Objective and Purpose:

To promote cooperation and friendship among the breeders and owners of Brittanys and to encourage higher standards in breeding, training and showing of Brittanys in the field and in the show ring; to discourage the breed from becoming split into groups of "field dogs" and "show dogs" and to strive to keep it forever a "dual dog".

TRAININ' DOGS

with Rick Smith

Stand Still

If we had to choose one thing that is the very foundation of all the training we do, we'd have to choose teaching a dog to "stand still." Standing still means being motionless while calm, focused, and quiet, and not just freezing for a second or two while quivering with nervous energy.

The bulk of learning takes place while a dog is still. Why? Because in order to learn, a dog has to be receptive to learning, and that means being able to focus on the lesson without being distracted. Any dog that is jumping around, barking, pushing, running in circles around you, or lunging at the end of a lead isn't going to be learning much. It's a lot like a class of grade school kids: There's a reason they're supposed to sit still at their desks during lessons. One rowdy child can distract the entire class, and then nobody is paying attention to the teacher or the lesson.

Throughout a dog's life, there are many things that require standing still in addition to being able to learn. A dog can't point a bird if he can't be patient and stand still. A dog can't honor another dog's point if he can't be still. Even on a retrieve, it's hard to receive a bird from a dog that won't stand still long enough to deliver it to your hand. If a dog is jumping around and out of control at the beginning of the hunt, trial, or test, the trial or hunt is likely to reflect that and be less successful. In day-to-day life, or dogs need to be still and calm, whether it's during training, riding in a vehicle, or living in the house. Nobody appreciates a dog that's bouncing off the windows in the truck, running through doorways at high speed, and knocking stuff off the coffee table.

Your vet will appreciate being able to examine your dog while he stands still, too. A dog that is trying to crouch down, lean on you, push his head in your face, or struggle to get away is hard to examine. A dog that stands quietly, allowing you to pick up a paw or look in an ear without moving makes life a lot easier. When you have guests, wouldn't it be great to have your dog stand quietly instead of jumping on them and begging for attention? And just imagine how nice it would be to have your dog stand calmly at the door so that you can wipe the mud off his paws before letting him in the house?

We've established so far that standing still is a good thing, but how do we get there? It starts when you bring that cute seven-week-old puppy home, or even earlier if the breeder begins when they're born. Puppies love to be played with and picked up and held. The problem starts when their short attention span kicks in. Thirty seconds after being picked up, the puppy squirms and wiggles because he wants to be let down. If we comply, the puppy learns at a young age that struggling and wiggling get results and will continue to move and wiggle and struggle to get his way. The fix is an easy one: Pick the puppy up, hold him, and when he starts to struggle, keep gently but firmly holding him in your arms until he calms down. Only put the puppy back on the ground when he is relaxed and still. Through repetition, the pup will learn to be still.

Another good time to teach standing still is when a jumps up on you to get attention. Don't pet the dog when he jumps up, since that rewards the negative behavior. Only pet him when he's standing or sitting still. How on earth, you ask, are you going to get that energetic puppy to stand still long enough to be petted? By being patient and waiting for him to calm down. He will repeat whatever behavior gains your attention, and it's up to you to decide what that will be. When he does stand still, don't expect that moment to last longer than a few seconds, but be quick to reward the behavior. Since dogs enjoy being touched and petted, they'll quickly learn that standing still earns them our hands. From the dog's perspective he probably thinks he's

This group of dogs learned to stand still on the chain gang - that's the only way they'll be unclipped so they can get to work.

Rick Smith has spent a lifetime breeding, training, and handling National Championship bird dogs. His highly popular training seminars teach the "Silent Command System" to dog owners world-wide. During hunting season, Rick can be found on the Mariposa Ranch in south Texas.

Sharon Potter has a strong background in animal behavior, and has been training both horses and dogs for many years, with several National titles to her credit. She is an avid hunter and archer, and in her spare time is working on the first of a series of books on bird dog training with Rick Smith.

A dog can't learn to be patient and point a bird if he can't be still.

trained us to pet him when he stands still. That's exactly what we want him to believe!

An excellent route to teaching a dog to stand still is using the chain gang. A dog restricted on the chain can't do more than stand up and turn around, and he learns to give in and be patient. He also learns that the only way you'll approach him, touch and pet him, and take him off the chain is if he stands completely still. This is pretty easy to accomplish if you tune in to the dog and only take a step toward the him when he is standing still, and take a step away if he moves. Since the dog wants our touch, he soon figures out that standing still brings us closer, while moving, jumping around, and complaining makes us get farther away.

The hardest part of this exercise happens when we finally get within touching range; that's when a dog can get overexcited and come unglued. At that point, we have to step away to prevent the dog from reaching us and wait for him to become calm again. The dog that is jumping around and anxious is not accepting us. Rather, that dog is making demands: Hey! You get over here right now and take me off this chain and pet me! If we give in to those demands, the dog learns to use that behavior to get his way and will do so in the future. If we're patient, however difficult that may be, and wait until the dog calms down, he can begin to understand what he has to do to make us come near and pet him. From there it's a short step to the dog becoming still and calm whenever we come up to him or put our hands on him.

If your dog spends time in a crate, whether in the house or in a vehicle, then make sure he is calm and still before you open the door. A dog that is pawing at the door is making demands of you, and if you give in to that, the dog is in charge. Wait for the dog to calm down. You should be able to open the door and have him stand there waiting for permission to exit. If the dog tries to rush the door, close it on him just as he starts to move toward the opening. It only takes a few repetitions of this before the dog hesitates as the door opens, and then you can give whatever cue you want to use to allow him to get out.

If your dog lives in the house, you'll have multiple opportunities every day to work on "stand still." Simple things, such as going through the door to go outside, require standing still until released. If your dog is one that tries to rush past you through doorways, it's a simple matter to cut the dog off by using your leg to block. Use whatever command you want to release the dog once he is standing there waiting and watching you.

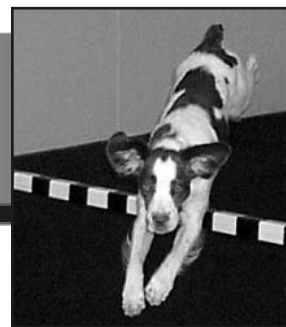

Feeding time is another opportunity. Don't put the feed dish down until the dog is standing still, and then release him to eat. Food is a resource, and whoever controls the resources controls the pack. When your dog learns to be still, looks to you, and waits to be released, this is likely to carry over into work afield because you've established the behavior on a daily basis at home.

Eventually, standing still will be tested in the field, on birds, and you'll be able to reinforce it with the "whoa" training you've done in preparation. Training a dog to hold steady on point and to honor another dog's point are the goals in the field, and having a dog that will stand still in other situations makes this training much easier. The more your dog understands what you expect before you get to that stage, the better off you'll both be. You won't find a prettier picture than a pointing dog locked up like a marble statue, scent flowing through his nose and every muscle quivering – but he can't hold that point if he won't stand still.

PUPPY NOSEWORK SUCCESSES

By Carla Simon

As the end of a year approaches, many families are planning ahead for bringing home a new puppy. As I received a request to explain how to introduce scenting to puppies, this article will cover how to set your puppy up for success when introducing nosework.

Nosework is a sport that uses similar techniques to those employed to teach dogs to detect narcotics or explosives. It's a race to find a legal substance. And it's a great way to provide mental and physical exercise.

While this article focuses on training puppies for the sport of nosework (also known as scent detection), this method is complementary to scenting in obedience, tracking and hunting. It results in many successful, systematic searches, so the puppy is always right. With this solid motivational foundation, challenges are introduced much later, when the dog already notices what to do, so ideally they won't even notice distractions. Instead of trying to make your puppy find things, this method teaches puppies that finding target scent is so fun, there's nothing they'd rather do.

When Can We Start Nosework?

As soon as your puppy loves a food reward, you can introduce scenting. If puppies are still eating gruel, or food isn't well digested, then it's better to wait until food is truly rewarding. If you're taking a class or training in a training facility, your puppy should have its second set of vaccinations, to mitigate the risk of serious infections.

So you may be able to start training your puppy to do a systematic search to find food at 8 weeks, and progress to searching for a target odor as early as 12-16 weeks. Having said that, most of the techniques described here may also be helpful for introducing scent work to dogs of any age. Even most disabled dogs can learn to love nosework when you set them up for success and natural hunting drive kicks in.

Setting Up for Success – Create the Right Environment

Ideally, puppies should be started on a harness. Comfortflex harnesses are very popular, but you can use any harness that is meant to encourage pulling, such as tracking harnesses. A non-pull harness is not suitable.

If you don't have a harness, you can use a buckle collar. But then your puppy will be practicing pulling on leash, which is probably an undesirable habit. Pressure on the collar may discourage the puppy from driving ahead with enthusiasm and drive, and also may irritate their throat, neck and spine if they hit the end of the leash and torque their neck sideways.

Use a long leash, of 6-10 feet, attached to the harness ring on the middle of their back.

You'll need lots high-value, delicious, non-crumbling food. It should be a special reward, reserved only for making nosework hugely rewarding and exciting.

It's critically important that your puppy is hungry when you introduce nosework. Ideally, do not feed your puppy until after your nosework training session. Or, if you feed twice a day, you can give a reduced amount of breakfast early in the day, several hours before training, so that the pup feels hungry when you train nosework in the evening.

Ideally, train in a distraction free area of your home where the puppy doesn't usually have access. With just a few, heavily rewarding sessions, the room and the harness become cues to the puppy that he will be doing nosework. Much like your routine before going on a walk, he'll start to anticipate nosework and increase motivation for searching.

If the puppy is hesitant in the environment, allow him to check the area out before you begin. Once the puppy will take the food from your hand, try offering the food inside a food bowl. Use a non-slip, small bowl (with a rubber or silicone bottom). If the puppy isn't diving into the bowl after a few tries, don't proceed with training. You need to make the rewards irresistible, by changing your environment, whether it needs fewer distractions, hungrier, more alert puppy (prior to exercise), or more attractive food, etc. For example, most hungry puppies respond well to rotisserie chicken that you can purchase from the grocery store.

If the puppy wanders away, please put him on leash to prevent that.

Set up the training room and have your rewards ready in your pocket before you bring in the puppy. Ideally, you should have 8 sets of plastic drawers, set up side by side, so they form an L shape on the floor. The photo shows wide puppy drawers mixed with vertical cardboard boxes with holes for more advanced nosework searches. (If your exuberant puppy moves the entire set of drawers, you can put a weight in the back of each. I use 10 lb workout dumbbells.)

Initially the drawers should be pulled out all the way and rest on the floor so they won't shut on the puppy when he moves in. (If you can't pull the drawers out, use clothespins on the top of both sides of the drawers to prevent it from sliding in and catching the pup's head.) Wooden dressers with short wide drawers would be ideal for their stability. We tend to use a more portable, cheaper solution that we can eventually bring to classes. Be creative and use whatever's available.

At first, puppies should wait very close to the closest drawer (i.e. 1-3 feet away), so they can watch you hide the food bowl in the closest drawer, and dive in with confidence!

For beginners, we want a high rate of reinforcement without significant challenges, so the search is fast and success is assured. So you'll take the bottom drawer out of each set and place it on the ground.

While this method of introducing scent work requires a lot of space and effort to set up, the advantage is that it's very easy to teach quickly and once the dog understands how to find odor, you can quickly move to searches in other locations, with only your puppy's harness, leash, rewards and hidden odor.

You'll be placing the food bowl into the drawer closest to the start line. You may need to place some books underneath to raise the bowl up far enough that when the puppy puts his front 2 feet into the drawer, he can instantly grab the food reward.

Help Getting Started

For the first several sessions, it's really important to get a helper to hold the puppy's leash while you show him where you're hiding the food. If you're lucky enough to have a training buddy, training is so much easier! (If no helper is available, you can tether the puppy nearby, within sight, so he can watch you hide the food. Then you can run back to the leash and release him to search. But slowing down the process like this may cause him to lose attention).

Spend a while making a playful game of tempting the puppy by putting the bowl full of food in front of him, while the helper holds him back. Then make a bang sound by putting the food onto the ground. As soon as your helper hears the bang, he should release the puppy and the puppy should drive forward to get the food. Repeat several times.

Next, you'll bang the food as you place it into the drawer (perhaps raised on top of books). The helper should always hold back the puppy, but gives slack when they hear the bang so the puppy can drive forward to get the food in the drawer. When the puppy is approaching the food, we assume he's smelling it and give verbal praise, such as "Good boy. You found it"! If the puppy isn't shy, move to the bowl and place additional treats there, one at a time. After 2 or 3 extra rewards for staying at the target odor, take the bowl away to signal the exercise is over. Repeat restraint, placing food in the closest drawer, search and reward several times until the puppy is driving to the food instantly.

Once the puppy is driving to the food bowl when he watches you bang it into the closest drawer, it's time to move the puppy out of sight. We create a barrier using a sheet draped over an agility jump, but use whatever's available. Place the barrier just a few feet from the closest drawer. Your helper should take the puppy behind the barrier, while you silently place the bowl in the same drawer. This is called a blind search, since the puppy didn't see you hide the bowl. Tell your helper when you're ready. So the puppy has no longer seen where you placed the food bowl. When the helper brings the puppy out from behind the barrier, pretend you have food in your hand and place it very close to the puppy's nose. Then tease him by pretending to bang food into the food bowl. On the sound of the bang, the helper releases the puppy and he should move forward to the usual (closest) drawer. For some puppies, this may be long enough for a training session. It's better to have short, hugely motivating sessions that trying to advance quickly and resulting in a puppy who's unsure about what to do. Call it a day and next time, your puppy will probably be going to the reward faster than the first time.

If your puppy is driving forward and has energy to spare, then it's time to progress. When the puppy is hidden out of sight behind the barrier, hide the food bowl in the second drawer. Ask your helper to bring the pup out, pretending food is in your hand, place your hand near the puppy's nose and then bang that hand into the closest drawer. Up till now we always hid the food in the first drawer, and the puppy has been rewarded heavily for driving to that drawer. So he'll drive to that drawer and find nothing there. Usually puppies look to their handler, as if asking what to do. It's critically important to wait him out. Do nothing and say nothing. Don't look at the puppy, as that may already cue obedience behaviors such as looking up and focusing on you. Just wait. After a pause, most puppies will move to the bowl in drawer #2. When the puppy comes anywhere near to drawer number 2, have a huge party! Offer verbal praise and several rewards before you pick up the bowl and take it away.

If the puppy did well, repeat the search in drawer #2. If the puppy was very hesitant, go back to putting the food in drawer #1 so the search is easier.

Often in the same session, most puppies show a willingness to move on. Without prompting, they check drawers #3 or 4. That indicates the puppy is ready to progress. You can then do a blind search of drawer #3. Note that regardless of where you hide the food bowl, you will tease the puppy and make the banging noise in drawer #1. This becomes a cue to do the search. You can take this cue anywhere to motivate the puppy to search.

If your puppy has a very long attention span and is very drivey, you may be able to do 20 short blind searches in a row, ending with hiding the food in the bowl in the final drawer. If so, be proud and enjoy that you accomplished introducing a systematic search for scent in a fun and motivating way.

How Do We Progress?

Gradually, you would hide a tin containing a cotton swab with a target odor (such as Birch essential oil) next to the bowl with food in it. This paired hide would form a positive association. The puppy would start to realize that finding the target odor is associated with rewards. And finally, the puppy would find the target odor without any food present, and in turn you would then reward the puppy by delivering food at the target odor.

In the same way, you can use this technique to hide a sock or glove that smells like the handler, and reward the puppy for finding the handler's scent. You can choose any scent you desire as the target odor. But whatever you choose, it's clearest to stick with the same scent until your dog becomes proficient, before adding other odors and confusing the process.

If your puppy was hesitant, it may be that you need to make the environment more conducive to success. Or your puppy simply learns slower. By all means, don't push or rush. You must go at the puppy's speed and always keep your sessions rewarding. You'll be amazed at how a shy or fearful pup becomes hugely motivated to do nosework in just 2 or 3 sessions.

One of the key differences in introducing puppies to nosework is that they tend to have shorter attention spans. But at the same time, puppies are like a sponge and often ready to learn. Smell is one of the first senses to develop. Long before puppies can see or hear their mother, they smell her and find her in order to find their food. Once your puppy learns to associate target odors with rewards from you, he will easily and quickly build upon that behavior. Enjoy your nosework together, and your puppy will grow into a sure, enthusiastic scent detection dog.

Recipe Request Box

It's that time of year again and the growing season has come and gone. So tell me, what did you do with all of your vegetables to keep them over the winter? Fran from CT is looking for an easy tomato sauce recipe that she can freeze. Does anyone have a good recipe that she could use? Fran has been a longtime member of the Southern New England Brittany Club. She and her husband always have a rather large garden, and we all know what that means.....lots of tomatoes. Let's help Fran out! Send me the recipe that you use for tomato sauce.

2014 ABC Open Gun Dog Championship

The 2014 National Open Gun Dog Championship had an entry of 59 dogs. The weather was good for running dogs. There was one fog delay but everything ran on schedule.

The banner was a big success and looked great in front of the clubhouse! Thank you to all who made a donation to the trophy fund.

The judges for this year's National Open Championship were Ray Trimble from Illinois and Tom O'Malley from Indiana. Both judges have been in pointing breeds for many years and have traveled over numerous states. They were looking forward to seeing good running dogs handling kindly with intense style on their birds. Their expectations were exceeded with high caliber dogs.

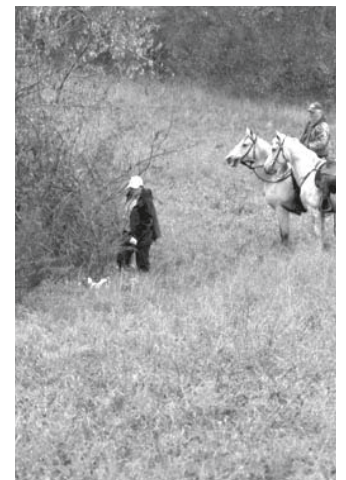

Thank you to our sponsors Purina and Garmin/Tritronics. Purina fuels many of the competitors and provides financial support for the event along with bags of dog food for all entries. The winners received Pro-Plan dog food, an electronic training collar and a trooper saddle hand tooled and crafted from Kevin Parish, The Saddle Guy. There were trophies, plaques and saddle bags awarded to the placing dogs.

Thanks to the Field Trial Chairman, John Perry and his wife Joanne for serving as the Field Trial Secretary. Members of the Field Trial Committee were Al Cropek, Jim Hammett, Diana Kubitz, Charles Langstaff and Joseph Sikorski. Joe Sikorski also served as the Stakes Manager and organized the Marshals and the important donuts and coffee on the dog wagon. Thank you Ron Gulembo for stepping in to be the Course Marshall fulfilling the role after Will Langley had a mishap at the barn. Thank you to all who volunteered for marshalling, Chuck Langstaff for the dog wagon, Jim Johnson and Leslie Hunt for handling the Calcutta and auction, the many bird planters extraordinaire and the countless others who jumped in to volunteer their efforts and knowledge. Thank you Deb Smelt for your support. The grounds committee did a fantastic job. The grounds were beautiful. Will and Kathy Langley of Bottom Creek Farm in Attica, MI. provided gaited horses

There were several events that took place. Monday there was a ride around of the courses. That night was the welcome dinner catered by Olivera's followed by the

He didn't fail to impress. Bandit had style and plenty of intensity.

Third place was presented to FC AFC Emma Tayshon (Emma) from brace 17, handled by Jim Carter. Emma had a nice run and handled kindly. With impeccable manners, she scored four finds and had good gun dog range.

Awarded fourth place was FC AFC Jalo's Speck Tacular (Speck), brace 20, handled by Jim House. Speck ran forward, hunted with a purpose and was rewarded with clean bird work. As Speck ended the hour, he was to the front going away.

Calcutta. Breakfast and lunches were catered by Amy Gregory of Steele Street Hall Gregory's Catering. Tuesday after the first days running Purina catered the Magnum's Masked Man award. Thank you Bob Burchett for presenting the award and congratulations to Richard Beaver and his dog Beaver's Straight Arrow. Wednesday was the winner's dinner, Cindy and Al Cropek for High Hopes Dark Nite. We all had a delicious and romantic dinner by candlelight. Thank you Al and Cindy! Thursday was the Tri-tronics Award Dinner. This award was presented to Augustus of Tiger, owner Bo Ackerman. Friday night's social dinner was catered by Olivera's.

Thank you once more to our sponsors, the competitors, the gallery that was shared by horses and personal assist devices, and to everyone who volunteered; we greatly appreciate all that you did to make the event successful and fun. We want to throw a GREAT BIG HELLO out to Leah and her family! We all missed you!

Day 1 – Tuesday, October 21, 2014. Frost on the ground and early mist, then it stayed cloudy with cool temperatures; perfect for running dogs.

BRACE 1: FC MARJO'S LEFTOVER (HALEY) – DANIELLE PERRY AND NGDC FC AFC HIGH HOPE'S DARK NITE (JOE) – AL CROPEK. Both dogs broke away strong up the hill. Haley swung wide to the left then through the chute and took a right, heading towards Hires Field where she caught Joe. At 10 minutes, point was called for Joe at a tree mott (grassy area with trees) on the right hand side of the hedgerow. As we come around the tree mott, point was called for Haley on the opposite side. Al flushed the bird for Joe and with good manners they moved on. Danielle pointed the bird out running through the thicket and flushes. Haley was also moved on with good manners. Joe had a second find in Hires Field with good intensity. As we exited Hires Field on the left-hand corner of the tree line, point was signaled for Joe's third find with everything in order and nice style, Joe was released and continued his run. Find number four was called for Joe on the right-hand side of the bowl before the Boy Scout Bridge. He was standing well off his bird for another good find with style. Haley continued forward and Joe caught her as they went over and down Cardiac Hill. Both dogs were reaching forward and moving strong. Joe went to the left on the tree line and point was called. With a relocation, the bird was produced and

The winners:

NGDC FC AFC High Hopes Dark Nite, handled by Al Cropek, Jr. Joe set the bar early in the first brace of the running. His style, forward run and intensity on his bird work were consistent from the break away to the end of the hour. He displayed the caliber of a national champion and was rewarded with the reigning title National Open Gun Dog Champion for a second consecutive year.

Brace 21 brought this dog to win runner-up. FC Legacy's Pine Bandit (Bandit), handled by Jim Johnson. With a strong break away, multiple covey finds and lots of bird work, Bandit was put to the challenge.

Judges: Tom O'Malley and Ray Trimble

he was moved on. Haley was still motoring forward. At 55 minutes, Joe had another find on the right side of the Apple orchard, Al relocated him and Joe was rewarded with a find and a shot. Joe was released and hit point one more time with style and good manners.

BRACE 2: FC AFC HAP'S SPICE RUM LUKE BECKHAM (BECKHAM) – JIM JOHNSON AND WILD MTN HEAD EM UP – MOVE EM OUT (ROWDY) – BOB BURCHETT. The dogs were released on the other side of the dike, going through the first cut and working the cover. Early in the brace, Rowdy was picked up for chasing a bird. At 20 minutes point was called for Beckham on the tree line. A covey lifted and Beckham looked nice and mannerly. Beckham had his second in the next field on the right-hand side of the hill. At the Derby Field, Beckham swapped ends at the corner tree line for his third find. Beckham was hunting the cover and at 40 minutes in the orchard Bob signaled point for another find. As we came into the Big Oak field at 50 minutes, Beckham was standing on the edge of the hedge row where feathers were found. Bob handled the dog around the field nicely and time was called.

BRACE 3: AFC HIT'S A ROCKY ROAD (ROCKY) – JUDY KIRACOFE AND NAGDC FC AFC SPRING HILL'S HOT WHEELS (WHEELS) – JOHN BELL. As they broke away, Wheels took the edge and worked the cover.

Rocky was heading down the edge. At 10 minutes, Wheels hit point and stood nicely off the tree line. John fired and moved him on. Rocky was hunting the objective in the next field as Wheels hunted the tree line and John called point at 35; the birds were up and shot fired. Wheels had a third find with Rocky backing. As we headed to the quarry, John called point #4 for Wheels on the left side of the tree line. As Rocky came around the corner he chose not to back and was out of contention at 45 minutes. Wheels handled the bird and continued forward. Once again, point was called in the Quarry. Wheels was standing in the area of the tree motts on the right-hand side of the quarry. As John released Wheels, he slammed point at the fence for number 6 with a nice clean find. Wheels was released and stopped hard in the field, but John could not produce the bird after a long hard flushing attempt and relocation. As we moved through the quarry on the fence line, point was called with everything in order and shot fired. One last point was called along the hedgerow with bird work and time was called.

BRACE 4: FC AFC MORNINGSIDE BEAU FORTUNE (BENDER) – GARY GUZ AND WILD MTN'S MIDNIGHT RENDEZVOUS (JOSEY) – BOB BURCHETT. Bender reached to the front while Josey was closer hunting the cover. Nine minutes into the brace Bender established point in Hires Field on the left side at the large mott. Birds were up and shot fired. Both dogs were through the cut and on the right side of the tree line hunting. At 20 minutes at the back end of Hires Field, Josey was standing and the bird came down in front of her, with a hard mark she was up. # A SPORTSMAN'S RAMBLINGS

by Marty Garrell

Another Monday morning at the desk, and we're catching our collective breath after another hectic, but enjoyable field trial weekend. As soon as we're finished unloading dogs, horses, and gear, we'll organize everything so we can head off in a couple of weeks to the next distant trial to test our own pointing dogs and watch (or judge) others run theirs.

Field trialing has an emotional appeal that keeps trialers in the game for a lifetime. Jan's father purchased his first Brittany from a Kansas kennel back in the 1950s, helped found a club in the Chicago area, and began attending trials not long afterwards. Hunting with him for years, Jan caught the competitive "bug", and I got pulled in even before we married. Except for a decade in the 90s, when we had logistical problems getting to trials, we've trialed ever since. One thing you learn pretty quickly is that trial dogs, trained well, make superior hunting dogs, thanks to their manners in the field. The reasons for staunch points, releases only on definitive commands to find other birds, locate downed birds or retrieve birds to hand--the reasons for these field manners are apparent to any experienced hunter or guide.

Contests for pointing dogs have been run by individuals and clubs for some 140 years, ever since setter and pointer owners competed for prizes and pride on Southern plantations (quail), on northern prairies (native prairie chicken and, later, pheasants), and in eastern and Midwestern woodlots (ruffed grouse and woodcock). As native wild birds became more scarce, beginning 80-90 years ago, trialers began to work more and more with birds raised specifically for the competitive events. Except for a few "wild bird trials" or "cover dog trials", pen-raised quail, chukar partridge, and pheasant are now set out during trials for adult dogs to find and point. (Note: there are separate trials for retrievers and flushing spaniels as well, and so-called hunting tests are just as popular as the trial game.)

Adult pointing dogs in Gun Dog, Shooting Dog or All-Age stakes are expected to work in smart, forward ground patterns with continuous drive and desire, point birds hard and in a stylish fashion (think "standing like a stone wall" with head and tail erect as if posing for a classic painting!) until the handler arrives to walk up and flush the bird. In a non-retrieving stake, a blank pistol is fired and the standing dog is led off before being sent on to hunt for another bird. In a retrieving stake, gunners try to kill the flushing bird, and the dog waits for a command to retrieve the fallen bird to hand. Perfect manners show the dog is "steady to wing and shot". Juvenile "derby" dogs point their birds with lesser manners, though their ground pattern is judged the same way, while puppies over six months but less than 15 are judged on ground pattern alone and have no birds set out on their courses. Interesting things take place in real trial situations. We've seen many derby dogs with admirable adult manners, and just last weekend, we judged a puppy stake where a few youngsters had lovely steady finds on some woodcock that had drifted in the night before.

Field trial clubs always welcome newcomers and spectators. Many of the stakes at trials are run with handlers, judges and observers on horseback, and wranglers bring rental horses. If you've had a little riding experience, try to ride, because you see the panorama much better when you're eight feet off the ground! For years trialers would climb on these gaited, calm walking horses wearing nothing more than their usual hunting apparel, boots and hats included. Today, more and more field trialers wear riding helmets and riding boots for safety! It's hard to walk behind a horseback "gallery", but it can be done if conditions are dry and the brace you're watching isn't a "barnburner". Rugged hiking boots are important, and, as anyone in the East knows, tick repellent, liberally applied to both skin and apparel, is part of everyday hiking in fields and woods. Because many courses loop around the field trial areas, you can often see quite a bit of the trial through field glasses once you figure out where on the perimeter you should stand. Trialers are generous folks who love to talk about their canines, and the traditional "happy hours" or club dinners on Saturday nights are ideal for meeting them and talking "dogs". Incidentally, trials take place rain or shine!

ANTHRACITE
Freeland Kennel Club
Freeland, PA
November 8-9, 2014

The Anthracite Brittany Club held its annual Fall Field Trial at the Freeland Kennel Club, Freeland, PA on November 8-9, 2014. We had beautiful fall weather with cool (ok... Cold!) early morning temperatures that warmed steadily during the days to reach the middle 50s. We had a steady wind on Saturday that provided a challenge for even the most experienced dogs. Our entry was light this year totaling 48 dogs. But, even so, we managed to have enough entries in all three adult stakes to have majors for the winning dogs. Once again, Jimmy Wilkinson donated the "coal Brittany" trophies for the winners of the Amateur Walking Gun Dog and the Open Gun Dog.

Our potluck dinner was well attended as usual. Special thanks go to Terry Hillard for making a delicious Turkey dinner and Mary Ann Breininger for baking a variety of wonderful homemade pies and cakes for dessert. Thanks also go to everyone, club members and non-members alike, for their food donations. Your generosity is what makes our field trials so successful.

Thanks to everyone who attended, participated, and donated their time to our event. It takes an entire community to put on a trial and we really appreciate your help. Have a great winter and we will see you in the spring.

October 18-19, 2014

Putting a field trial together that will run the weekend just before the beginning of gun dog nationals, when many of the working members of the club are going to Michigan, is always a challenge but we managed to do it again! However, it would not have happened without the assistance of a number of key people. As always we sincerely appreciate the efforts of our judges, Mike Blondin from Vermont who stopped on his way to Michigan, as did Roger McPherson who also took on an additional stake when we had a judge cancel; Dan Rein & Troy Hoverter who came from eastern PA to lend a hand; John Poland who made the long trip from New Hampshire when asked and Ed Manifold who stepped in to judge the largest stake in the trial when Deb Zaktansky injured her knee and had to cancel. Sherry Johnson took charge of preparing lunches when asked and did a super job with the assistance of Mary Lauterbach and JoAnne Bell. Ed Lehosky & Steve Lauterbach prepared McEd's for breakfast with assistance from Mary Lauterbach and our visitor Leslie Hunt. Al Cropek picked up and delivered the birds and Jim Skorik, John Bell & Ed Lehosky planted birds during the trial. Our thanks as well to all those that donated food for dinner and anyone that helped that I may not have mentioned. The Lauterbach/Lehosky team had not planned to run this trial but we did and with all your help, we got it done!

Though rains through the week before the event made the grounds a little sloppy, we were treated to nearly perfect weather during the trial! And so the 2014 season at the PA Brittany Club came to a close. We look forward to seeing everybody in 2015 when will begin the 51st year of running dogs at the club grounds! (Editor's Note: Writeup received too late to publish with results printed in the December 2014 issue.)

ILLINOIS

Pyramid State Recreation Area
Pickneyville, IL
November 1-3, 2014

November brought sunny skies and strong winds to Southern Illinois. We won't mention the early morning frost because it did warm up nicely by the afternoon. Fortunately, the rain held off until Tuesday, after the running. The five days of mowing by Cha Hill and his staff with the help of Jim Lawless and Ed Graves paid off. Grounds are always wooly in the fall, especially with our active growing season this year, but we managed to find three good hour courses to utilize thanks to the farmers for being able to get most of the crops out before our trials. We also want to thank Kay and Jim Lawless for having the vision to add a pavilion to the "palace" to provide plenty of room to eat and visit.

We welcomed several "old timers" back (Wade Haines, Kim Marlatt, Stan Williamson, Joe Williams Tommy Thomas and the Janulis's) and were pleased to welcome first timer Laura Graham who managed to bring home her first blue ribbon in the Open Puppy with Trace. Also, Don Markiewicz got to ride his first all age braces to see his Gus dog bring home a yellow ribbon. On Saturday afternoon, we were happy to see Gary and Lou Ann Holland return after an all too long absence of 15 years. Meals were a community effort with Judy Graves, Maurine Richter, and Mary Jo Trimble working the galley. Ed Graves and Chad Holman did bird planting duties while Ray Trimble, Ed, Chad and Dave Capstick were the ever-present marshals. While small in numbers, all of the club members know his/her job and performs it well.

Our judges were all experienced and gave each dog the attention it deserved. We had well over 300 man-years of experience with our panel of Harry Gilmore, Allen Benson, Burton Wice, Joe Marlatt, Gene and Neveta Salmons, Dick Pulliam, John Burkhart, Wade Haines and Dave Capstick. Thank you all. Hope to see you in the spring.

We are most grateful to Nestle-Purina for their generous support.

SOUTHERN KANSAS

Oliver Ranch

Eureka, KS

October 17-23, 2014

This year we dedicated the grand Open Limited All Age stake to the memory of Jim Floyd. Everyone remembers how nice of a gentleman Jim was to everyone. The Jim Floyd memorial was won by Tom Tracy with FC Uncle Kracker. With a Great forward race and superb scouting from Tom Milam, Kracker was going to be hard to beat. This was like a repeat win, as Kracker won the Kansas Championship last fall.

Second place was won by Georgia's Texas Two Step, also handled by Tom Tracy. Third place went to Shady's Desert Knight handled by Scott Johnson. Fourth place went to Chancey's Frozen Assett handled by Tom Tracy.

Our Saturday evening dinner was also dedicated to Jim Floyd. When eating out, Jim liked to get a hamburger and a margarita. So we fixed gourmet burgers and had a frozen margarita machine on hand for the evening event. Jim also loved cookies. Thanks to Marge Johnson, we enjoyed a variety of cookies for all six days. Jim would have been happy that everyone had a great time!

Most field trials encounter some conflicts in getting handlers and dogs in the right place at the right time. Our trial was no exception with running five stakes on three courses at the same time over two days. What was an exception for our club was the number of conflicts that occurred this year. This not typical for our club and for that I apologize to all participants, judges and handlers, for whose patience may have been tested.

And finally, but not least, we are so thankful to be running on the Oliver Ranch. A big "Thank You" to Bill and Mary Lynn for allowing us to be able to host this event on such wonderful grounds!

TEXAS COASTAL
Boyd Ranch
Wortham, TX
November 7-9, 2014

Our fall trial was held again on grounds close to Mexia, TX, leased by the Four Corners Association for trials and training. The weather was cool in the mornings, overcast and cloudy during the days. Great weather for running dogs. Days prior to the trial, 2.5 inches of rain soaked the ground and the ponds on the property had plenty of water. Feeders and quail callers insured that we had plenty of bird work.

We are thankful that our friends with other pointing breeds came to support us. Of the 30 entries in this trial, one third of them were setters in the three stakes that we made! Judges E. J. and Kim Hall judged all the stakes and we thank them, too, for supporting us.

Club members Robert Power and Steve Hintzel worked their buns off running their dogs, saddling and unsaddling horses, managing the puppy scramble and handling any job that came up. Our loafing shed/kitchen and serving area was graced with Willo Barfield who cooked and served wonderful food all weekend. Breakfast in the morning, roasted turkey and ham, Santa Fe soup, Centerville sausage wraps, hot cheese dips, vegetable plates, hamburgers and her Keurig coffee maker served special coffee to everyone.

We couldn't have had a more enjoyable group of people all working together and celebrating the winners of this small but successful trial.

A huge "Thank You" to all who attended and helped put on the trial; we hope to see you again in January.

CALIFORNIA
Spanish Ranch
New Cuyama, CA
October 24-26, 2014

The California Brittany Club held their fall field trial at the historic Spanish Ranch in New Cuyama, CA. Dan and Pam Doiron graciously allow the club to use their beautiful ranch for our trial. The ranch is covered with oak trees and chaparral. We run a single course up and down Kelly Canyon, through the oak trees. The canyon sides range up to give the dogs the opportunity to show themselves on the hills. A road meanders up the canyon, so participants and visitors can ride the dog wagon and observe the action.

The ranch has a lovely cabana and kitchen that host the meals and gathering ... luxury for west coast field trials! So many club members were involved in food preparation and cleanup, but Joy Ory, Cindy Leffingwell, Margaret Horstmeyer, Mary Brown, Linda McDonald and Carolyn Cape spent time to be certain that the meal plans put together by Peggy Doiron were on time and delicious.

Saturday night was the annual Happy Hour to celebrate our club's dogs. Joy Ory took the reins to ensure that it was a savory success. We celebrated Mary Brown's and Shellie Sytsma's, DC Copely's Red River's new FC and DC titles, Jay and Alice Benoit's, FC Leona Valley's Annie Get Your Gun's new FC, Tim and Joy Ory's, FC Ory's Doc Holliday's new FC and Ed and Linda Dixon's, Kiger Hill's Louee for his 4th place at the 2013 National Open All Age.

Judges Ed Dixon, Joe Gower, Wayne Hale, Ellis Hertz and Lynn Merrell spent long hours in the saddle to judge our dogs through all sorts of weather from hot and sunny to chilly and windy as a storm moved into the area, hopefully bringing some much needed rain to the drought stricken area.

Ed Dixon, Paul Doiron, Joe Gower, Wayne Hale and Dan Doiron planted birds and drove the dog wagon. Dan Doiron's son, A.J. and Tim Ory stepped up and drove the dog wagon, as well.

Paul Doiron chaired another great trial, assisted ably by secretary, Myra-Dawn Ellis. We were tickled to have Jason Staley and his family come down from Idaho to run their string. Their one-year-old daughter is a scout and handler in the making! Also, from Idaho, old club members, Tom White and Margaret Horstmeyer trekked down to run their dogs. It was a great trial, with great food and time together with good friends, old and new, and our wonderful Brittanys.

Linda McDonald

ABC Specialty Shows

MINNESOTA Lake Elmo, MN August 8, 2014

The Minnesota Brittany Club held their specialty on August 22 with the St. Croix Valley Combined Specialties.

Our Sweepstakes judge, Pat Champagne, chose the littermates bred and owned by the Droel's as our winners. In the Veteran Sweepstakes she pulled the Brandon's girl Fancy for Best in Sweepstakes and Julie's multi-titled Pete for Opposite.

In the Regular Classes Chris Walkowicz carefully went over all the entrants and chose the Droel's Corvette for Best of Breed and their male for Opposite. Best of Winners, Winners Bitch and Best Puppy was the Droel's Alleluia, while Winners Dog went to Julie's young male Levi out of Pete.

Hannah Swanson was awarded Best Junior Handler.

Many thanks to all who helped put this together again this year – I couldn't do it without all the help. As always everyone had a good time at the potluck following the show. This year we brought back the raffle which was well received.

We hope to see everyone again next year and hope those who haven't come will come and join us!

October 20, 2014

This year marked our third annual Harvest Specialties that is a venue of combined specialties of Western Michigan Brittany Club and Michigan Brittany Club. WMBC's specialty was the first of the day and began at 9:00 a.m. at the Western Michigan Rifle and Pistol Club in Ionia, Michigan. Our judge was Ms. Charlene Rutar of Indiana and she presided over the judging of 28 Brittans.

Winner's Dog was Romence's Son Of A Gunn owned by Thomas & Lauren Hinnershitz and handled to Lauren who was very near her due date and gave birth during the gun dog championship! He was bred by Art & Julie Romence and is out of NAGDC/NGDC/FC/AFC Peter Gunn and Wrigley's Renegade Abbey. Winner's Bitch was Labyrinth NMR My Frist Taste of Champagne owned by Heather Michalke and show by Nickie Redick. She was bred by Karen Hanson and Nickie Redick out of GCH Magic Read My Lips and CH VEM Call Me Sassie Sue.

Best of Breed went to CH RiverMist Broxden Make Mynah Double, JH. Daniel is owned by Allyson Godfroid and Amy Booth and was shown by Phil Booth. Best of Winners went to Labyrinth NMR My First Taste of Champagne. Best of Opposite Sex was CH RiverMist Broxden Best I Feather Seen, JH. Macy is also owned by Allyson Godfroid and Amy Booth and shown by Kate Batzner.

She won both specialties and attained her GCH title! Macy is out of GCH Dual Lanes Cam JH and GCH Ataboys Dazzle Me Daphne, JH.

Lunch was served at the conclusion of the specialties so participants could head home early. We had a special celebration for the newest Dual Champion in our club: DC Anchor's Renegade Still N Suspense owned by Richard and Kathryn Lipski and bred by Diana Kubitz. We are very proud of Buddie Lynn and his field trainer Jimmy Johnson for finishing his field title that made him a dual!

Don't miss our spring specialty held in conjunction with our field trial in March or the Harvest Specialties next October!

Hunt Tests

WESTERN MICHIGAN

Ionia, MI

May 31, 2014

The Western Michigan Brittany Club has resumed its Hunt Test! It was a team effort to put on this event. On a beautiful Saturday afternoon we had 29 starters. The bird field had been mowed and pruned to perfection by club member Dick Lipski. Hunt Tests are for everyone-our youngest handler was 7-year-old Luke Czach and 79 year old John Marsman ran three dogs. We had seven women handlers, two from our club, Kathy Lipski and Becky Harris who qualified in Juniors. Thank you to all who entered and hope to see you next year!

MINNESOTA

Le Sueur, MN

September 27-28, 2014

The Minnesota Brittany Club successfully hosted its first AKC Hunt Test since 1991. Hunt Test volunteers partnered with the Twin Cities Vizsla Club to create a double-double Hunt Test Event weekend, creating the opportunity for a dog to earn a Junior Hunt Test title in just one weekend.

This was the first time a double hunt test was held at Caribou Gun Club and Hunting Preserve at Le Sueur, MN, which is one hour south of the Twin Cities. Each club ran all three stakes on a single field with the judges on horseback. The weather was surprisingly dry and warm for September 27-28 in Minnesota, reaching into the 80's. Everyone was invited to camp on the grounds and the Saturday evening potluck was well attended. The Minnesota Brittany club had 59 entries of which 9 entries were Brittany's. The Brittany's qualified on 5 MNBC Junior Hunter legs, and 1 MNBC Master Hunter leg. Combined with the qualifying legs in the TCVC hunt tests several Brittany's were able to earn their Junior Hunter titles this weekend.

Congratulations to the following Brittany's for receiving Qualifying scores: Sovereign's Beacon of Hope "Bo" handler Joe Droel earned his

Many "Thank you's" to Minnesota Brittany Club members, the judges, and friends who entered and volunteered. Special thank you to the Twin Cities Vizsla club for supporting us, and especially for all the help providing the water stations needed on the fields.

All About Appearance

Several years ago I was attending a local dog show event and naturally my focus was on the ring in which Brittany's were performing. Upon approaching the ring area it was noticed that there was a small group of spectators looking at one particular Brittany. It was then possible to observe why all the interest. Her color was unusual – not really orange and white, but almost a yellowish orange or lemon color. As the group then walked away one of them said, "Should that dog be allowed to compete, the color certainly is not what a Brittany should look like. The color just does not look right."

I stayed and talked with the owner engaging in some conversation. What I did learn was that his Brittany was a few months over four years old and a good hunting dog – steady to wing and shot, that she was the family's first Brittany, and that his son had picked the pup from a litter because of her unusual color compared to the other pups. The family had registered the little female Brittany with AKC and he had thought it would be a new experience taking her to a show event. Never heard of field trials and he was somewhat surprised at the spectator groups' reaction toward his beloved Brittany.

So what did this encounter tell me? Even though the color to some people may not have been "just right" the fact was the registration with AKC was all in order for the Brittany to compete in the show event. Further after talking with the owner it was apparent that his Brittany had all the characteristics of the breed – affectionate, biddable, stable disposition, and the dog could hunt.

So what is this appearance and color stuff all about? During the early Brittany years – mid-1930's and '40's – there was prejudice among Brittany owners regarding color. Dogs with orange/white and white/orange were much preferred. Other colors were not in favor. Several years ago Maxwell Riddle wrote in The New Complete Brittany book his thoughts on color; to quote Mr. Riddle:

"The original prejudice against any but orange/white or white/orange seems to have come from Alan Stuyvesant, who was the greatest importer of the breed.

The early Brittany's in the AKC records were listed as being of various colors. Among them one finds orange/white, white/orange, liver/white, white/liver, red/white, white/red, lemon/white and mahogany/white. There were dogs spotted with these colors, ticked with them and there were roans. All of these dogs had one ability in common. They could hunt."

Not all of this "narrow minded" opinion could be blamed on Mr. Stuyvesant. However, the part of Mr. Riddle's quote – "They could hunt" – is so very important. The Brittany's appearance and color have nothing to do with its' inherited ability to scent, find game, point, and hunt.

This prejudice – color and appearance – is still present today. Recently while attending a field trial the following statement was heard from a member riding in the gallery, "Can you believe it, this brace has dogs that really look like Brittany's; both dogs have color, not almost all white". These remarks indicate to me one thing that this individual believes appearance is more important than the ability to hunt and find birds.

So I leave the reader with one final thought, "Are Brittany's being bred for their appearance or their ability to hunt?" Think about it, many owners and breeders years ago believed appearance was more important to the Irish setter than the dogs hunting ability.

By Tom Word

Part Four Good and Evil

Outside Bismarck

The boy—gaunt, sixteen, Irish, two weeks out of a Chicago tenement—jumped the train as it pulled from the Minneapolis yard. He thought the second baggage car was empty, for its doors were open, but in back were a dozen crates, each holding a dog. The boy curled up beside the crates and slept; he dreamt of food.

He was waked by the nudge of a boot in his ribs. Above him stood a man, cold eyed, in khaki, his sleeves rolled above his elbows, a sweat stained straw hat tipped back on his head. The boy expected the man to throw him from the train, but he did not; he only wanted to get to the dogs. The man spoke with an accent strange to the boy, a deep southern drawl.

One by one the man took the dogs from their crates on a rope and let them empty on straw in a corner. When he started to give them feed from a sack and water from a milk can, the boy volunteered his help.

“Want a job for two months?” the man asked.

“Yes, sir.”

“Can’t pay you nothin’ but room and board.” It was a lie, he had an allowance from his employer for a helper; usually he hired a farm boy. He figured to pocket the allowance this year.

The man took the boy to the dining car, bought him a ticket from the conductor who looked at the boy with disgusted scorn. The boy could not read the menu, so the man ordered him porckchops, the cheapest thing. The boy bolted the meal, for he’d had nothing for two days. Then he felt sick, but the nausea passed after he drank two tumblers of ice water. The black waiter brought him a slice of warm apple pie with a wedge of cheese.

“I didn’t order that,” said the man.

The man took the boy back to the baggage car.

“What kind of dogs is these?”

The man was incredulous.

“Why, pointers, of course. I’m takin’ em to North Dakota to train.”

The boy had once seen pointing dogs in a newsreel; he tried to remember what they did, but he could not.

The man left the boy to watch over the dogs and went to a parlor car to sleep. At Staples, the train changed engines and crews. The train rolled through mile after mile of flat, fertile farmland, then a long stretch of pines and birches. At Fargo, the land opened again to farm and range land, stretching as far as the boy could see.

In Bismarck they got off the train. The man hired a wagon and team, and they loaded the dogs and the man’s trunk on the wagon and drove ten miles east of town to an abandoned farm, stopping first at a store where the man bought a sack of groceries.

They off loaded the dog crates in a grove of cottonwoods, and the man attached a short chain to each; the crates would serve now as doghouses.

The cabin was two dusty rooms, a kitchen table, two chairs, a pie safe, two iron beds, and a cookstove. The man lifted a floorboard and removed a lantern, a dented soup pot, a coffee pot, an iron skillet, a few plates and cups of chipped enamelware, forks and spoons, and a rusted butcher knife. They cleaned pack rat nests out of the pie safe and put their groceries away—Dinty Moore stew, sardines, hominy, dried beans, lard flour and cornmeal. The man strung a square of bacon on a wire from the ceiling.

Next day, they started the dog training. The man said, "Watch, and do what I do." The boy learned quickly; he liked the dogs, they liked him.

They first taught the dogs "come" and "whoa." From the nearest farm, the man got barn pigeons, trapped by the farmer's son, disappointed that his job had been taken by the boy. To the boy's amazement the young dogs held on ropes pointed the pigeons as soon as they caught the scent. The man shot a few pigeons each day. Some of the dogs brought the birds to the boy, their tails wagging with pride. He soon had all the dogs retrieving. The man skinned and floured the pigeons and fried them in bacon grease; to the boy they were delicious. "The Frenchies call 'em squabs," the man said; he had been in France in the War.

The man rented two rough horses from the farmer. The boy rode bareback; the man had brought a saddle. The dogs found and pointed prairie chicken and Hungarian partridge. The man showed him how to make the horse chase down an errant dog and step on its trailing checkcord so he could catch and correct it.

Each night the man drank a pint of whiskey and fell into a stupor, but he was awake and ready to work each morning at dawn.

The boy liked all the dogs, but one especially. She was the most exuberant, always ran the farthest before the horses, stood the chickens and Huns with pretty style. The man did not like her for she defied him. When he approached her on point, she rushed in and flushed the birds. No matter how long he whipped her chest with his riding crop and made her stand where she first pointed, he could not make her hold her points.

"She runs too much for a plantation dog, and the boss don't want no trial dog," the man said.

The boy asked if he could work her alone after they finished with the other dogs. "Why not," the man said. But when in a week the boy had her steady to shot, the man was jealous. After drinking he became abusive, called the boy stupid, ridiculed him for not being able to read.

Then one sweltering day at noon when the boy was in town for groceries, the man released the bitch from her chain. When the boy returned from town, he saw she was missing.

"She got loose and run off," the man lied.

The boy rode in search for her. Three hours later he found her, still running and very hot. He gave her water from a canteen and took her into a muddy pothole. She seemed to recover, but two weeks later she could not smell the birds. The blood vessels in her nose had swollen, scar tissue had formed, her sense of smell was destroyed. The man explained it to the boy. Then, since she was worthless, the man took her over a rise behind the house where the boy couldn't see, and shot her in the back of the head, leaving her carcass for the coyotes and vultures. When the man returned the boy saw her collar attached to a ring on the saddle.

The boy said nothing. That night after the man passed out, the boy cut his throat with the butcher knife. Then he walked to Bismarck and hopped a westbound freight.

As the train approached Los Angeles, the boy saw a high-fenced field with strange animals grazing in it.

"What's that?" he asked a fellow bindle stiff.

"Place where they train animals for the movies."

When the train slowed, the boy jumped off and walked back to ask for a job. He would train many dogs for the movies, but he liked none so well as the pointer bitch he trained outside Bismarck in the summer of 1933.

MEMBERS OF THE AMERICAN BRITTANY CLUB

Give the gift of a new membership... to give the opportunity to someone to learn about and participate in the American Brittany Club.

This membership campaign is really quite simple, we are asking every member to donate/sponsor a membership in the American Brittany Club. This "gifted" membership might be to a puppy purchaser, or a friend/acquaintance who has a Brittany. All of us encounter people who may just need a little encouragement to become members.

This can work, but it is totally dependent upon your support. Please use the ABC application form in the back of the magazine to enroll a new member today. You may donate/sponsor multiple new memberships. The names of new members & ABC sponsors will be published in the magazine on a quarterly basis.

THIS IS OUR CHANCE TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE!
