHERN STARS DIAMONDS & LACE (STONEHOUSE) AND BYE. The final brace broke away at 4:11. Lacey, running as a bye dog, showed a good hunting pattern at short to moderate range. She scored a find at 18 at the end of tree motte coming down from terrace feeder, and had other nice point at 21 below the hedgerow.

All Age Futurity (8 starters)

BRACE 1: COPLEY'S DANGEROUS THREE OLIVE MARTINI (POLLOCK) AND KINWASHKLY COPPERHEAD ROAD (JOHNSON).

The first brace broke away at 9:22 under partly cloudy skies and a temperature in the high 40s. Both dogs were away to the front. Whiskey set the bar high with his race that utilized the full course available. He was particularly impressive in the church corner as Scott waited on the ridge while the dog rimmed the far southeast corner of the property, then swung around and headed west. He carded a find at 13 along the south side of the course, then finished strong to the front. Reese also ran a forward race, though not quite as consistently wide-ranging as her brace mate. She carded a find at 6 along the woods edge south of the keyhole and again at 20 southeast of the hedgerow. She indicated game at 16 by the rock crossing, but handler was convinced no bird was in the area and collared her out, only to flush the bird as they maneuvered through the brush.

BRACE 2: WILD MTN'S IN THE DANGER ZONE (RIGGLE) AND KINWASHKLY INSTANT REPLAY (ANDREAS).

This brace was loosed at 9:58. Both dogs ran a good race, but were not as consistently forward as the placing dogs. Maverick was reported to have made bird contact at eight along the woods edge south of the keyhole, but no shot was fired. Replay made several large casts, but was somewhat directionally challenged and not as responsive to handler's whistle. She carded a find at 17 near the rock crossing.

BRACE 3: KINWASHKLY KING LOUIE (VATER) AND COUNTYLINE'S COUSIN VINNIE (TRUKSA). Breakaway was at 10:46. Vinnie broke away south over the ridge, then made a brief appearance at the keyhole before disappearing to the front. Handler pulled the Garmin at 17. Meanwhile, Louie was covering lots of real estate in a forward, searching manner. He had a find at five in the hedgerow and again at 19 in the finger west of the hedgerow. Although his range was not as big as the winner's, he showed good application in his run. He shortened somewhat at the end, going into the 15 mph wind.

BRACE 4: WILD MTN'S STORM WARNING (RIGGLE) AND SPLASH'S FIRE GODDESS (JAGIELSKI). The final brace of the all age futurity left at 11:22. Storm exhibited a generally forward race at shooting dog range, covering more of the center of the course rather than the edges. He recorded a find at five in the hedgerow. Pele went south from the breakaway, then came around through the keyhole and down the center of the course to the south side and headed east before responding to Tom's whistle and turning back to the west. Although she ranged large at times, her pattern was inconsistent and she was somewhat reluctant to respond to her handler. She carded finds at 19 and again at 20 along the hedgerow.

2015 ABC EASTERN FUTURITY

March 5-6, 2015

GARMIN.

The Buckeye Brittany club was host to the 2015 Eastern Futurity. We would like to thank all of the participants who braved the cold and snow to attend this event. The futurity show was held on March 5 at the Fieldhouse in Zanesville, Ohio with Mrs. Carol Spritzer judging. There were many compliments from attendees on the great venue and the fact that the club also hosted an independent specialty show the same day. In between shows, the Buckeye club members had a pizza party for all in attendance. Thanks go to Purina, Garmin and Mud River for the support these great companies give to the ABC Futurity Program. Thanks to the generosity of those who donated for trophies, we were able to provide very nice embroidered directors chairs and duffel bags to the winners.

The field portion was held at the Tri-Valley Wildlife Area in Dresden on March 6. We would like to thank the judges Wade Haines, Chris Rider, Ron Auten & Gene Knotts for their time in the saddle and consideration of our future field stars. Big thank you to the participants who stepped up to help out as well as members of the futurity committee. Thanks also go to the Buckeye club members, section chair George Kucsma and section secretary Leroy Long for their hard work and dedication to our breed.

Gun Dog Futurity
By Leroy Long & Jim Hamer

The running of the 2015 Eastern Gun Dog Futurity took place at the Tri-Valley Wildlife Area near Dresden, Ohio on March 6th. It was hosted by the Buckeye Brittany Club. The fourteen dogs entered were ably judged by Gene Knotts and Ron Auten. It was a cold day, but the sunshine was brilliant and there was a minimum of wind. When the judges finished their deliberations fourth place went to Sophie Express owned and handled by Bill Burger. Third place was awarded to Spring Hill's Red Hot Performance owned and handled by John Bell. Second place went to Sigbrit's Sweet Ride JH owned and handled by Bobbi Sigmund. The winner of first place and the blue ribbon went to La Bandita Del Prado owned and handled by Les Casselberry. There was little difference between the first and second place dogs. The running was as follows:

BEST OF OPPOSITE SEX HILLS JUST IN CASE

DUAL DOG WINNER
WILD MTN'S STORM WARNING

BRACE 1: SOPHIE EXPRESS-SOFIE (BURGER) & CH WILD MOUNTAIN MASTERPIECE-MONET (NELSON). Monet broke away and headed for the right of the course. Sophie headed straight away and had an early point. Both dogs had bird work and Sophie was credited with three finds.

Brace 2: Horizon's Come Fly With Me-Pilot (Johnson) & La Bandita Del Prado-Bandit (Casselberry). Bandit went to the front and stayed to the front. She had a nice point early on. Pilot worked a little closer in the center of the course. They had a divided find at the turn. Both dogs had several points.

Brace 3: Sigbrit's Sweet Ride-Ryder (Sigmund) & Country Roads Minister of Defense-Reggie (Becker). Both dogs moved far to the front and then to the hillside on the right. Reggie had a non-productive and Ryder moved into the same area and pointed. A bird was flushed and as it sped by, judge Auten he reached out and snagged it. Ron is a "Golden Glove" candidate for sure. Ryder was seen running big to the right side of the course and both dogs had finds at the turn. Ryder slowed somewhat at the end.

BRACE 4: COVEYRIS TANQUERAY N TONIC-GINNY (BECKER) & JAC'S OVER ACES-LIVVI (JOHNSON). Livvi stayed busy with good bird work. She had an excellent long distance point. Ginny handled well and finished to the front but had no bird contact. Livvi was credited with four finds.

BRACE 5: LABYRINTH NMR MY FIRST TASTE OF CHAMPAGNE-LEISEL (MICHALKE) & SPRING HILL'S RED HOT PERFORMANCE-RED (BELL). Red had a nice point seven minutes into the brace. He shared a find with Leisel. Both dogs stood through the flush AND shot. Red had another point and stood through the flush. Both bird dogs finished strong to the front.

BRACE 6: HILL'S JUST N CASE-CASEY (HILL) & BLUEBIRD'S STAR OF LAMBEAU-BART (BECKER). Casey had an excellent, long distance point. He ran a nice pattern. Bart stayed busy with restricted range. The dogs shared a find.

BRACE 7: SARADAC'S LOCKED N LOADED-TUNA (DOW) & CH GET A BIRD MIRACLE-CARLY (O'DONNELL). Both dogs were busy and to the front with restricted range. Tuna was credited with two finds and Carly was credited with three finds.

2015 Eastern All Age Futurity
By Helen Riggle

The morning dawned crisp clear and sunny after a week of uncertain and stormy weather. The sunshine and 26 degree weather made scenting conditions excellent. The crisp air gave the turbo boost needed to all of the All Age contenders who burst off the break away with purpose and the desire to roll out far and hard.

BRACE 1: JJ'S LEVI THE LION HEART-LEVI (WILLIAMS) AND WILD MTN'S IN THE DANGER ZONE-MAVERICK (RIGGLE). In the first brace, Levi, handled by Joe Williams ran a nice wide race. Bracemate Maverick, handled by Brian Riggle, helped to pull Levi forward a time or two but all in all these two dogs were evenly matched in speed and range. The early morning and below freezing temps kept the 3" of snow from breaking under the weight of the dogs making it easy to cover the ground without too much hardship. Both dogs had stylish birdwork at the 15 minute mark with Levi holding steady to the wing and shot.

BRACE 2: I'M YOUR MAN- GUS (GORMAN) BYE. Temps began to warm quickly and began to rise by the second brace. Gus, handled by Bill Gorman ran as a bye dog since his bracemate had scratched. Gus handled kindly and had multiple pieces of bird work in his 30 minutes. The snow cover was still holding firm for the dogs, but the horses were beginning to navigate a bit of slippery slush in places where they had previously travelled. Hoods and scarves began to come off of judges and gallery and the day was shaping up to be a beautiful one.

BRACE 3: WILD MTN'S STORM WARNING-STORM (RIGGLE) AND JJ'S DIABLO WITH RUSTY TEARS-RUSTY (WILLIAMS). By the 3rd brace the temps were just a tad above the freezing mark. Dogs and horses alike were breaking through the snow covered ground, but that didn't stop Storm or Rusty from the task at hand. Storm had his first bird at the seven minute mark which excited him and sent him on his quest for more. His race was fast, foward, fueled with fire. He would have his second bird at the 20 minute mark that took him on a merry chase. However, he handled kindly returning to the front and giving more gas to the engine. He finished the brace going away strong looking to go for lap #2 around the course. He was recovered by the scout and brought back into judgment just in the nick of time. Rusty ran a nice snappy race, reaching forward and rolling with purpose. Birds would elude him though. He finished his brace as strong as he started.

AKC INTRODUCES NEW ONLINE LEGISLATIVE ACTION CENTER

New York, NY – AKC is pleased to announce the launch of a new online Legislative Action Center ( <http://cqrcengage.com/akc/lac> ) (LAC). The microsite, designed by the AKC Government Relations Team, is designed to make it easier for dog lovers to learn more about key political issues that impact dogs and dog ownership. The site is accessible from the AKC.org homepage and from the GR webpage, www.akc.org/government-relations.

New features on the site include tabs for the Government Relations blogs, educational and advocacy resources, a listing of legislative alerts, a tool to identify your representative, the GR twitter feed and a tab for supporting the efforts of the Canine Legislative Support Fund or Political Action Committee.

Alerts posted on the LAC homepage provide a helpful tool that allows constituents to contact their representative using key talking points, without having to leave the site. In the coming months, this feature will also be made available through a mobile app.

The LAC is also integrated with the Government Relations page on AKC.org to provide easy access to the familiar resources such as the GR toolbox, tools for monitoring the state and federal bills that AKC is tracking, newsletters, economic information, educational tools, position statements and general information about AKC Government Relations.

We urge you to view a video introduction (<http://cqrcengage.com/akc/lac>) to the new Legislative Action Center. Questions may be directed to the GR team at doglaw@akc.org or 919-816-3720.

A SPORTSMAN'S RAMBLINGS

by Marty Garrell

Summer is certainly a time for kids. As maturity comes, though, we start to worry about precautions: covering up to avoid sunburn, applying repellent for insects, and dealing with common allergies. In fact when outdoors persons get to “a certain age” we wonder how we managed to survive the health challenges summer (and spring and fall) threw at us all those years!

Whenever I talk to my Riverhead dermatologist, Mitchell Meyerson, we always have a rousing discussion about exposure to sunlight. For many years, as a high school and college student, I made my summer money working as a country club lifeguard and swim coach. Before that I put away summer cash as a caddy, too. And, as if that wasn't enough solar exposure, our family often made winter or spring trips to Florida where I'd fish for days on end. Fortunately, I took the advice of some wiser heads and learned the not-so-subtle art of covering up, especially during the critical 10-to-four period. Even 50 years back, without any skin protection (except for Coppertone™, which certainly didn't do much.) senior guards and native guides knew enough to don white, long-sleeved shirts and wide-brimmed hats and to hide under big umbrellas or “Bimini” boat canopies. In middle years, I learned to use sunscreens with increasing sun protection factors (SPFs), but damage had already been done. So I pay the price today when regular dermatological checks reveal pre-cancerous growths or discolored areas that demand immediate attention.

Almost all our outdoor buddies suffer from one allergy or another. “Hay fever” comes in many forms. If it isn't late summer ragweed, it's the grass or pollen of May through July. We've known anglers who simply couldn't fish summer streams in the Midwest, dog trainers who carried enough medication to stock a pharmacy, and even some dogs that cannot be run in the field until fall without suffering from respiratory distress and skin rash. After a couple of particularly scary reactions to spring pollen (which had never affected me previously) a decade ago, I tried a couple of over-the-counter allergy tabs without much success. Then, a Pennsylvania dog trainer suggested a prescription drug, Allegra®, and it seemed to do the job. Like many sufferers I had to learn the trick of splitting tabs in half to avoid common side effects.

Another allergy that plagues most of us is the oil that comes off the leaves and vines of the “big three”, poison ivy, oak or sumac. Years back bad cases of ivy “burn” would send outdoors folks to physicians for cortisone shots, to pharmacies for boric acid or calamine-based lotions, even to hospitals! Fortunately, Tec Laboratories in Oregon, the poison oak capital of North America, developed a series of terrific products more than 30 years ago. The Tecnu™ cleansers, now in spray form as well, dissolve the potent oil so that it can be flushed from skin. Once the oil is gone, the awful itch goes away. Some of the soaps and other products on today's drug store shelves claim to do the same job.

Biting insects have to be singled out for special treatment. Whether we're fighting off mosquitoes on the marshes, biting flies in the woods or on the beaches, or deer ticks in the uplands, these “critters” have a way of making life miserable---or worse. While Adirondackers joke about their fast-flying black flies (15 mph!) and mosquitoes the size of hummingbirds, the ticks of Long Island are no laughing matter. In fact, our Ixodes ticks, are more of a scourge than a nuisance simply because the majority of tick bites can lead to horrible complications, as any on the East End who've suffered from Lyme, Ehrlichiosis, and Babesiosis know full well.

However, many years back, while guiding at Mashomack, we learned some tricks about Lyme prevention from veterans in the field. As tough as ticks are to dislodge when embedded and as difficult as they are to crush, they can be repelled from clothing and skin by simple means. First put a strong DEET®-based repellent like Ben's™ on bare calves, forearms, neck and cheeks. Then spray a lighter repellent, less than 40% DEET®, or even a pyrethrin- or picardin-based repellent, on critical parts of garments: socks, trouser legs, and long sleeves. Shirts or pants impregnated with repellents are even better. Incidentally, this heavy-duty treatment also works for mosquitoes and biting flies. Because our Brittanys are so prone to contract tick-borne diseases, we spray their legs, necks, and bellies with light repellent after they're finished working a day in the field (To spray beforehand might compromise their noses.) in addition to administering annual Lyme-Vax™ vaccinations and monthly dermal injections of Front-Line™.

The months ahead should be special for the “kid” in all of us; don't let them be spoiled by “The ‘Oys’ of Summer”.

ABC International Classics/Championships

The 2015 American Brittany Club International Classics began on March 16 at the Mingo Sportsman Club in Bloomingdale, OH. All three stakes, Amateur All Age, Open Gun Dog and Open All Age were held as AKC Grand Champion Points stakes. Competitors began arriving Sunday afternoon, after the short drive from Dresden, OH where the ABC Eastern Futurity, Buckeye Brittany Club trial, PA Shooting Dog Championship and Ohio Brittany Club trials had come to a conclusion. The Ohio Spring Fling was in full swing as the record-breaking snowfall for this winter disappeared with the onset of Spring!

First and foremost, we would like to say Thank You to our sponsor Purina for their continued support! We not only rely on their monetary support but also appreciate their donation of fine products that keep our Brittans at the top of their game! The grounds at the Mingo Sportsman Club continue to improve every year. The addition of new stone parking pads made it easier to fit more rigs in the parking area. The staff at Mingo is always on hand to help with any of our needs. Thank you chef Bill McLewis for cooking breakfast and lunch! We enjoyed a great steak dinner, Wing and Fry night, and the Friday Fish Fry down at the clubhouse. Thursday night's dinner was the joint effort of Crystal Alexander and Bill. The Chicken fettuccini Alfredo was delicious! And thank you Sherry Stewart for the great desserts.

This year's judges were Bill Monk and Chris Cantazarite for the Amateur All Age, Chad Sloan and Frank Cavalieri for the Open Gun Dog and Bill Van De Weerd and Joe Orndorff for the Open All Age. The judges in all three stakes commented that the competition was very stiff. So many fine performances were witnessed, but only 4 placements to be had.

The Amateur All Age stake started on Monday, and concluded on Tuesday. Twenty hopefuls went to the line. The judges commented that the dogs they placed all had excellent application and range. This year's winner was FC/AFC Diamond Hill She's Gone, owned by Lisa and Paul Pollock and handled by Lisa. The 10-year-old roan bitch got stronger as the hour went on. She had 4 finds and a very strong finish. Runner-up honors went to Glad Run Irish, owned by Dave Webb and handled by Tommy Thomas. Irish had 5 forward finds for Tommy. Third place went to Tommy's CH TNT's Sirius Buddy Boy. FC Georgia's Texas Two Step, owned by Travis and Clayton Tangen and handled by Travis was awarded 4th place.

Tuesday afternoon we started the Open Gun Dog stake, held in memory of former ABC President Ron Zook. Twenty-three dogs went to the line for this stake that concluded mid day Thursday. This year's winner was GFC Touch Of Bourbon Little Chug, owned by Tom Wonderling and handled by Bob Burchett. Carson hunted a strong forward race with 5 finds. This consistent young male was bred by George and Cindy McCann, sired by Jerry and Ruth McGee's NFC Ru-Jem's Touch of Bourbon. Runner Up was Lisa and Paul Pollock's Diamond Hill Work Hard Play Harder, handled by Lisa. This young bitch kept the judges attention with her sharp bird work. Bob Burchett handled the 3rd and 4th place finishers Let's Get-R-Done Nellie, owned by Bill Cockrum and John Schlicht and CH Ricochet Gunsmoke's Mr. Dillon, owned by Mickey Condron.

The Open All Age stake began as soon as the Gun Dog concluded on Thursday afternoon. Twenty entries vied for the title. The judges named FC/AFC Hap's Spice Run Beckham Champion commenting on his big forward race. Beckham had 3 stylish finds, two of them were after he had gone missing, found standing to the front. Beckham is owned by Hap Harrison and handled by Jimmy Johnson. Runner up was Chancey's Frozen Asset, owned by Jack and Crystal Alexander and handled by Jack. Maggie had 3 finds and a strong finish. Third place was awarded to Glade Run Irish, owned by Dave Webb and handled by Tom Tracy. The fourth place finisher was Joe Williams' JJ's Alabaster Angel. Angie put down 2 nice performances this week; this one was rewarded with a placement.

We'd like to thank all the participants that made the trek to Eastern Ohio this year to support our event. We hope to see you back again next spring!

EAST COAST

NORTHERN NEW ENGLAND Franklin Falls Flood Control Area Hill, NH May 16-17, 2015

The NNEBC field trial was again held at Franklin Falls Flood Control Area in Hill, NH on May 16th and 17th. A big thank you goes to Chairman David Hayes along with his wife Joan for their effort and help during the trial. Again, thank you. The weather was just about perfect, a little on the warm side but no rain. Scenting conditions were on the tough side which led to some non-productives. Kimberly Eaton and Michelle Sala from Connecticut spent long days in the saddle and deserve a big thank you. As well, Dr. Leslie J. Hunt, Patricia Carney, Ray Gorman, Mike Blondin, Keith Madden, Jeff Leggio and Jim Rollins judges. Without the judges there would be no trial. One more key to the success of the trial are our bird planters. Here John Poland, Jeff Leggio, Gary Anderson and Jim Rollins took it upon themselves to get the job done. NNEBC appreciated the many entries and help received from members of other clubs. Thanks to all and see you down the road.

SOUTHERN NEW ENGLAND

Arcadia Management Area
Exeter, RI

May 23-24, 2015

The Southern New England Brittany Club ran their annual walking field trial at the John Stolgitis field trial area in the Arcadia Wildlife management area in Exeter, Rhode Island on May 23rd and 24th, 2015. Other than the weather getting a little warm and scenting conditions falling off on Sunday afternoon, the weather was great for running a trial. This trial was well attended and went off without a hitch. Thanks to all the club members who pitched in and helped to make things run smoothly. These grounds are an ideal venue for a walking trial as the entire trial area is located on an extremely flat expanse of ground that makes walking easy. The late winter and recent lack of rainfall kept the heavy growth down and allowed great visibility in the wooded areas to view the dogs. Lunch was provided each day to all participants at no charge. Saturday evening, after the day's running, the club members put on a buffet style dinner with ample amounts of various dishes and desserts. The club thanks everyone for their participation and support and looks forward to seeing you again next year. Listed below are the results of the two days running.

ST CROIX VALLEY
Crow Hassan Park Reserve
Rogers, MN
May 15-17, 2015

The SCVBC Spring Trial was held at the Crow Hassan Park in Rogers, MN, May 15-17. The weather conditions varied over the weekend starting with mostly cloudy conditions that were great for running the dogs. Thankfully the rainy forecast did not come through for Sunday and, when the day was over, we had brought 112 starters to the line.

NutriSource Premium Pet Foods sponsors our event and provides dog food for the winners and monies for advertising our event. With sincere appreciation we want to thank them for their support. With their help our event is one that continues to run the maximum number of dogs over a three day weekend. We would like to thank our professionals that support our trial, too. Bob Burchett, Greg Dixon, Tom Hagan and Josh Holden brought dogs out to run that were very competitive.

Every year we can count on Steve Ralph's work as the Chairman to make our event run smoothly. His efforts and attention to detail make my job as the Secretary easier. Our President, Bret Lindback, and Director Sue Januschka are here from the beginning to the very end of the trial planting birds, marshalling and doing anything to help things along. John Lindback runs our dog wagon every year and what a good job he does getting the right dogs to the line, filling bird bags and doing anything else that is required. John Chejne helped wherever he could and Tanya Carlson kept us fed through the weekend. Sue Januschka brought out a cake to celebrate her recent Field Champion. Thanks to you guys for making our trial a premier event.

We'd like to thank our judges who spent some serious time in the saddle. With some larger stakes, we had some long days in the field. Kendall Brown, Bill Cockrum, Susan Januschka, Bret Lindback, Ian MacTavish, Chuch Schaefer and Ken Windom did a great job with the dogs and the handlers. All of the placements were well received. The SCVBC appreciates your willingness to attend our event.

Last but not least we want to thank all of the Amateur handlers that entered their dogs and came to our trial. The SCVBC appreciates your support for our spring trial and our sport. We hope you had a good time and we look forward to seeing you again.

David Carlson
Field Trial Secretary

INLAND EMPIRE
BLM Goose Butte Rec Area
Ritzville, WA
April 14-16, 2015

The Whid Isle Brittany Club and the Inland Empire Brittany Club held their Spring 2015 field trials together at the Goose Butte BLM Area near Ritzville, Washington. We had participants from Washington, Idaho, Oregon, and California with most people staying on the grounds to take the opportunity to compete in the three field trials (Washington B.C. was the following weekend) that were held there over a nine day period. We had a good number of entries at both events with three to five point majors in all adult stakes.

The spring weather was a mixed bag with brisk mornings (ice on the water barrels), some windy, cold days and other days that were relatively hot, t-shirt weather. The scenting conditions were generally good and we had plenty of birdwork so the judges had numerous dogs to choose from for placements. Special recognition goes to Spanish Corral's Chica Nevada who won the Amateur Gun Dog (a 4 point major) and took fourth in the Amateur All-Age at WIBC for owners Frank and Judi Bright. Chica recently started trialing again after major surgery last hunting season due to an encounter with a porcupine that just about killed her. She appears to be recovering nicely and looks ready to be a strong competitor. Also, Hideaway's Red's Grace Under Fire won the Open Gun Dog at WIBC and took fourth in the Open Gun Dog at IEBC (both 5 point majors). Grace put on a couple of excellent, consistent performances under the whistle of Jason Staley.

We want to thank all of our judges for their attentiveness and perseverance. They did a great job and their placements were well received. Additionally, we want to thank pros Paul & Peggy Doiron, Wayne Down, and Jason & Cortnee Staley for bringing their strings up to Washington and supporting both of these events. They drive a long way to participate at our field trials in the Northwest and provide us with numerous entries that helps make these events financially viable. We would also like to recognize all of the hard work of the WIBC/IEBC members, especially Trudy Richmond who was FT Secretary for both events, Scott Robertson, Margaret Horstmeyer, and Patti Hammett for their assistance in making these events successful. Everything went smoothly as usual, the food was fantastic and everyone had great time! Finally, a big "thank-you" to all of the participants who so willingly pitched in with bird planting, water transport and all of the other jobs that are necessary to make a field trial work. We couldn't have done it without you!

We look forward to seeing everyone again in the Fall!

John Henderson
WIBC & IEBC Field Trial Chairman

DC/GCH BRETON'S GOLDEN HEART OF PEPPER-SUN

"Cookie" seemed special from a very young age. At six weeks old she and her brother Sam (FC Breton's Sam I Am) were pointing quail wings with style, intensity and confidence. They would take turns backing one another even at this early age. Retrieving is another one of Cookie's passions.

With the excellent training and care by Scott and Linda Azevedo of Nelson Kennels (Los Banos, CA), Cookie won her FC and is known for her competitive nature. She has a lot of heart, stamina, style, confidence and trainability. Cookie earned her FC in 2013 and has a current total of 22 placements in the field. Cookie competed in the 2013 and 2014 ABC National Open Gun Dog Championships, and while being new to the grounds, she was recognized by the judges both years and earned a lot of attention by the gallery and many competitors at each event.

We placed Cookie with Jessica Carlson for her show career. Prior to this point, Cookie's only show ring appearance was in the 2011 Futurity, where she placed fourth. Cookie's AKC show debut was on May 9, 2015 and she finished her Championship on May 30, winning Best of Breed at the Mississippi Valley Kennel Club show in Missouri. She went on to show 13 more times, and finished her Grand Championship on June 26, 2015 by winning Best of Opposite Sex at the Indian Nations Brittany Club specialty in Oklahoma. Cookie is only the third female Brittany to earn both the DC & GCH titles to date. Cookie won shows in 8 states (New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Minnesota, Illinois, Ohio, and Michigan). We are extremely pleased with Jessica's handling of Cookie and effective communications with us.

Cookie's calm nature with confident performances in field trials and the show ring are consistent with her heritage. This follows even in her coloring, being orange roan via ABC & Bird Dog Hall of Fame, Dr. Gordon Theilen's Breton kennel. Orange roan is the predominant coloring for seven generations back on the sire's side. We are forever grateful for Charles and Helen Gilpin allowing Cookie to become a special part of our family.

Mary and I are looking forward to seeing Cookie's offspring. We expect them to be family-oriented with great personalities, as well as strong performers in the field, show, and other skill categories.

DC JUST CALL ME LUCKY NED PEPPER

"Lucky Ned" started his adult field trial career at 15 months old with an adult placement at the Southern Kansas Brittany Club's Amateur Gun Dog stake. Shortly afterwards, he won his first field trial major which allowed him to compete the following month in the 2014 American Brittany Club National Gun Dog Championship. He was the only competitor under two years of age, and ran with style, range, and intensity, having multiple finds.

To date, he has 10 adult field trial placements, 6 of which were in major adult stakes, and all points earned toward his AKC Field Championship were in adult stakes. Lucky Ned earned his AKC Field Championship at 27 months old and has a total of 12 points with three major wins. He is again qualified to run in the ABC National Gun Dog Championship in 2015. Additionally, Lucky Ned at 28 months old went to the AKC National Horseback Pointing Breed Gun Dog Championship in Grovespring, MO where he was awarded Best of Breed.

Lucky Ned was placed with Jessica Carlson at 29 months old to start his show career, and in 3 short weeks Jessica led Lucky Ned to his Show Championship, which also resulted in his Dual Championship. Lucky Ned earned 5 major show wins during those 3 weeks, including Best of Breed wins.

Lucky Ned has been an amazing young and hard nose competitor and we look forward to many more accomplishments in his future. He was trained in the field by Calvin Blackburn, handled in the show ring by Jessica Carlson, and handled in the field by his owner Frank Campbell.

Delmar Smith Named Recipient of Park Cities Quail 2016 T. Boone Pickens Lifetime Sportsman Award

Delmar Smith Named Recipient of Park Cities Quail 2016 T. Boone Pickens Lifetime Sportsman Award

Park Cities Quail had announced that Oklahoman Delmar Smith, well known in the field trial and bird dog community, is the 2016 recipient of the T. Boone Pickens Lifetime Sportsman Award to be presented March 3, 2016, during the 10th annual Award dinner and auction at Frontiers of Flight Museum in Dallas, Tex.

Delmar grew up in Big Cabin, Okla., where he spent his childhood working for local dog trainers. By the time he was 13, he had saved enough money from cleaning dog pens to take a horse-training course. He applied the techniques learned in that course to create a revolutionary way of training bird dogs and which is detailed in the book "Best Way to Train Your Gun Dog – The Delmar Smith Method," in collaboration with author Bill Tarrant. Delmar became one of America's most respected trainers, and many of his students have become excellent trainers and field trial competitors in their own right and attribute their success to his tutelage.

His popular seminars are now conducted by his son, Rick Smith, and his nephew, Ronnie Smith.

Delmar has devoted a lifetime to the sport of bird dogs as a breeder, trainer and judge. As a conservationist he was at the forefront of ecological and biological studies to create superior environments for game bird propagation.

Delmar bred, trained and handled bird dogs to numerous championships including five Brittany National Championships, five United States Open Brittany Championships. Between Delmar, sons Rick and Tom and his nephew Ronnie, they have won numerous International, National and United States Open Championships. Delmar also helped initiate the Fleetwood Shooting Dog Classic and the International Endurance Shooting Dog Championship.

At 89 years of age, he has not slowed down. He is a generous supporter of the Bird Dog Foundation, serving as a member of its board, and the Field Trial Hall of Fame in which he was inducted in 1998.

None Held Back and Other Bird Dog Stories

Part Four - Good and Evil

By Tom Word

The Three-Hundred-Dollar Solution

John Bidwell was enjoying this field trial more than any he could remember. Not just because of the beauty of the grounds, the good weather, or the generally high quality of the dog work, although these things certainly contributed. It was mostly because of his new, more relaxed, role in the ritual. For many years now, John had attended most trials as a judge. He had grown to enjoy that role, though it had its share of aggravations. Today John rode not as a judge, but as reporter. His eye doctor had detected a cataract, and John had taken himself off the rolls for judging assignments. The doctor said that once the cataract was ripe for removal, his vision could be restored with an implant, but until then there would be a period of gradual decline in the sight of one eye. When the President of the Deep South Championship, his old friend Hubble Spiers, invited him to report this year's renewal, John readily accepted. John's life's work as a lawyer made writing the report for the American Field an easy enough job, and his new semiretired status at his Birmingham law firm gave him the time for a week in the saddle at Mossy Swamp Plantation, Spiers's shooting place on the Georgia-Florida line.

The trial had commenced on Monday. It was nearing the end of the day on Friday now, the day's sixth and last brace was winding down.

"Pick 'em up," came the call. John and the two judges dismounted and handed the reins to the marshals, who would lead their horses in while the official party rode in atop the dog truck.

John took a seat on the bench between the two judges and accepted a beer from the ice chest. Suddenly he realized he was tired to the bone. A half dozen spectators seated behind strained to eavesdrop as the judges gravely studied their books.

"We need a little conference when we get back to the clubhouse," said the senior judge, Riley Post, a tobacco farmer from Winston Salem, North Carolina, with whom John had often shared judging assignments. Bob Hilton, the other judge, a Jacksonville real estate operator when he wasn't chasing his string of amateur trial dogs, gravely nodded assent.

There was only one more brace to be run. The last two dogs would get their shot at eight the next morning, and when their hour was finished, the trial would be over, and the decision announced, a new champion and runner-up, and checks for the purse money divided 70-30 between the winning handlers. John figured they'd split about $8,000—a lot of money by field-trial standards (if paltry by the standards of stock-car racing, another deep-south passion).

When the pleasant three-mile ride through the pines ended at the clubhouse, the three men climbed down stiffly from atop the truck and unbuckled their chaps.

"John, can we borrow your station wagon a minute, and how about joining us," Judge Post said. Soon John had the engine started, and the air conditioner on full blast. When the afternoon's accumulation of heated air had been dissipated, he pressed the buttons to roll up the windows, in the process capturing a dozen stable flies.

"I still like Willie's hour best," said Judge Post.

"And I've still got Edgeglider on top," said Judge Hilton.

John Bidwell sensed trouble. The two men were both strong willed and stubborn.

"How do you see it, John," Judge Post asked, hoping to get support for his view from his old friend and judging companion.

"I can't help you gentlemen," said John. "I'd call those two dogs dead even. Both had three finds, good wide races, accurately located their birds, no faults in their bird work."

For the next fifteen minutes the two judges discussed the races of the dogs in detail, each pointing out the nuances of his pick's performance that he believed superior, the other dog's little shortcomings as he saw them.

"I guess there's just no choice but a callback unless tomorrow morning's dogs perform a miracle for us," Judge Post finally said. Hilton nodded agreement.

"Boys, are you sure you want a callback?" John said, trying to convey his concern. Everyone hated callbacks, especially judges and handlers. They seldom solved things satisfactorily. The handlers here were all anxious to get down the road to their next trial—the Continental or the Free-For-All—or back home somewhere in Georgia, Alabama or one of the Carolinas.

This time there was another good reason why a callback would be undesirable, but of the three men in the station wagon, only John Bidwell knew it.

Whiparound Willie and Edgeglider were the pride and joy of handlers Bobby Waters and Skip Rudy. Seven years old now, the two dogs had been steady winners for the young men the last four years. Both were high in the Purina Points standings. The dogs were full brothers, littermates in fact, raised by Ollie Brown, a Virginia farmer known for breeding quality big running dogs.

What John Bidwell knew that the two judges didn't come from his memory of the American Field Quail Futurity five years earlier. John had been a judge of that time-honored stake for the year's most promising derbies.

Willie and Edgeglider had been braced together in that futurity. Upon release at the breakaway, the two brothers had sprinted for the front, caught sight of one another and launched a mutual attack. In the ensuing attempt to break up the melee, Bobby and Skip had both been dog bitten, fortunately not seriously. Once separated, the two dogs had been withdrawn from the contest. Neither dog had since shown a desire to fight any other dog at a trial. Whenever a drawing was held on the circuit, Bobby and Skip prayed that the dogs would not be drawn braced together. Fortunately, their luck had held until now, but if the judges insisted on a callback, John Bidwell knew what the result would be. A dog that has once fought another will remember it to his dying day, and if he ever sees the dog again, he will attack. Dogs are faithful, unforgetting haters.

Of the two-hundred-odd folks attending this year's Deep South Championship, only John Bidwell, Bobby and Skip and their scouts, and one other man, knew of the problem between Willie Edgeglider. John considered enlightening the judges, but decided that would be indiscreet.

When the two judges completed their conference in the station wagon, they looked up Hubble Spiers into the clubhouse. They asked him to notify Bobby and Skip to be available for a callback heat next morning following the final heat. Hubble found the handlers tending to their strings of dogs and gave them the word. Each groaned “Oh no,” which puzzled Hubble; he thought they’d be glad to know that their dogs were in contention for the title and a share of the purse.

John Bidwell was both bemused and worried by his secret knowledge of the Willie-Edgeglider problem. As he enjoyed a Scotch in the clubhouse with his old friend Hubble, the one other man who knew of the problem asked to speak with him alone.

His highball finished, John Bidwell looked up Bobby and Skip, now at the horse lot taking care of their mounts.

“How ‘bout if I buy you two supper tonight?” John asked.

The two young men said sure. John agreed to pick them up at the motel at 7:30.

After a long soak in the tub at the big house, as Hubble’s shooting lodge was called, John drove into Thomasville. Bobby and Skip, dressed in fresh Levi’s, western shirts and cowboy boots, awaited him in the motel’s office. He drove them to a nearby steakhouse and asked the hostess for a back corner table.

John had known the two handlers all their lives. Each was the son of handler, and in the tradition of the craft, had apprenticed under his father. They had spent every summer of their lives on Canadian prairies, Bobby in Manitoba, Skip in Saskatchewan, from July through mid-September. By the time they were ten, they were part of the horseback training crews. They were fierce rivals now, as their fathers had been, but while they gave no quarter in the heat of battle, they respected one another’s abilities.

After the orders were placed, John opened the conversation.

“Boys, I guess you’re wondering why I invited you here tonight. First of all, I wanted a chance to ask you about your daddies and mommas.” Both handlers reported their parents were doing well. Then John said,

“O.K. boys, what are you going to do if Willie and Edgeglider are called back in the morning?”

The two handlers looked at one another. They had not suspected John Bidwell knew of the problem.

“I was judging at the Futurity, remember,” John said with a grin.

“Truth is, we don’t know what to do,” Bobby finally said.

“What if I had a solution—would you give me a hundred dollars each for it?”

Bobby and Skip were flabbergasted. Surely John Bidwell wasn’t proposing to bribe the judges... Again they looked at one another. Then each put $100 in bills on the table.

John pulled a quarter from his pocket and flipped it.

“Call it, Bobby, you’re the oldest as I recall.”

“Heads,” said Bobby.

John lifted his palm from the coin. It showed a tail.

John then told the young men the solution to their dilemma.

When the last two dogs had run their hour next morning, with results that did not change the standings, Judge Post announced the callback of Whiparound Willie and Edgeglider.

Bobby Waters approached the judges, his hat in hand.

“Gentleman,” he said, “I’m afraid Willie ain’t up to runnin’ this mornin’. Seems to have developed soreness in his right shoulder.”

The judges looked at one another and then at John Bidwell.

“Let’s have a conference,” Judge Post said, and the three men rode to the shade of a live oak.

“What the hell do we do now?” Judge Post asked his two companions. Judge Hilton had no answer.

“I have no vote, of course,” said John Bidwell, “but it seems to me the logical thing is to give the Championship to Edgeglider, the runner-up to Willie. They clearly had the two best performances you saw, and if you use another dog for either placement you’ve rewarded a poorer job.”

“I think you’re right,” said Judge Post; Hilton nodded agreement.

Back at the clubhouse, Hubble Spiers thanked the judges, marshals, reporter, cooks and wranglers and then announced:

“Ladies and gentlemen, this year’s runner-up in the Deep South Championship is Whiparound Willie, handled by Bobby Waters, and our new champion is Edgeglider, handled by Skip Rudy.”

Applause followed as Spiers handed out the checks and flash bulbs popped. The dogs were brought in and posed on table tops for pictures, the handlers careful to pose them with heads in opposite directions.

After the announcement, Skip Rudy wrote Bobby Waters a check so that the two handlers split the winner and runner-up money evenly, perhaps a first in field trials. As the two handlers loaded their rigs for departure, John Bidwell called them to him under a pine.

“Boys, I guess you’re wondering what I’m going to do with your $200. You see that fellow over there?” John pointed across the parking area to an elderly black man who for as long as anyone could remember had worked for Hubble Spiers as dog trainer, hunting guide and scout for Hubble’s field trial string. His name was High Beam Washington. (Rufus was his real first name, but everyone except him had forgotten that; he acquired his nickname from his uncanny ability to spot a dog on point in heavy cover.)

“High Beam was at the Futurity that year too—matter of fact he scouted the winner. He remember the fight between Willie and Edgeglider. He’s the one who came up with the solution, and I’m giving him your $200 as a little “thank you” for saving this trial from mediocrity and you two from disaster.”

With that Bobby and Skip each reached for his wallet and pulled out another $50 to add to High Beam’s gratuity.

MEMBERS OF THE AMERICAN BRITTANY CLUB

Give the gift of a new membership... to give the opportunity to someone to learn about and participate in the American Brittany Club.

This membership campaign is really quite simple, we are asking every member to donate/sponsor a membership in the American Brittany Club. This "gifted" membership might be to a puppy purchaser, or a friend/acquaintance who has a Brittany. All of us encounter people who may just need a little encouragement to become members.

This can work, but it is totally dependent upon your support. Please use the ABC application form in the back of the magazine to enroll a new member today. You may donate/sponsor multiple new memberships. The names of new members & ABC sponsors will be published in the magazine on a quarterly basis.

THIS IS OUR CHANCE TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE!
