2018 ABC Chukar Classic/Championship

As seen by Cindy Findley, Joe Gower & Margaret Horstmeyer

The 41st annual American Brittany Club Chukar Classic/Championship was hosted by the Idaho Brittany Club and held May 1–2, 2018. This is true chukar country— home to some rugged terrain characterized by lava cropped buttes that reach around 4500 feet in elevation and open rolling sage lands below. Two one–hour courses are laid out of the sprawling grounds at Mile Post 9/Squaw Creek Recreation Area in the BLM Owyhee Resource Area: one heading out directly from camp and sweeping the top edge of the normal gun dog course before turning left and continuing to skirt the base of the buttes and ending near a fence line and road coming off Mile Post 7. The return course follows the same path but in reverse. The courses provide a true opportunity for all age dogs to demonstrate their strength, stamina and skills!

The 2016 “Soda” fire torched the area but the grasses which were planted are showing regrowth along with the sage. Mother Nature cooperated by blessing us with clear blue skies and moderate temperatures, great weather for running dogs! Several dog distractions are also present on the grounds: prong horn antelope provide an exciting chase as well as a small rodent known as a whistle pig which drive the dogs crazy as they pop in and out of their burrows.

Our most generous sponsors for this event were Purina and Garmin. Many of the participating dogs are great fans of Pro Plan Performance and their owners feed it to awaken the greatness within! Purina’s sponsorship allowed this event to be the successful one that it was. Purina is able to support us only because we in turn support them through the purchase of Pro Plan Performance food that helps our dogs perform to a higher degree. A Garmin Pro 550 collar was graciously provided to the Chukar Classic winner by Garmin. Several of the participants were found with the help of their Garmin tracking collars, an invaluable piece of equipment for use in our trial dogs in this big country. In addition to the ProPlan Performance and Garmin collar, the winner received a specially designed silver belt buckle and the honor of keeping the traveling trophy, a spectacular Gately rendering of a Brittany holding a chukar, for a year.

Special thanks to our judges: Cindy Findley from Ventura, Iowa and Larry McConnell from Meridian, Idaho. They remained punctual, professional and pleasant the whole trial. Their focused attention on every dog that ran was very much appreciated. Larry has a long history and much experience on these grounds but they provided a sharp contrast to Cindy’s home prairies!

Hard working Idaho Brittany Club members made the trial run smoothly with dog wagon driving, water hauling, bird bagging and planting, meal planning and preparation and clean up. A big thank you to Frank Bright, Sandy Bright, Ron Dunnagan, Sharon Millspaugh, Steve Ball, Wayne Hale, Larry Sandusky, Brent Stanger and Chairman and secretary: Tom White and Margaret Horstmeyer.

The Running:

Brace 1: MTB Zipson Veni Vidi Vici (Vinny), Gower & Rusty Ridge Where U Been (Ben), Doiron. Both dogs broke away cleanly with vigor. Ben makes a forward move up to the rocks on the first hill. The judges are suspicious when a chukar is seen rocketing down the hill and Ben is seen in the general area, but no definite misstep could be attributed to the dog. He moves smartly forward along the base of the mountains. At Chukar Rock, Vinny joins the front coming down from elevation and Ben moves up higher along the course. Then they exchange courses again. Ben breaks a powerful move forward on the flats, and Vinny is seen in a draw above. At 41 Ben has a point about halfway up the slope in order, followed by stop to flush with caution at 46. Ben scores again near the end of the course at 56, and finishes with moderate range. Vinny finishes strongly but without bird contact.

Brace 2: Spanish Corral's Sundance Kid (Sonny), Doiron & MTB Scipio's Hot Shot of Whizki (Cali), White. Cali scored a find just after the castoff on a chukar in the grass field. She stands nicely for the shot. Sonny was well forward. At 10, Sonny has climbed very high on the upper rock edge and is seen hunting forward with purpose. Cali worked through the lower valley while Sonny had come down, and moved forward on the flat. He then ascended to the top of the mountain in a breathtaking climb, and worked smartly among the rocks. At 27, Cali is seen standing at June's Rock, but only a rabbit is flushed. At 40, Sonny showed far to the front coming out of the deep draw to the west, and then climbed the mountain again, working the rock outcroppings effectively for several minutes. Cali worked the mid-level area along the high side. At 52, Cali was hunting the rock piles on the end of the all-age course, but had no other bird contact. Point was called for Sonny on top of the first mountain at 55. After a long climb, Sonny is seen pointing with great style. Bird was flushed, shot fired in order. Both dogs finish the hour well.

Brace 3: Christie's IM A Jakester (Jake), Ball & Zip's Count Me In (Tally), VandeCoevering. Following the breakaway, Tally is seen going over the first rise and heading west toward the draw. She is not seen for several minutes and the tracker was called for at 19. Jake went about his work running at a more moderate range. He would occasionally circle and backcast, but his handler was able to keep him to the front and mid-level on the slope. He had a stylish bird find at 51 in the open field, and finished the hour.

Brace 4: SR's Blew By Typhoon (Ty), Doiron & Spanish Corral's Coopers Hawk (Hawk), Gower. The dogs tagged each other at the breakaway, running in a big circle to start. They separated and each dog made a big move forward along the fence line, and up toward the mid-level rocks. At 10, Hawk had a find, and at the shot, danced a few steps. Casting forward he covered the lower portion of the course, but did not seem inclined to stretch out and up. He suffered a non-productive at 45. Ty was very aggressive in moving toward the higher elevations and made several strong climbs. He stayed on top for much of the hour, dropping down toward the all-age course at 54. He ran an excellent course for his hour but finished without bird contact. Hawk found himself among many birds and experienced an unsatisfactory stop to flush as time was called.

Brace 5: JT Copper Buckaroo (Buck), Doiron & Tequila's Tyler on Fire (Tyler), Rutherford. The dogs get away cleanly and Tyler moved up the first mountain. Tyler made a couple of nice casts near the top of the rocks. Buck applied himself with shorter range, and hunted the flats and about halfway up the mountains. By 40 neither dog had had bird contact and Tyler was seen going over the top ridge. He was gone for several minutes and the tracker was called for. Buck continued a shooting dog race, but by the end of the hour did not have any bird contact.

Brace 6: K Nine's On the Loose (Lucy), Doiron & Cedar Creek Hawkeye (Hank), Waitman. The dogs cast off cleanly and well forward. Hank appeared to be interested in the whistle pigs and made several early investigative stops. At 7, Lucy is called on point on a small knoll. The flush and shot was in order as she turned to mark the bird. Both dogs are moderate in range and speed while heading into the wind, and are working the flats and mid-level areas. Toward the end of the hour, Lucy had her second find in the rock piles east of the camp area. Hank had a successful late find in the rocks and was moved on as time was called.

Brace 7: High Lonesome Sage (Sage), Hammett & Staley's Orange Outlaw Mr. Cooper (Cooper), Staley. Sage opened his run with a move up and over the first mountain. Cooper cast far forward on the flats to the southwest, came back and moved up into the mid-level of the rocks. At 18, Sage had not been seen since the breakaway, and Mr. Hammett elected to call it a day. Cooper was seen rocketing forward on the two-track path then broke off and extended his race up from the big rock spring, moving with good speed and range. At 52, Cooper made the best move of his hour as we crossed the road and he raced up the steep mountain slope and forward with great energy. Despite his fine effort, Cooper had no bird contact.

Brace 8: Moonshine Nell (Nell), Sandusky & Spanish Corral's Sonny Patch (Patch), Doiron. Both dogs moved out smartly, with Patch being a bit more forward. Nell was seen heading up into the rocks, and point was called at 14. Nell followed up with another successful point at 20, but her third point proved too much and she went with the birds to end her day. Patch varied his approach by moving along the rocks, then dropping down into the flats, then moving up again. By 25, Patch showed some interest in the whistle pigs, but was urged up the hill and was gone for several minutes. At 44, Patch returned to his handler from deep down in the flats, and his raced slowed considerably. He was credited with a find in the rock piles east of camp at the end of his hour.

Brace 9: Shane's Zippity Zoe (Zoe), Waitman & Sonny's Hot Summer Breeze (Breezy), Doiron. At the breakaway, Zoe zips up the first mountain, and she is not seen again. Mr. Waitman calls for his tracker at 18. Breezy made one long cast out to the flats, and runs the rest of her hour at a moderate pace, with no bird contact.

Brace 10: MTB Louree's Let's Have a Fee-Esta (Esta), White & Blew Me Away (Bud), Doiron. In the final brace, the two speedsters both made impressive opening moves. Bud headed directly to the higher elevations, and Esta made a bold, strong cast traversing the reddish slag on the side mountain. Bud showed great hunting desire by going up to the rocks, coming down the draws, then going back up to hunt the next rock pile. Bud was called on point at one of the highest rock piles on the mountain. It took considerable time for his handler to reach him, but the dog held steady throughout and was rewarded with a fine three bird flush in order. Ahead, Esta made a big lateral move to the southwest across the road, but excellent scouting insured the dog's safety despite the truck traffic, and she was brought to the front. She continued hunting high around the breakaway mountain onto the all-age course. Despite a strong effort, her hour ended with no bird contact. Bud continued his gallant effort searching all the high rock piles, but had no further bird contact. He ended his hour running on heart and sore paws.

June 23, 2018

The Minnesota Brittany Club ventured into the realm of doing two Specialties in one day. The outcome was beyond expectations. We had the best showing in years and had exhibitors from all over the country. A big thank you to all those who supported the shows.

Also a huge thanks to the many people who put in so much work helping put on the show and our Annual Pot Luck and Raffle. The weather was a bit warmer than most wanted for showing, but the sun was out and all had a good time.

Special thanks to Purina for their continued support of our show.

Congratulations to all the winners and owners. Hope to see you next year!

The American Brittany Magazine is ringing in new changes for 2018

We're adding "Breeders" to our Listings - The Brittany magazine reaches approximately 2000 homes across the United States and beyond. This is the perfect opportunity for everyone to know who has available litters and what type of puppies you might have available (field/show/hunting/pet).

Breeders are invited to promote their litters just as we do for Kennel/At Stud/Trainers & Handlers ads - $60 per year for a standard ad (6 lines); $10 each additional line.

This will also be listed on the ABC website!

Look for the new heading:

"Listings: Breeders – Kennels – At Stud – Trainers & Handlers"

ABC Summer Specialty Show

The ABC Summer specialty show was hosted this year by the Central New England Brittany Club. It was held at the Big E in Springfield MA on August 25th in conjunction with the Newtown KC. Sweeps was judged by breeder judge Sue Lehosky Thank you Sue! Our breed judge was Mr. Terry Stacy a long time all-breed judge with a special place in his heart for our breed.

This was quite the undertaking in a very short period of time but between 3 club's CNEBC, NNEBC & HVBC we managed to pull of 4 specialty shows in 4 days. I want to thank each and every one of you who helped make this event a success. It takes a village and we have a great one in here the north east.

Thank you to everyone who came and supported the events with your entries, sponsored prizes and gracious donations for the raffle and or state baskets.

A special shout out to Isle of Dogs, and Mommas Cookies, Diane Hedstrom, Donna Wilshire for the great prizes! Also to Chris Ward Webber for your awesome design for our shirts!

Congratulations to all of the winners at the 2018 ABC Summer Specialty from the Central New England Brittany Club!

MEMBERSHIP BUILDING CLUB by CLUB, REGION by REGION

To All Regional Clubs,

If you are not aware, we are losing our youth membership base and not replacing same. In an effort to find a solution to stop the flow, I've asked Diana Kubitz to chair a new ad hoc sub-committee under my membership promotion committee that will specifically reach out to the youth in our membership. She and Bryce Novotny have already been floating around some great ideas to attract our youth and get them involved in our Brittany Community. I believe they have already recruited one youth now active in the field and show arenas to also serve on their committee!

I am reaching out to each of you to provide Diana with a name(s) and contact information for any youth/young adults in your club so they can begin a dialog and get involved. Diana will be developing a letter that when a young person joins the ABC we can send it out to them as an introduction to the group and parent club level "Welcome." She will depend on each of you to be her eyes within each of your clubs. Anytime you have a youth that does something special, please send a short blurb to Diana so we can get it out and about for recognition. From Diana:

Jeri Conklin has asked me to chair a NEW ad hoc sub-committee within the membership committee. I am really excited about this because it's purpose is to get the youth of the American Brittany involved with helping young people learn about the outdoors and the ABC in particular. Check out my article in the upcoming December issue of the American Brittany about Barry County Youth Day! Having been involved with Youth Day since its inception I began to think about possibilities within ABC. So what I'm looking for is young people in your clubs that might like to serve on this committee and bring fresh ideas to the ABC! Please pass my information on to anyone in your club interested in helping – it's going to be fun and we might even help the ABC grow membership and help retain current members! I'm going to be in and out until after the Nationals in Arkansas so you have some time to work on this and then let me know the contact information of any of your young people willing to help. Diana Kubitz, 21224 Waubascon Rd,

Battle Creek, Mi 49017, PH: 269-962-2363, EMAIL: renegadebritts@comcast.net Please copy Jeri Conklin jericonklin@yahoo.com to keep Jeri in the loop. We are interested in engaging young people from children to young adults under 30. Thanks for your help in this new chapter of the American Brittany Club! Di

If you have an active youth that would be interested in serving on her committee, please send her that information. I'm sure she will welcome any ideas you might have that have worked for you in the past. A youth from each region would be a great start. I am suggesting Diana contact Colson Shanto (Nevada) (vonshanto@gmail.com). This young man just finished his Brittany this past weekend with a 5 pt major! He is an up and coming young man that we need to reach out to others. His journey with his Brittany "Dylan" has been exciting to follow.

I appreciate everything you are doing for the ABC and your own clubs. Lack of communication between the club and its members still remains the #1 reason for our loss of members. Members want to feel appreciated, don't we all? My emails reminding members of expired/expiring memberships are working and bringing members back into the community. Once we get them back we need to keep them! Communication from both the ABC (me) and the Club (you) is important. Please reach out to your membership every so often to say "Welcome" and "Thank You." Without their volunteerism, we will all wear out far before our time.

So from me to you: "Thank you for all your hard, and more oftentimes than not, unappreciated long hours on behalf of the Brittany community. If you need help in sending out email blasts the easy way, please let me know and I will walk you through the process.

Jeri K Conklin

CENTRAL MAINE

Maine Bird Dog Trial Grounds

Brownfield, ME

September 8—9, 2018

The fall trial of the Central Maine Brittany Club was held the weekend of September 8—9, 2018 at the Brownfield grounds. We would like to thank the support of Purina for our trial. The Thursday before the trial brought a heavy downpour during the day, but the sandy soils of the grounds soaked up all the water and were dry for the trial. Weather was great for running dogs as it cooled off in the 60s and lower 70s during the day and overcast skies. Saturday evening brought cooler temperatures with nighttime temps dipping into the upper 30s. Chukars were used for the trial and flew well. There was lots of bird work throughout the trial. Many thanks to John Short and Bob Paucek for mowing the grounds just prior to the trial. Sam Jackson and Roy Hargreaves did their usual excellent job of planting birds for the whole trial with assistance where needed from club members. We would like to thank all the judges for driving long distances to get to the trial and for their review of dogs over the two days. We had 22 different handlers and 63 dogs that ran in stakes over the two days. Dogs from across New England and from out of the region competed in our Fall trial. Donna Pride commuted each day to handle the record keeping and the breakaway. Several club members including Julie Harris, Denise Hue, and Terri Plummer ably provided hot food to participants both days. After the running on Saturday, a lasagna dinner was prepared and enjoyed by all. Many thanks to David Herrington for his creation and updating of award plaques.

WEST COAST

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

Rio Vista, CA

August 18-19, 2018

The Northern California Brittany Club held our Ned Castillo Memorial Walking Field Trial on August 18-19, 2018 at Hastings Island Hunting Preserve in Rio Vista, California. This is always a special trial as Ned Castillo was such a tremendous asset not only to our breed, but to our club. We miss him and his contributions dearly and are honored to have named our summer walking trial in his memory.

It was a challenging weekend with the heat hitting us hard at over 100 degrees and the bridge on CA Highway 12 being out making for a very long and circuitous route around including having to take two vehicle ferries for all of those coming from the east. But with the help of our club's own mini circus tent to shield us from the sun and the willingness by all to flex our format, we persevered and had a fantastic trial!

The club offered pastries, fruit, granola bars, coffee, and juice both mornings with our own member, Ray Solander, serving as caterer. Ray worked hard cooking us lunch and dinner, serving up beef and chicken tacos for Saturday's lunch, incredible baby back ribs for dinner, and beef and carnitas tacos for Sunday's lunch. Rick and Cheri Perez donated beverages which were invaluable for keeping us all hydrated during the heat.

Our trial chairman, Jim Murphy, made sure everything ran smooth and worked doing everything from setting up tents and courses to bird planting. Jim also wrangled us a wrangler, Terry Zyngalinski, so our judges and bird planters had horses. Wil Sumner stepped up and served as our line marshal, we look forward to seeing him more in the future. Wayne and Wendy Ricciardi, Rick and Cheri Perez, Don and Annette Pfister, Heidi Heffelfinger, Sherry Saul, Pam Lambros, Gayle Partmann and others volunteered their time to ensure our judges and competitors were well cared for in the driving heat and our paperwork was complete.

Overseeing the judging of our 87 entries were Pierre Urrutia, Randy Berry, Jim Simmons, Willie Stevens, Dominic Pettinato, Ted Foster, Karen Holmes and Jeff Davis. In addition, we welcomed Corey Harrison as an apprentice judge. We are incredibly grateful and thankful for their enduring the heat and the long detour via ferry to the trial grounds. The Amateur Gun Dog and Open Gun Dog majors were won by club members Rick Perez ("Trib") and Heidi Heffelfinger ("Zephyrus"), respectively, adding to the excitement on the grounds. Newcomer Brandon Dayoan brought his family and his father-in-law out to the trial to see what it was all about and we all were happy to see him earn a third place in Amateur Puppy with his dog "Flash".

Overall, even with the difficulties endured, it was a good trail with great food and as always, time with our bird dog loving friends and an opportunity to watch some great dogs run. Looking forward to seeing everyone next summer for another great Ned Castillo Memorial event.

2018 ABC Grouse/Woodcock Classic/Championship

PURINA
PRO PLAN

GARMIN

Judges: Paul Arcand and Lisa Pollock

The 2018 American Brittany Club Grouse/Woodcock Classic was hosted by The Brittany Club of Upper NY on Sept. 16. Located at Partridge Run Wildlife Management Area in Berne, NY

Judges: Pat Carney (Danvers, MA) & George Habecker (Blakeslee, PA)

Special thanks to sponsors Garmin and Purina. Many thanks to our judges for expertly following and judging these special dogs. I'd particularly like to thank Pat Carney for also taking excellent notes and providing the brace by brace write-up.

It was a little too warm and tough for the dogs to get birds pointed, but it wasn't for lack of trying. They sure covered some ground! Camaraderie was high and great meals were provided by the club. We had some new folks this year who made the jump from horseback field trials to the grouse woods. "I'll be back!!!" If you've never tested your dog in this type of venue, you really should. Wild birds..that's what it's all about!

Brace 1: Contessa Del Prado "Tessa" (Les Casselberry) and MJ's Sweet Sugar Magnolia "Maggie" (Mike Dally). At 4, Tessa is at the limits of her bell, attacking the course with wild abandon, often beyond bell range. Maggie is the closer of the two working both sides of the course ahead of us. Both Tessa and Maggie aren't having any trouble handling the cover. At 12 with the course making a left-hand turn, and not hearing Tessa's bell, Les sent a scout out looking for her. Mike continued on with Maggie. Six minutes later the front was reporting they had contact with Tessa. At 23 we have both dogs working the cover on the left side of the course, Tessa at the limit of her bell and Maggie working diligently back and forth. At 33, Maggie had a somewhat unmannerly contact with a grouse and was ordered up. Tessa, now more controlled with her run, was found standing, but Les's flushing attempt and the relocation a minute later proved to be fruitless. The brace ended at time with no further bird contact. Bird count: 1 grouse.

Brace 2: Burning Glen Encore "Scout" (Mike Mercanti) and

White Rock Ranch's First Turks "Turk" (Mike Tiberii). Both Scout and Turk broke away headed to the front and quickly out at the limits of their bells. With far-reaching application both dogs are often at the limits of their bells or beyond with handlers scrambling to keep up as we breezed by some likely looking cover. At 10 a gallery grouse lifted with neither dog involved. Finally at 40, following a lengthy absence, Turk was leashed. Scout was to the front with judge Habecker. Judge was impressed with Scout's application and work ethic between about 28-45 minutes, but these efforts were not rewarded. After 50, a stand with several relocation attempts also came up empty-handed. Bird count: 1 grouse.

Brace 3: La Bandita Del Prado "Bandit" (Les Casselberry) and Diamond Hill Storm Cat "Storm" (Lisa Pollock). Bandita and Storm broke away to the front ready for a day's work, with Bandita stretching the furthest. At 10, Lisa called point for Storm standing just off the trail to the left with Bandita coming in for a back. Unable to produce a bird, Lisa tapped Storm on for a possible relocation, which ultimately ended with a non-productive. At the 20-minute mark Storm started reaching further while continuing to cover both sides of the course with workmanlike precision. Bandita meanwhile has been hammering the course farther out. At 30, Lisa called point again, which concluded with another non-productive. Les continued on with Bandita, who at 35 has lost some of her starting bounce, while still making nice wide casts through the cover. Time ran out without further bird contact for either dog, although a grouse lifted just after time. Bird count: 1 grouse.

Brace 4: Diamond Hill Work Hard Play Harder "Gin" (Lisa Pollock) and Birch Hill Hobo "Colby" (Paul Arcand). Gin and Colby proved to be the brace of the day with both dogs attacking the course right from the start. Gin's first foray into the upland game world appeared to be very much to her liking. Her gait was strong, sure and powerful and she seemed to understand that any birds to be had would be in the cover and not on the trail. Colby proved to be a worthy brace mate to Gin, demonstrating a practiced familiarity with his approach and attack of the cover as he searched for the ever-elusive grouse. Both Gin and Colby continued to impress during their hour on the ground with forward ground-covering races through the cover, in spite of a problematic off-course ending that resulted in the judges adding additional time to the brace to compensate for the five minutes that handlers were not able to show their dogs to advantage. With a well-handled find, judges would have named either of these dogs champion. Bird count: 0.

Brace 5: Spring Hill's Chica Del Prado "Chica" (Les Casselberry) and Saradac's Dangerous Diamond Caper "Caper" (Darlene Dow). Chica and Caper were well in hand throughout their hour, with Chica somewhat unwilling to respond to direction from Les. Judges were looking for more run than these two provided. At the end of the course across the road, just after time, Chica's bell stopped and then a grouse was heard lifting. Bird count: 1 grouse.

Brace 6: Kahlua III "Kallie" (Mike Tiberii) and Kip's Bay Dark'N Stormy Miss Maddie "Maddie" (John Kipp). For some reason, the breakaway was an inspiring and exciting experience for this pair. Both were running the course and hitting the cover with happy hearts and well-applied feet. As always, Maddie presented with her usual stylish and impressive ground race and Kallie was doing a great job keeping up. These two were almost up to par on the ground with Brace 4 and were impressing the judges as well. This continued for the hour with nothing to show for it. Just at time, Maddie's bell stopped and judge Carney instructed the handler to produce his dog, hopefully standing a bird. It took some time to get to her and when John was unable to produce a bird, he sent her on for a relocation. Maddie worked her heart out, but a bird was not in the cards this time. With a well-handled find, judges would have named either of these dogs champion. Bird count: 1 grouse.

Brace 7: Boudreaux's Game On Dude "Trooper"r(Ed Kostka) and Reidyhill's Smokin Hot Pursuit "Beef" (Paul Arcand). One minute after the start, Ed reported a grouse lifting from the cover with no dogs involved. At about 10, Paul got hung up with Beef while Ed pressed on with Trooper. Paul was unable to regain the front with Beef, who was well off course, and elected to retire before the hour was up. At 13 another bird lifted from the cover to our right with Trooper uninvolved and missing the opportunity to get a bird pointed. And at the road crossing, a grouse lifted wild from the cover at the end of the road as we all crossed. The hour ended without further bird contact. Bird count: 3 grouse.

TRAININ' DOGS

with Rick Smith

Using a Checkcord

As we've often said in past columns, there are three things a bird dog needs to do as far as handling goes: They have to go with you, come to you, and stand still. A checkcord is useful in all three, but the primary use is for teaching a dog to go with you. "Go with you" means the dog must work to the front and change direction as you do, quartering with intent to locate bird scent while still being your partner and working as a team.

Watching a trainer or experienced handler checkcord a dog through a field makes it look easy, almost effortlessly so. However, the first few times you have a checkcord in your hands, you quickly discover it's not quite as simple as it looks. The rope gets tangled under the dog's legs, around yours, in the brush, and don't forget the rope burn that can happen if you're not careful! The good news is that we can give you some tips on how to make the process easier.

The first thing you'll need is the right kind of checkcord. Flat checkcords are to limp and hard to hold, as are lightweight ropes, and they tangle easily. Ideally, a tightly woven braided nylon is used, and it will have some stiffness or "body" to it. This makes it easier to handle – it won't tangle as much as soft rope, and the slight stiffness makes control of the rope work smoothly, especially at a distance. If you start out with a well-made checkcord of good stiff rope, it'll continue to improve with age and use. You can help this process along by leaving it out in the rain or initially soaking it and letting it dry in the sun, as water and the drying process will stiffen it even more. The stiffer the rope becomes, the easier it will be to work with since it won't be as likely to get tangled in the cover.

The diameter can be 3/8" or 7/16" depending on what feels good in your hands. Length is a matter of personal preference, but should fall somewhere between 20 and 25 feet. The end that attaches to the collar will have a brass swivel snap tied in with a bowline knot. The swivel in the snap keeps the rope from twisting up, and the bowline knot puts a little weight in the rope, slightly away from the dog's collar, making the rope easier to maneuver when changing directions. The tail of the rope should be finished with a simple overhand knot to keep the rope from slipping out of your hand (note: unless you are turning the dog loose in heavier cover, in which case, remove the knot at the end so it won't get caught).

The best way to get comfortable learning to handle a checkcord is to start without a dog at the other end. When you get to the field with your dog, you'll need to change direction and teach your dog to change with you. That means being able to easily flip the rope over your dog's back as you take a new direction. If you're fumbling with the checkcord, you and the dog will end up tangled and frustrated, so take the time to practice until you are comfortable with handling the rope before you add the dog.

To turn your dog using the checkcord, there are two options: You can pull and drag the dog (not the option we would choose), or you can lightly toss the rope over your dog's back and tug the collar using an easy rolling loop movement. To learn this skill, you'll need to fasten the snap on the checkcord to a stationary object. There are numerous ways you can do this, including buckling a collar tightly around a fence post or tree and attaching the checkcord; or snapping the checkcord onto the tow chain loop on a vehicle, for example. Just pick something that can't go anywhere, and where the snap stays in the same position.

Once the snap is secured, take up the rope and step out to the end of it. Start with the rope taut and your arm bent and by your side. Then push your arm forward and give just enough slack so the rope loops slightly toward the ground. Using a sideways rolling movement of your hand and wrist, flip a loop of rope toward the snap end. Your wrist will do a snappy 180-degree roll, with soft follow-through to make a full circle. The initial part of this motion rolls the rope, while the soft follow-through makes sure the rope doesn't stop moving halfway. This won't work unless there is a small degree of slack in the rope, and the rope should move sideways, not up and down. This sideways movement of the rope will help turn the dog by sending the rope up, over and across his back, while up and down is likely to hit the dog and cause confusion.

Being able to send the slack to the exact spot you need it to turn the dog is an acquired skill, and one that is invaluable in checkcord work, along with good timing. Practice this at several different distances and while moving from side to side as well as toward the snap, and learn to flip the rope while you're adjusting your distance and position. The bowline knot securing the snap is a big help, since it gives just the right weight and swing to the collar end of the checkcord.

And don't forget to practice rolling the rope in both directions! Your dog has to turn both ways, and that means the rope has to flip in whatever direction is needed. You'll find one direction easier to do than the other, so practice the more difficult direction until both ways are easy.

One other key to successful checkcord handling is dealing with the excess rope. Don't try to keep the rope coiled up as you're shortening and lengthening it. That takes time, tangles the rope, and isn't necessary until you're ready to put the rope away for the day. To shorten the checkcord as your dog comes closer, just form a circle with the fingers and thumb of one hand, and pull the checkcord through it with the other. Let the tail of the rope feed out behind you. There's no need to keep the tail end gathered up. Just let it drag. And when the dog needs more length of rope to go out to the front, relax your grip just enough to allow the rope to slide through your gloved hand (don't forget to wear gloves)!

When you can easily roll a loop of rope in either direction and are comfortable shortening and lengthening it without a dog attached, it's time to add your dog and head for the field. The goal of using the checkcord for quartering is to teach the dog to pay attention to our direction and go with us. In these early stages, you'll be doing a lot more direction changes just to get the dog used to watching you and paying attention to your direction.

Think of it like the face of a clock, with 12:00 being directly in front of you. Ideally, you want your dog to stay somewhere between 10:00 and 2:00, with a reasonable amount of leeway in either direction. You probably won't give the dog the whole length of rope right away but be ready to feed out rope and reel it back in as your dog changes his range. As your dog nears 10:00, you'll go toward 2:00 and roll the checkcord over the dog's back, giving a tug to make him change with you. Then as your dog nears 2:00, roll the rope the other way and tug to change back toward 10:00.

You'll be zigzagging quite a bit as your dog figures out he has to watch for your changes of direction. It won't be long before your dog will show signs of anticipating your movements, and the rope won't be as important or as needed. The end result is a dog that works to the front and goes with you, working toward cover that may hold birds. The dog decides where to go within that designated range, while you decide which direction that range will go. When you've got that, you're well on your way to being a great hunting team.

Hide and Go Seek – Foundation Training for Sniffer Dogs

*Vite trying to find me in the long grass.

Hide and go seek is one of our favorite foundation games for starting young sniffer dogs.

Warm up with “restrained recalls”. Get your helper to hold your dog while you run away, teasing him with a toy and encouraging in an excited voice. This builds frustration and drive. Once released, your dog should run to you at top speed. At first, stay close so it’s easy. When the dog finds you, it’s very important to give multiple rewards to keep the dog with you. Otherwise, dogs tend to play keep away (getting close, but not letting you catch them).

If that goes well, move about the same distance, but out of sight. If your dog has trouble finding you, clap or cough to help him find you, instead of repeating “come”.

Gradually increase distance, and the amount of time you’re out of sight before the dog is released to search. At first your dog will use some spatial memory, vision, and hearing to find you, in addition to scent. But don’t worry about that: reward when the dog finds you, no matter what method you believe they used. Never expect your dog to close his eyes. Over time and with careful planning, dogs should learn that scenting is the most reliable method, and use it more.

Choose a safe, enclosed location, and/or let the dog drag a line without a handle. This helps to prepare for times when the leash is accidentally dropped and you don’t want your dog to panic if they’ve never experienced dragging the leash before. Also practice with your helper running behind the dog on a longline.

For more experienced dogs, try:

- * hiding when your dog is distracted
- * varying the human to be found
- * mixing up the rewards (don’t only use food),
- * increasing the distance and search time, and
- * playing at new locations where you can hide up high (in a tree) or down low (in deep grass).

It should always be safe and fun, so introduce one small challenge at a time.

Instant Pot Beef Tips

- 1 ½ lbs stew meat
- 1 large onion
- 16 oz mushrooms (I used a combo of baby bellas and white button mushrooms)
- ¼ tsp salt
- ¼ tsp pepper
- ½ tsp garlic powder
- ½ tsp Montreal Steak Seasoning
- 1 ½ c beef broth

Slice onion and mushrooms
Set the Instant Pot on to Sauté and allow to warm up until the screen says HOT. Pour 2 tbsp of olive oil into the pot.
Add the mushrooms and onions to the pot and sauté until both become soft.
Add stew meat and sauté to brown. Add Montreal steak seasoning and beef stock.
Press Cancel on the Instant Pot to take it out of Sauté mode. Place the lid on and close the valve. Select the meat/stew button and set the timer for 22 minutes.
Once the timer goes off, allow to natural release for 10 minutes. Then do a quick release to release any remaining pressure.
Take the lid off. Mix 2 tbsp of cornstarch with 3 tbsp of water in a separate bowl, and then add to the meat. Stir until the sauce starts to thicken. Add more or less depending on how thick you would like the sauce. Serve over mashed potatoes or egg noodles.

Instant Pot Turkey Meatball and Ditalini Soup

For the meatballs:

- 1 pound 93% lean ground turkey
- ½ cup seasoned bread crumbs (Can substitute gluten-free bread crumbs)
- 3 tbsp grated Pecorino Romano cheese
- 1 large egg, beaten
- 1 clove crushed garlic
- 1 tbsp fresh minced parsley
- ½ teaspoon kosher salt

Soup:

- Cooking Spray
- 1 teaspoon olive oil
- ½ cup chopped onion
- ½ cup chopped celery
- ½ cup chopped carrot
- 3 cloves minced garlic
- 1 can (28 ounces) diced San Marzano tomatoes,
- 4 cups reduced sodium chicken broth
- 4 torn basil leaves, plus optional more for garnish

- 2 bay leaves
- 5 ounces ditalini pasta (1 cup)* (wheat or gluten-free)
- 1 cup zucchini, diced small
- Parmesan rind, optional
- Grated parmesan cheese, optional for serving

In a medium bowl combine turkey, bread crumbs, pecorino, egg, garlic, parsley and salt and gently mix to combine.
Form into 30 meatballs, about 1 heaping tablespoon each.
Press saute in the Instant Pot and spray with oil.
Brown the meatballs in 2 to 3 batches, spraying each time. Set aside on a dish and clean the pot.
Heat the oil and add the onion, celery, carrots and garlic, cook until soft, about 4 minutes.
Add the tomatoes, Parmesan rind, basil, bay leaves and stir, return the meatballs to the pot.
Add the chicken broth, cover and cook high pressure 15 minutes. Quick release and open the lid, add the pasta and zucchini and cook 4 minute more, quick release so the pasta doesn't overcook. Serve with grated cheese if desired and basil.

A Little Competition

A Novella and Twenty-Two Short Stories

By Tom Word

The Condition A Novella

(For Ed Mack FARRIER and Little Eva)
Part 3

On the calendar on the cabin wall, Albert marked off the days of August one by one. Now on Saturday afternoons in the hotel beer parlor, the handlers bragged on their dogs. Bobby said nothing about Bess.

As Bobby rode the prairie, he recalled his early childhood. He remembered the day his father brought home the pony, a small white Shetland with a black head and blaze face. "Her name is Dixie, and she's yours to take care of and ride, Bobby," his father had said. He'd been seven. He rode the rolling pastures of his father's farm, pretending he was Tim Mix. Then came the day his mother took him forever from the farm. "But what about Dixie?" he'd sobbed. His mother hadn't answered, but he knew. He never saw Dixie again.

Bobby never knew the truth about his parents' divorce. His mother had hired a crooked private detective who'd given perjured testimony about a supposed liaison of his father and a prostitute. In fact, his father had been with Bobby when this event was supposed to have happened. But rather than have Bobby testify to discredit the detective, his father had simply not contested the detective's testimony. If she wanted a divorce that bad, what was the use, Old Bob had reasoned. But he hadn't counted on her alienating his son from him. She'd denied him access to Bobby, refused to allow the boy weekends with him as the divorce decree had specified, painted him as a villain to the boy. But again Old Bob had not contested, unwilling to make his son a pawn in a bitter chess game. And so from age eleven on, Bobby had been deprived of his father's influence. But he had his father's genes and the influence of those first eleven years. On the prairie, both began to assert themselves in Bobby.

At the Saturday afternoon beer-parlor gatherings, Bobby listened and laughed and won money at the poker table. In the 1890s, only four stateside dog trainers had come to Manitoba-Dave Rose, Jim Avent, Jake Bishop, and Herbert Bevan. Now there were more than twenty, plus a handful of amateurs with their own dogs as well.

All of them had known Old Bob, and they sought out Bobby to convey their condolences.

All had stories to tell him of kindnesses extended by Old Bob when hard luck had befallen a trainer, often a loan of money to get home or pay entry fees. This was a side of his father Bobby had not known.

Every story of his father's kindness was accompanied by one about Albert on one of two themes: his willingness to do anything to win in a field trial and his closeness to a dollar. Bobby had seen much evidence of the second; Albert would go to unbelievable lengths to avoid spending money. His saddle seat had split soon after their arrival at Forget. Rather than replace it or have it patched by a Gainsboro saddler, Albert had used a pig nose-ring to join the pieces of leather. (Albert kept the ring pliers in his saddlebags, where they came in handy for first aid on harness and tack many times that summer).

The tales of Albert's dirty tricks to win field trials seemed highly unlikely or apocryphal, or just good luck: of dogs that on command failed to back and thereby stole points and field-trial wins of opposing dogs caught by Albert's scout Willie out of sight and tied with twine to a tree, left to chew free, but not in time to win; of opponents' derbies ridden off, sent on lateral casts to oblivion; of salt pork slipped into an opponent's dog crate an hour before its brace. Bobby suspected the tellers had committed the alleged crimes as often as Albert had (and he was right).

Through July the mail had brought weekly letters from Abigail, filled with news of her social calendar and gossip about their friends. Bobby wrote her as often. Then the flow of letters from Abigail slowed; as Labor Day approached, he'd had no word from her in three weeks.

Final preparations for the prairie trials, to begin the last week of August, were now in full swing. The adult dogs, already trained, had been roaded in harness for conditioning, first for fifteen minutes, then thirty, then forty-five, finally a full hour. The trial derbies were worked several times a day now, short heats, each taken up as soon as it did something right.

"Why don't you turn the old dogs loose to hunt, Albert," Bobby asked.

"They get stale on chickens in a hurry. Don't want to leave their best effort in a workout," Albert answered. A week before the start of the first field trial, Albert allowed each adult dog just two thirty-minute workouts out of harness.

Willie and Bobby had taken pains to keep Bess' progress a secret from Albert, but he could see she was in good condition-too good to have been worked only on a check cord. So he was not surprised when at the drawing for the first prairie trial, held in the hotel beer parlor, Bess' name was called in the Junior All-Age. Albert gave Bobby a puzzled stare; Bobby returned it with a grin.

When Bess was called to the line in the third brace and Willie led her out, Albert dismounted and tied his horse's reins to the dog wagon, then climbed up on top. Bobby was disappointed Albert wouldn't ride to see Bess' performance. He'd never handled a dog in a trial, though Willie had been tutoring him. Fortunately, Bess handled herself mostly, and with five well-handled chicken finds in her thirty minutes and a deep enough ground race, she won first in the field of twelve. Bobby was elated; Albert just grunted when the decision was announced. The other handlers and scouts offered hardy congratulations.

Bobby also entered two from his training string in the derby stake, paying the $10 entry fees himself as he had the $15 for Bess. Neither derby proved a contender, nor did any of the four Albert handled. Albert rode Bobby's derby braces, however, and smiled to himself. His conspiracy with Old Bob to make a bird-dog man of Bobby just might be working, he thought.

Albert's four entries in the half-hour All-Age produced a second place win. Bess had four finds for Bobby, who didn't understand why she had not placed. Albert explained, "Field trial ain't a bird hunt, boy (his universal way of addressing Bobby). Dog's got to run off...but not quite...to win an all-age stake."

Only the one-hour championship stake remained. Bess had drawn the first brace. Bobby was determined she wouldn't be denied the win for not running big enough. He kept whistling her out. She had one good find at fifteen minutes. By the half-hour mark, she had disappeared to the front, not to be seen again in her hour. Bobby was crushed, but a gray-bearded handler consoled him. Don't worry when you lose one that way, son. The judges will remember a dog that runs too much for this country."

"Who's he?" Bobby asked Willie.

"That's Mr. Jim Avent from Tennessee. They call him the Fox of Hickory Valley-nobody messes with him."

Like Albert, Avent went through the whole trial week without a smile. But he smiled to himself when he watched Bess.

Halfway through the brace following hers, Bess was found on point. Her chickens had walked off, but when Bobby reached for her collar to put her on the wagon, she took off like a rocket and pinned them a hundred yards away. The gallery of handlers applauded-all except Albert, who grunted and turned away so Bobby couldn't see the smile on his face.

The trial ended Saturday at noon. That night, the dog trainers hosted the dance in Gainsboro, advertised as the "Dog Strutter's Ball." They took up a collection to pay the orchestra and invited all the town folk and farmers whose lands were used as training and trial grounds. In the afternoon before the dance, everyone gathered in the hotel's beer parlor, and the winning handlers bought rounds.

Bobby noticed Albert negotiating with the bartender to buy a bottle of whiskey. Albert couldn't make up his mind between a pint and a fifth. The price per ounce for the fifth was a third less than for the pint; Albert was torn between his penchant for buying cheap (the fifth) and keeping his inventory small (the pint). Bobby saw his chance to use Albert's stinginess to teach him a lesson.

"I'll split the fifth with you Albert," he offered. Albert's dilemma was solved, and the fifth was bought.

Bobby asked for a glass and poured himself a double shot. Worry came over Albert's face-worry he wouldn't get his share from the fifth with Bobby downing doubles. Albert poured himself an even more generous drink from the bottle. Bobby took a seat at a poker table in back.

Through the afternoon, Bobby returned frequently to the bar and replenished his glass from the jointly owned fifth. For every one Bobby carried from the bar, Albert was drinking a larger one, compelled by his fear of getting less than his half. Although generally not a heavy drinker, Albert was weaving as he stood at the bar repeating stories of his winners of earlier decades.

By five o'clock, the bottle was empty, half inside Albert, half poured by Bobby into the spittoon beneath the poker table. The bartender came to Bobby.

"He won't be standing much longer—you better get him out of here before he starts a fight or a constable hauls him off for public intoxication."

On Bobby's approach, Albert, not recognizing his indentured servant, began his recital of old trial victories. On a ruse, Bobby led Albert out of the parlor to the street, then to the Model T parked in the shade of a cottonwood. When Albert touched the seat, he was out cold. Bobby drove two blocks to a boarding house and took Albert through the kitchen entrance in a fireman's carry, paying the landlady on the way in.

"He'll be out of your room by midnight, I expect. Don't tell him I paid. He'll say he didn't ask for the bed—use your own judgment how you deal with him."

The landlady returned Bobby's grin—she had her invitation to the "Dog Strutter's Ball."

Contrary to Bobby's prediction, Albert did not wake in time for the ball. He woke just before dawn and didn't know where he was. Terribly hungover, he walked the streets of Gainsboro in the darkness, searching for his car, which Bobby had driven back to the camp at Forget.

Willie had a hangover that morning, too. He and the other African-American helpers had spent the evening shooting craps at the livery stable where the only permanent resident of their race in Gainsboro worked. Bobby had picked him up after the dance and carried him to Forget, blowing on his harmonica, celebrating his $10 of craps winnings.

At dawn, Albert was still walking the streets of Gainsboro, looking for a constable to report his car stolen, when Bobby arrived in the sputtering vehicle to collect him. He got in without a word, pulled his hat low over his eyes.

"Sleep well?" Bobby asked cheerfully. They rode the twenty miles to camp in silence.

The second trial began Monday Albert sent Bobby alone to the Sunday-night drawing with his entries, whether because of his hangover or his wounded pride, Bobby wasn't sure. On Monday at dawn as they waited at the trial grounds for the fog to lift, Willie complained of stomach pain. Bobby suggested they try to find a doctor to check on Willie, but Albert Scoffed.

"He's not sick—physically sick that is. He's homesick—wants to go home. It happens every year about this time. He knows you can scout, doesn't look forward to the trip back to Alabama in the car." (This was the first Bobby knew that Albert planned to drive the Model T to Alabama).

"He wants to catch an eastbound at Gainsboro, then ride the train south. I might as well let him. He'll fake every ailment from typhoid to influenza if I don't."

And so Willie was driven by Bobby to the Gainsboro depot, still claiming terrible stomach pains. Before the eastbound was out sight of the depot, Willie was dealing cards to the conductor and two brakemen in the caboose and daydreaming of a cinnamon-skinned widow awaiting him in Union Springs. Her postcard was in the hip pocket of his jeans. In pencil it read, "Come home Willie—Pearl." The card had arrived in an envelope addressed neatly by Pearl's employer, a Union Springs lady whose handwriting had been recognized by Albert.

Now Bobby would have to fill Willie's shoes as Albert's scout—very big shoes. But Willie had schooled him well for the task in the two months since their arrival at Forget. Bobby wondered if Willie had planned all along to take early leave.

The hardest part had been learning to spot a dog on point. The rules required the scout to always ride behind the judges' progress. Where the terrain permitted, scouts broke this rule by putting a ridge between themselves and the judges. Time after time Bobby rode by dogs on point. Then Willie, riding behind him, would call "Point!" with great glee and laugh at Bobby's ineptitude. At dinner, he'd tease, "Mr. Albert, I believe we better send Mr. Bobby to Winnipeg to the eye doctor. He can't seem to see a dog that ain't movin'." Finally Bobby, in desperation, got Willie aside. "Willie, you've got to tell me what I'm doing wrong." Willie looked puzzled, then said, "Mr. Bobby, just look for somethin' that ain't s'pose to be dare."

It was as if a light bulb had been turned on. With Willie's simple advice—look not for a dog's form, just for something in the landscape that's just not quite natural—Bobby could spot dogs on point, even ones buried at the weedy edge of a buffalo wallow.

MEMBERS OF THE AMERICAN BRITTANY CLUB

Give the gift of a new membership... to give the opportunity to someone to learn about and participate in the American Brittany Club.

This membership campaign is really quite simple, we are asking every member to donate/sponsor a membership in the American Brittany Club. This "gifted" membership might be to a puppy purchaser, or a friend/acquaintance who has a Brittany. All of us encounter people who may just need a little encouragement to become members.

This can work, but it is totally dependent upon your support. Please use the ABC application form in the back of the magazine to enroll a new member today. You may donate/sponsor multiple new memberships. The names of new members & ABC sponsors will be published in the magazine on a quarterly basis.

THIS IS OUR CHANCE TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE!
